CITY NEWS.

Special meeting of Salem Lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M. this evening. Work in the F. C. degree. Visiting brethren welcome.

Homer Davenport—All business houses closed during the funeral of Homer Davenport at Silverton today, a pretty and a deserved tribute.

Is Seriously Ill—Mr. E. S. Lampert is seriously ill at his home on North Commercial street. His son, E. H. Lampert, and wife arrived from Medford this morning, and are at his bedside.

Phone Main 246—When you want choice fresh meats delivered quick. We are here to please, and our increasing trade shows it. Capital Meat Market, 121 South Commercial street.

Get Delicious Fresh Roasted—Coffee from Uncle Sam's largest roasters. Always better value for the price asked than elsewhere. Phone Lockwood, 693 store, 215 North Commercial street.

Visiting His Brother—Al. W. Talkington, of Grangeville, Idaho, near Lewiston, is in Salem visiting his brother, Frank Talkington, who is recovering from a siege of illness. He has been in the Idaho country about 40 years, and is very much surprised at the growth of this city.

Sons of Veterans—With the coming encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Salem, it will interest veterans to know that an application for a charter for a Camp of Sons of Veterans has been forwarded to headquarters and the same will be organized as soon as a charter can be secured.

Snow Bothers Wires—While hunting the shady side of the street today, Journal readers may be somewhat cooled off by being told that the wires to the East today were operating badly, on account of heavy snow in the mountain region.

Preparatory to Bridge—A crew of about 30 workmen today began work constructing bunk houses, and the necessary buildings for the construction of the railroad bridge across the Willamette river at the foot of Union street. By the middle of the week work on the bridge will commence, after which a large crew will be employed so as to rush the work as rapidly as possible. It will require six or seven months to complete the bridge, which is to be one of the finest in the valley. Not being able to reach bedrock, it will be necessary to set the abutments on piling, which will be accomplished by sinking caissons to a depth sufficient to give a good and substantial footing to rest them on.

Sold His Interest—J. F. Weisenberger, formerly of the firm of Weisenberger & Price, has sold his interest to O. E. Price, who will conduct the business at the same location. Mr. Weisenberger is looking around the city with a view of engaging in other business.

Why He Loosened—A big railroad official was interviewed today about railroad extensions, but would not allow his name to be used or offer a word until the reporter presented him with one of the famous La Corona cigars made by Gus Hackettstein. Then he came through but the story must be held until deal is completed.

Paving Has Begun—The contracting firm of E. W. Geiger & Co. began laying concrete on Center street this morning. The work was started from the east end at 14th. The contractor has about five blocks graded and ready for the pavement, which Mr. Geiger will rush through as fast as possible. There may be some delay when Summer street is reached, as there is some talk of taking up the street car track from Summer street west to Commercial street.

Begins Work on Chembekts—The Warren Construction company began work this morning on the grading preparatory to paving Chembekts street. This is contrary to expectations, as it was thought that on account of the sewer having been laid along that street last winter that more time should be given to the trench to settle. It is now believed, however, that the trench will be so solid so that no anxiety need be felt in that regard.

To Become Citizens—Carl F. N. Tandrup, 28 years of age and a native of Sweden, made application Saturday to become a citizen of the United States. He resides at Salem, having come to America on April 13, 1903. Jens C. L. Laursen, who was born in Horsens, Denmark, 29 years ago, declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States last Saturday. He is a carpenter by occupation. He came to the United States on April 3, 1907, and resides at Salem now.

89 In The Shade—Salem has been having almost summer weather conditions for the past week. Yesterday the thermometer registered 89 in the shade in many places and seemed warmer even than that. On account of the fact that so much cool weather has prevailed for the past several weeks, the heat is more noticeable than if it had become gradually warmer. The temperature today is about the same as yesterday, with a prospect for warm weather tomorrow, although the barometer is falling slightly, which indicates cloudy or even rainy weather.

Steve Foundry Site—A number of sites have been offered to the manufacturers' committee of the Salem Board of Trade on which to locate the Northwest Store Foundry plant. W. L. Babcock, representing the Salem Flouring Mills corporation, that owns the old woolen mill site in North Salem, has got a price from that corporation of $3400 for two acres conveniently located for a switch from the Oregon Electric railroad. Several other sites are offered, but the committee is not enthusiastic about being able to raise any money to buy a site. The committee will probably meet some time this week and take some action.

The Family Is Grateful—Joseph Green, son, and Roy Mullin, son-in-law of Henry Green, the farmer of Turner, who, while temporarily insane, killed himself last Friday, are in the city today. While feeling deeply the sorrow and pitifulness of the tragedy, they both expressed, not only for themselves, but for the bereaved wife and other members of the family, their appreciation of innumerable kindly acts, and tender sympathy extended them by their neighbors and the people of Turner generally. The funeral took place Sunday; interment at Turner, and was largely attended.

Notice—As bills and other debts have been contracted in my name against my boy yard (known as the Wing Sing's yard), at Brown's Island, without having been authorized by me, I hereby notify the public that I will not be responsible for any purchase or other contracts unless same are authorized to writing by me. Dated at Salem, Ore., May 6, 1912. Seld Back, 308 First street, Portland, Ore. 5-7-94

The Library Contract—The building committee of the library board has been in conference with counsel, for Winters & Co. the contractors over liability for the accident that happened when the steel beam gave way and three laborers were hurt on the building. All payments on the library have been held up for two months to secure the liability board against loss from liability. The contract requires the board to take out insurance on the building, including fire, liability "or other casualty" and the attorneys for Winters say this was never done until after the accident. The lawyer for Winters takes the position that the building committee cannot hold up the payments due the contractor for any indemnity insurance they might be held for, although the contractor took out casualty insurance on his own account. The building committee are Messrs. C. L. McNary, R. E. Catlin and Dr. Olinger, and it is probable the matter will be adjusted.

In Sanitary Packages—And five nice layers to the package. "Crispette", that is it—made in Salem, and by "The Wonder" Kandy Kitchen. Try a package; you will like it.

The Best Is the Cheapest—Always, then why not get your harness made to your order. I make them from the best California oak tan leather. F. E. Shafer, the saddle and harness man, 187 South Commercial street.

This Hot Weather—Women do not like to bake. Just try our bread once, and you will not bake again this summer. Phone Main 131, The Sunnet Grocery.

Another Divorce Suit—Mrs. Monica Durant, who was married in August, 1888, to Henry Franklin Durant, in Marion county, has begun suit for divorce from her husband, whom, she alleges, has become an habitual drunkard.

WHEN A MAN Strains his eyes by reading without glasses—he becomes tired, nervous and irritable—and his chance for relief is in having his eyes examined and glasses supplied by an expert optometrist—as such, I am at your service. A. McCULLOCH Optometrist, 291 North Commercial St. (Ground Floor) Phone 925 Office Hours 9 to 5
