ROOSEVELT MAY BE AT CONVENTION AND TAKE CHARGE OF THE BIG FIGHT

HE ADMITS WHEN PRESSED THAT HE MAY BE ON FLOOR-- IS AGAINST ANY COMPROMISE

Illinois Delegates Visit Oyster Bay for a Conference, and Medill McCormick Say They Went as His Guests--Roosevelt Telegraphs His Ohio Manager That He Will Never Consent to Any Compromise With Taft Forces, and That Any Ohio Delegate Supporting Taft Must Be Classed as a Traitor.

New York, May 31.—That Theodore Roosevelt will go to Chicago personally to lead the fight for his nomination by the Republican national convention is the belief here today of well-posted politicians. The former president refused to deny that such a move was not unlikely. Roosevelt denied that his present intention was to appear personally on the floor of the convention, but when pressed he admitted that he might change his plans and make the trip.

Medill McCormick and Channey Dewey, both of Illinois, and both close to the former president, conferred with Colonel Roosevelt today at the Outlook offices, and, while no positive verification was obtainable, neither would deny that the question of Roosevelt leading the progressive forces in the nomination fight was gone into.

McCormick emphatically denied reports that he was compelled to arrange for a pilgrimage of Illinois delegates to Oyster Bay for consultation with Roosevelt to prevent them from deserting the colonel's forces.

McCormick said: "The delegates desired to go to Oyster Bay. They are for Roosevelt first, last and all the time. Many of them could not afford to make the trip, and so, at my expense, I invited them to come as my guests. A dozen or more are en route here today. All the others will arrive tomorrow, and will meet Colonel Roosevelt at Oyster Bay."

Voicing set determination to make no compromise whatever with any opponent for the Republican nomination,

Colonel Roosevelt today telegraphed Walter Brown, his Ohio manager, instructing him to entertain no proposition from the Taft camp. His telegram read:

"I have just seen a telegram which President Taft sent to Arthur I. Vorys declaring he would not tolerate any compromise in Ohio. Until I saw this telegram, I had never seen any suggestion that there was to be any compromise, and I assume suggestion came from the Taft forces. In the first place, I would not consent to any compromise, and in the next place we carried Ohio by more than 30,000 in the popular primaries. Any attempt to give Taft a single delegate would mean to sanction a deliberate effort to defraud the people by trickery and to nullify their expressed will. Taft has, in morals and equity, no claim whatever to a single Ohio delegate. I wish this issue clearly made; we stand for the right of the people to choose their own candidate, and to have the delegates carry out their choice. Any individual who attempts to secure a single delegate at large from Ohio for Taft is openly taking the position that the convention is not to represent the will of the people, and that politicians are to be encouraged to defy popular will and commit an outrage on justice. "Any district delegate at the Ohio convention from any district that went for me at the primary, who himself votes for a single Taft delegate at large, commits an act of treachery to the people. Any man condoning or approving such an act, condones and approves treachery."

UNCLE SAM WILL NOT INTERFERE

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Washington, May 31.—Strong opposition to intervention in Cuba and declaration that they believe no such action by the United States will be necessary was voiced here today by Chairman Hay, of the house military committee, and Chairman William Sulzer, of the house committee on foreign affairs. Hay said:

"Should destruction of life and property by the insurgents become general, President Gomez would be powerless to cope with the situation, and there would be a strong possibility that United States troops might be landed to restore order. But I don't expect any such contingency. I believe Gomez is fully capable of wiping out the insurrection, and certainly I don't favor intervention, until he has had a full chance to prove his ability to do so."

Sawyer, of Winslow, who was unopposed in his district, declares he has no presidential preference, but he is believed to be slightly inclined toward Wilson.

DEADLY PROPELLER BLADE

In Full Motion Slashes One Man's Face Off and Cuts Whatever It Came in Contact With Like a Sharp Sword—One Man Killed and a Boy Dying, and All Hurt Horribly Mangled.

Seattle, Wash., May 31.—George Quinby, a civil engineer, was killed and a score of spectators injured yesterday afternoon at the Meadows, when Aviator Clifford Turpin, striving to avoid an amateur photographer crossing the race track, dashed full tilt into the crowd before the grandstand.

Quinby's face was sliced off by a blade of the whizzing propeller, and it was not until 8 o'clock last night that his body was identified.

The left aileron, or rudder wing, of the aeroplane struck an iron pipe in front of the judges' stand at the edge of the race track, Turpin having tilted the machine to escape cutting the foolhardy photographer in two. In the twinkling of an eye the machine swung to the left, pivoting on the iron pipe, and crashed full into the great crowd massed in front of the grandstand.

EIGHT HOUR DAY FOR ALL IN ENGLAND

THIS IS THE OBJECT ORGANIZED LABOR IN THE BRITISH ISLES IS NOW ENDEAVORING TO ACCOMPLISH.

London, May 31.—An eight hour day for all trades in the British isles is the ambitious scheme upon which the forces of organized labor today are concentrating their efforts.

Directing the movement is the parliamentary committee of the Trades Union congress, and it has the support not only of the General Federation of Trades unions, but also of the labor party. These bodies represent more than two million organized workmen and it is claimed that at least double that number of unorganized workers will be enlisted in the agitation. In parliament, the movement will be pushed by the labor party, which now has an eight-hour day bill in course of preparation. This is to be introduced shortly and efforts will be made to compel the government to take it up before the adjournment of the present session.

Meantime the powerful unions covering the transport, shipbuilding, engineering, baking and building trades, are pressing their employers with demands for the eight-hour day in their respective fields. In connection with the agitation, a series of demonstrations has been arranged to take place within the next month at such important industrial centers as Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds, Sheffield, Birmingham, Bristol and Glasgow, winding up with a monster mass meeting in Hyde Park, London, in which it is proposed that delegations representing every labor organization in the country will participate.

Labor leaders confidently predict the ultimate success of the movement, one of the main objects of which is to reduce the present distressingly high rate of unemployment throughout the United Kingdom.

Hall of Justice, Los Angeles, Cal., May 31.—Damaging conversation between Attorney Clarence Darrow, while he was chief counsel for the McNamara brothers, and Bret H. Franklin, at that time a detective in Darrow's employ, tending to connect Darrow with the charge of bribery of jurors in the McNamara case, were told by Franklin on the witness stand during the morning session of the Darrow trial. Franklin's story was to the effect that he told Darrow on the morning of November 27 he was sure George N. Lockwood would act as a juror in the McNamara trial, and suggested that he close negotiations with the prospective juror.

"I requested Mr. Darrow at that time during the forenoon he get for me $4,000," said Franklin. "I told him that I believed I could make satisfactory arrangements to meet Lockwood if I had the money. Darrow's reply was: 'I will try and get the money if I have sufficient time.' I told him that it would be necessary to have the money by the noon hour."

Franklin testified to meeting Darrow later the same day when he again requested the attorney to get the money.

"Did you see Darrow again that day?" asked Assistant District Attorney Ford. "I saw Mr. Darrow about 5:30 in his office. I told Mr. Darrow at that time I had received a telephone call from Mr. Lockwood and that I was going to call on him at his residence that night. I again asked if he had gotten the money. He said he had not, but that if the safety deposit department of a certain bank, the name of which I do not remember, was still open, he would be able to get it for me. He then telephoned same place and when he had hung up the telephone he said he could not get the money that evening. I then asked him if he would have the money that morning, and he said he would have it for me by 9 o'clock next morning."

Franklin then told of approaching Captain C. E. White and suggesting to him that he hold the money to be paid Lockwood until the McNamara trial was over. White at first objected saying that he "would not trust Lockwood as far as he could throw."

Arrangements were finally made, he testified, and White consented to hold the money. "I saw Mr. Darrow on the morning of November 28," said Franklin. "I asked him if he had the money. He said that he had not, but would ring up Job Harriman, and see how soon he could get the money. He rang up some one on the phone, and asked if Job was there. In a few minutes Mr. Harriman came into the room. He and Darrow went into another room, and after a few minutes Mr. Darrow came out and handed me a roll of bills."

"How much money was there in that roll?" asked Ford. "Four thousand dollars."

"Do you remember the denominations?" "I believe one $1000 and six $500 bills."

Franklin then told of going at once and meeting C. E. White, who agreed to hold the money for Lockwood, and of the passing of the money to Lockwood, and his own arrest, as related in the story of Lockwood from the witness stand.

"The testimony of the witness," said Attorney Rogers, in objecting to one of the questions asked Franklin by Assistant Attorney Ford, "sounds
