The Flag and Lights—It might be a good exchange to take down the flag on the South Salem school, and put up some of the electric lights. The flag indicates that school is still being held, while the absence of electric lights indicates an entirely different kind of a hold-up.
However when the moon gets full the lights will not be needed.

Special Train—
By Oregon Electric Railway from Portland during Rose Festival.
Every evening during Rose Festival week, a special train will leave Portland North Bank station at 11:15 p.

tainments. 6-7-6t

Ask for Administrator—Mrs. Kate D. Griffith and Mrs. Jessie D. Albert have petitioned the probate court for the appointment of an administrator of the estate of J. J.
Dalrymple, who died last winter. The estate is valued at $25,000, of which $20,000 is personal property. Mrs.
Lizzie A. Krause, of Portland, and Mrs. Kate D. Griffith and Mrs. Jessie D. Albert, of Salem, daughters of the deceased, are the only heirs to the estate.

Roy Bohannon Hurt—
Roy Bohannon, son of J. D. Bohannon, was injured yesterday afternoon about 2:30 in some way not known to his parents. He was picked up in the road in a delirious condition and taken to the home of his parents at Lincoln and Rock streets, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. W. H. Byrd. He was injured on the scalp, just above the ear. When found he was delirious and talked incoherently.

Prohibition Convention—It is hereby announced that on Saturday, June 15th, the Prohibition party will hold its county convention for the nomination of candidates for the coming election. The convention will convene at 10 a. m. in the Salem Commons, 241 State street, Salem, Oregon. J. G. Voigt, county chairman. 6-13-2t

The School Buildings—Welch & Wright, the contractors on the Highland and Richmond school buildings, are experiencing a good deal of delay on account of the failure to obtain the pressed brick necessary for the outside finish of the building. The entire force is laid off today on account of the rain, but, with the arrival of brick, which are expected in a day or two, work will be resumed. Two or three days more work will complete the brick work, and within two weeks the buildings will be under cover.

Just John Outerson—
There is no more delightful place in the Cascade range than Breitenbush.
The scenery is grand, the fishing and hunting the very best, and it is easy of access. Those who have been once again, and those who have never spent a delightful vacation there can take this as a lunch. In going there you will find John Outerson at Detroit, the nearest railroad station, with a fine pack train, saddle horses anything and everything necessary to get you over the trail speedily and with comfort to yourself and the ladies. He has been in the business for years, and knows the trail in the dark, as do the gentle saddle horses he has especially for the ladies. Going to Breitenbush without the help of John Outerson, is assuming lots of hardships and missing a real treat on the outing. "He is all right."

Wants a Divorce
Maudie A. Glebeler filed suit for divorce today from James P. Glebeler, to whom she was married at Gates, Oregon, September 3, 1910. There is one child, eight months old, whom the plaintiff asks to have awarded to her.
She alleges cruel and inhuman treatment as the grounds for divorce.
Among other things the plaintiff alleges that the defendant kicked her out of bed, and required her to build the fire. She further alleges that the defendant left her a few days before the child was born, and did not return until after its birth, and then stayed with her only a few days, he at present being in Wallville, Wash.
