

BIG ONES AFRAID OF STAMPEDE

CONVENTION BEFORE TAKING RECESS UNTIL 8 P. M., VOTED TO HEAR PERFURID ORATOR—THEY HEARD LOTS OF IT.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Baltimore, June 26.—The Democratic national convention was slow in assembling for the second day's session. Because of the fact that the committees did not get down to business until today it was certain that there would be no business ready for the hour set for assembling.

For this reason spectators and delegates preferred remaining about the hotels to sitting in the big convention hall with a blazing sun beating down on the roof. Even the band seemed to suffer from the lethargy as it was 11:30 before it started its initial tune.

At that hour only a score of delegates were in their seats and but a scattering of spectators in the upper galleries.

It was almost certain that no business would be transacted at all until tonight. Chairman Bell, of the committee on credentials, sent word to Judge Parker that his committee could not possibly get through before night.

"The issues involved in the contests are such," reported Bell, "that we must make a complete investigation before deciding who are the legal delegates to this convention. We cannot possibly get through before tonight."

Parker sent a messenger to get Murphy, Taggart, or some other member of the steering committee, on the telephone and ask instructions. It was certain that a recess would be ordered. Until the credentials committee reports the temporary roll no business can be transacted by the convention.

There was a suggestion that the convention meet and listen to speeches by prominent Democrats, but many of the managers for the leading candidates objected to this, fearing an attempt might be made to start a stampede.

Many of the leaders were greatly concerned over the success of Bryan in lining up the committee on resolutions to report the platform after and not before the nominations. This revolutionary doctrine was designed, it was freely admitted, to make the candidate run on the platform rather than to have the platform used to boom any particular candidate.

However there was a love feast at which oratory flowed like milk through a strainer, many of the leaders making speeches.

EVERY DAY PEOPLE AT BALTIMORE

EAT AT LUNCH COUNTERS, SMOKE STOGIES AND GO IN SHIRT SLEEVES — FATTEST PERSON HAS THE SOFTEST SEAT.

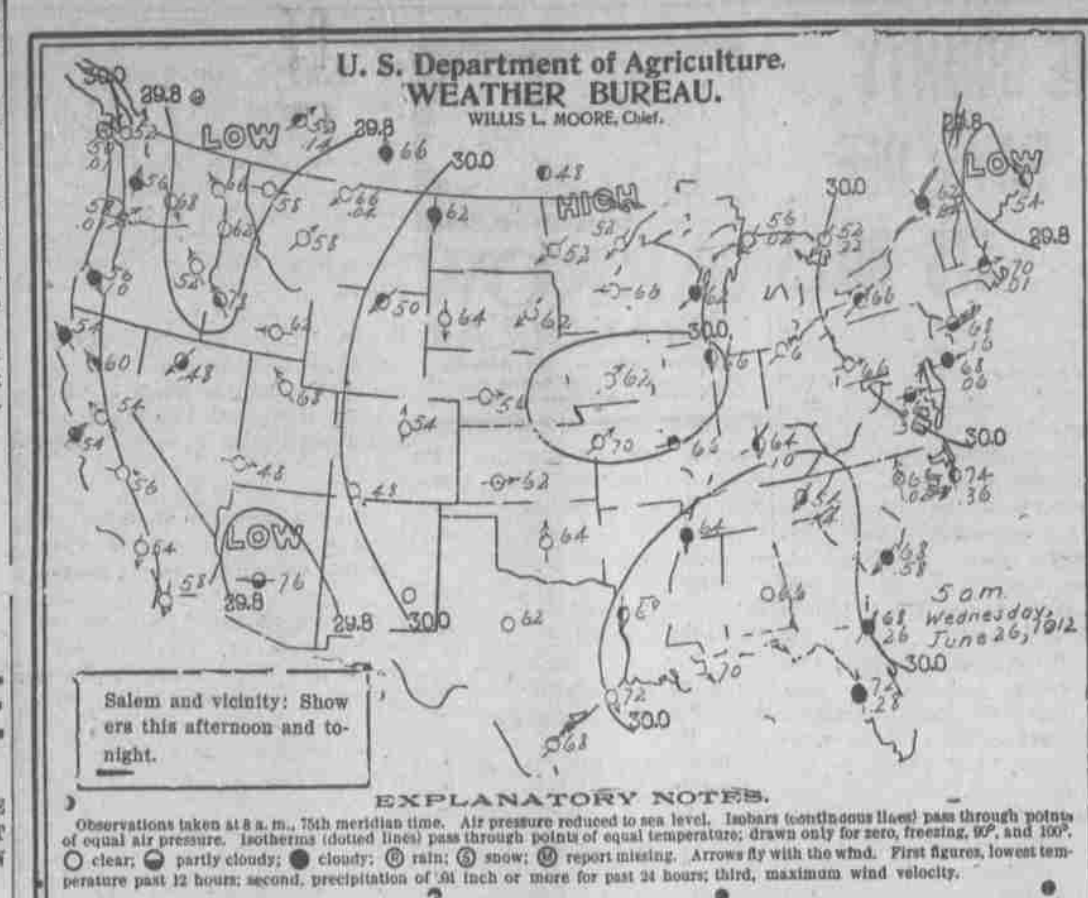

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Baltimore, June 26.—The Chicago convention had its "peacock alley" and its peacocks—very splendid birds of fashion, who came to see and be seen.

The Baltimore convention is home-spun, like he that smokes 5-cent cigars and stogies; that dines at the eat-while-you-wait restaurants; that wears shirt waists (meaning the feminine gender of that) instead of pants; that doesn't hesitate a second to take off his coat when it is hot.

The Chicago convention was far away from the life of the stock yards district, which scarcely knew that there was a history-making event on. In Baltimore the convention is everybody's show, and after 6 o'clock, when suppers are over and the dishes washed, Baltimore goes down town, baby in the go-cart, mother without her hat father in his shirt sleeves and vest. Every night is carnival night in Baltimore during the convention.

The Democratic great are easier to look upon than the Republicans. They don't glitter so. Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, eats his breakfast at a lunch counter, and Senator Stone's trousers need pressing. No such revolutionary thing as a delegate taking off his coat on the convention floor happened at Chicago; but the Baltimore convention is full of shirt sleeves.

B. R. Van DeCar, formerly with Barre's Jewelry company, of this city, is here in the interests of the Clark-Henry Construction company, of Eugene. Mr. Van DeCar is well known here, and his many friends are glad to see him back. He was successful in obtaining the contract for the paving of Twelfth street, south from Mission to the city limits for his company. This street will be paved with the gravel bitulithic, a paving which is giving excellent service in the cities where it is being laid. Mr. Van DeCar says his company is more than pleased to get a chance to come into Salem with their pavement, and believes the property owners will be pleased with the results.

STOP HAVING INDIGESTION AND ENJOY WHAT YOU EAT

To enjoy food and at the same time derive proper benefit therefrom, your stomach must be in a healthy condition. If your stomach is upset and out of order half of the time, choice foods will fail to tempt you. A bad, out-of-order stomach is a forerunner of many serious diseases. When you feel run-down and half sick, have bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue; when you are droopy, nervous, feel bloated after eating, and your food lies like a heavy lump in your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is one cause—fermentation of undigested food. Prove to yourself after taking a little Cooper's New Discovery, that your stomach is as good as any and that there is nothing wrong with it. Stop this fermentation of food and begin eating what you want without fear of indigestion. Cooper's New Discovery tones up the system, puts the digestive organs in a healthy condition, helps the liver and kidneys and makes life worth living. You can get a bottle today at J. C.
