KILLED HIS ENEMY AND THEN HIMSELF

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Seattle, Wash., July 3.—Frank Williamson, an old time logger and lumberman, went into the office of B. W. Britnall, this morning at 11:30, shot Britnall twice fatally wounding him, fired a shot at his son, William Britnall, then shot himself in the head, dying instantly.

The trouble occurred over money advanced Britnall to Williamson on a timber claim, the men had been having trouble over it for some time. The office showed no signs of a struggle, occupants of nearby offices heard no sounds of a quarrel. Britnall and Williamson are both well known here. Britnall is an ex-high school principal of Seattle, and served as city superintendent of Olympia.

BIG BLOWOUT AT TACOMA DRAWS IMMENSE CROWD AND IS THE RECORD EVENT FOR THAT ENTERPRISING CITY.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Tacoma, Wash., July 3.—The third day of Tacoma's great Montama Festa proved to be the biggest this year and was a fitting forerunner for the climax tomorrow when 100,000 persons are expected on the streets and half as many at the big stadium for the day's doings. Today opened with a monster industrial parade, followed by the aquatic sports of the Tacoma Yacht club on the bay. This afternoon Captain James Madlin and Lily Carvine are giving aviation exhibitions and tonight there will be a masque carnival on the streets with seven tons of confetti ready for the occasion.

QUESTION OF LAW CONCERNING PETITIONS

Will the filing of an initiative petition be legal when the sheets containing the signatures and affidavits are not detached in the presence of the governor, as provided by law.

That is the question which the secretary of state's office found itself confronted with this morning, when Governor West departed for Eastern Oregon to deliver an address on independence day, and an initiative petition was presented for filing.

The law says that "whenever such initiative or referendum petitions shall be offered for filing, the secretary of state, in the presence of the governor, and the person offering the same for filing, shall detach the sheets containing the signatures and affidavits, and caused them all to be attached on one or more of the copies of the measures provided."

Up until today the secretary's office has followed the law, but this morning, when a measure was presented for filing it was necessary to substitute Ralph Watson for the governor. He will also have to act as a substitute for any petition to be filed in the future, for the governor will not return until Sunday, and the time for filing expires July 4.

The measure presented this morning was a bill to provide for a uniform percentage in the relationship of the classification ratings, providing for the establishment of minimum carload weights, to fix the maximum rate on a basis of less than carload rates of the article, and the minimum carload weight that may be charged on carload shipments of property, defining the rate upon which the carload rate shall be computed, and prescribing penalties for violation of its provisions. It originated in Medford, and has about 13,000 signers.

EDITORIAL COMMENT ON THE RESULT

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Chicago, July 3.—The Journal, Democratic:

"The nomination of Woodrow Wilson comes as a master work, which brings order out of political chaos. President Taft, for all his tepid pronouncements in favor of progress, is a standpatter, named by standpatters, and running on a standpat platform. "Governor Wilson is essentially a progressive, nominated on a distinctly progressive platform. The nomination of Wilson destroys the remaining excuse for the 'bull moose' party of Roosevelt. The nomination of Wilson marks the change of the Democracy from a party of protest to a party of achievement. Credit for the change belongs to William Jennings Bryan." Chicago Evening Post, Republican: "The Democrats have put their best foot forward. If the people want the new third party they will have to demand it as a fundamental principle, and not as a personal endorsement of any man, however worthy." Chicago Daily News, Republican: "Many forces worked together to bring about the nomination of Wilson. The two most effective were Theodore Roosevelt and William J. Bryan." Chicago Tribune, Roosevelt Republican: "The Democratic party is to be congratulated upon the choice of Governor Wilson. It also owes a debt of thanks to Mr. Bryan, whose successful fight in the convention against the reactionary plutocracy will go down to posterity as one of the most dramatic exhibitions of the moral influence of a great leader of the people our political history has ever known.

PROBABLY HE IS TEMPORARILY DERANGED

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Temporarily deranged, Albert L. West, of 1277 S. Commercial street, left his house last night about 9:30 o'clock saying that he was going to kill himself. Mr. West had been in his usual health and condition up to a few minutes before he left the house. His wife protested against his leaving, but without avail. She followed him and when a few blocks away from the house, enlisted the assistance of some others who were on their way home. When Mr. West ascertained that he was being followed, he ran and eluded pursuit. He was followed as far as the bridge over South Mill creek, when the hunt was given up. Mrs. West went home and fearing he had carried his threat into effect. Later in the evening he appeared at the Bligh hotel and asked for a room, which was given him. He registered as "John Ray, Indpls" and was assigned to room 40.

A year or two ago Mr. West's health began to fail and he at once got the idea of selling out his prune orchard south of the city with a view to moving to Arizona. Through the efforts of E. C. Wells, negotiations were begun to trade his farm for some business property in Arizona, but through the interference of others and the action of Mrs. West, who would not sign the deed, it fell through with Mr. West has said at different times that he must leave Oregon, even if a great sacrifice must be made of his property and his physician has so advised him. Brooding over his ill-health he became nervous and temporarily demented and left the house with the threat as stated.

This morning E. C. Wells, who is well acquainted with Mr. West, went to the Bligh hotel, where he had seen Mr. West late last night and made inquiry, receiving the reply that he was not there. It was finally decided that the occupant of room 40 was the person desired, which later proved true, as upon knocking at the door, Mr. West appeared. Replying to the statement that his family were anxious about him, he seemed to care nothing about it.

From friends and relatives of Mr. West it has been learned that for the past few days he has been melancholy and morose, at times sitting apparently in a sort of a dream. He has been afflicted for several years with St. Vitas' dance, or something of that nature, which affects his shoulders, causing them to twitch and jerk.

WILSON WAITING TO CONSULT FRIENDS

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Sea Girt, N. J., July 3.—That his nomination by the Democrats for president was not exactly gratifying to Colonel Roosevelt was the impression this afternoon conveyed to Governor Wilson by Franklin P. Roosevelt, of New York, the Colonel's nephew, who called at the "Little White house," to congratulate the governor. "Pop's been praying for Clark," was the way my cousin, Kermit, expressed it at Oyster Bay," Franklin Roosevelt told Governor Wilson.

Asked whether he would resign as governor of New Jersey, in order to make the presidential campaign, Governor Wilson said that he had not made up his mind on that, but intimated strongly that he would not resign.

The governor also said he had not made up his mind regarding his campaign committee.

"The friends upon whom I depend for counsel have not returned from Baltimore," he said, "and, of course, I can do little until they arrive."

ABE ATTELL TO FIGHT AT TACOMA

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Tacoma, Wash., July 3.—Abe Attell, his right hand still sore from training for his proposed bout with Harlem Tommy Murphy, and Eddie Marino, in the pink of condition, are today awaiting the tap of the gong tonight that will send them into the ring for ten of the fastest rounds of boxing ever seen here, before the Tacoma Athletic club. Both men are confident. Attell says victory will prove that his "back to nature" life makes him a champion contender. He has twice worsted Marino and a victory for the lightweight Italian will place him among the first raters.

Joe Bonds, coming light heavyweight, will meet Fred Hicks in an eight-round contest and Joe Hill and Leo Crevier will travel six rounds.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a safe and valuable remedy. John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal., says: "I had kidney and bladder trouble for nearly six years, and was confined to my bed, unable to turn without help. Soon after I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and was relieved at once." His example is worth following. Foley Kidney Pills will do for others just as much as they have done for John Heath. TWENTY-SEVEN WITNESSES CALLED WHO ARE PRACTICALLY UNANIMOUS IN SAYING THE JUDGE SHOULD HAVE MADE TWO TRIPS FOR SOME OF HIS LOADS.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Seattle, Wash., July 3.—Nine witnesses were examined by the congressional committee in the impeachment trial of Judge Hanford this forenoon, all of them being questioned as to their knowledge of Hanford's alleged drunkenness. This makes a total of 27 witnesses who have been called to give testimony on the charge of drunkenness made against the judge in the impeachment complaint.

Robert D. Jones, now in the publishing business and formerly a reporter for a local morning paper, testified that while he was "covering" the federal court for that newspaper about four years ago, Judge Hanford appeared to him under the influence of intoxicants during the Holt murder trial. One of the attorneys in the case, said the witness, entered some sort of objection or motion, and it was apparent that the judge did not hear it, and it was repeated over again several times, the affair occasioning quite a little merriment. Finally the judge roused himself, Jones said, and ruled on the question.

In cross examination, Jones said that he could not say this condition in the judge might not have been from sleeplessness, but presumed it was a case of intoxication. He gave a physical demonstration of how the judge appeared with head bent low on his breast and his arms folded.

Seven of the other witnesses testified to seeing the judge apparently in an intoxicated condition on the streets. The other witness, a traveling man, it developed did not even know Hanford and was called by mistake.

of ingratitude in that Andrew stood by the secretary when the latter "was threatened with humiliation."

"You cannot forget how I stood by you," Andrew wrote MacVeagh. "When you were on the point of having taken from your hands what was probably the most important undertaking of your administration. When the White House, in December, 1910, without consulting with you and entirely without your knowledge, entered into negotiations for an issue of Panama bonds, the embarrassment of the situation threatened to force your resignation. You will remember that I did everything in my power and that I loyally agreed to resign and leave the service with you if your resignation became necessary."
