SALEM, OREGON, FRIDAY, JULY 12, 1912.

NO 137.

BIGGEST CROWD IN SALEM'S HISTORY AT THE FAIR

LORIMER BITTER IN HIS TALK

But He Passes It Up to the Senate Red Hot and Roasts Some of the Senators Who Have Been Attacking Him.

IS FIGHTING HIS JUDGES

He Says the Senate Must Take Into Consideration the Character of the Witnesses Against Him, and That the Only One Who Testified He Had Been Bribed Was White, and It Is on Record That He is a Perjurer.

Washington, July 12.—Lorimer asserted that he had spent more than $30,000 of his personal funds advancing his particular hobby, the deep waterway project, and had receipts to show an expenditure of $20,000. He said if it had not been for this "persecution" this great project would have been completed.

Lorimer denounced as a "vile insinuation" what he said was the attempt to connect Howard Shurtleff with the case. He also bitterly scored the minority of the committee for the attack on Hines—particularly the statement that he called up somebody at Springfield and Lorimer's election followed.

Shortly after 1 o'clock, when Lorimer had spoken nearly three hours, a luncheon recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

When the senate convened Lorimer resumed his discussion of Senator Kern's speech against him. The most vile insinuation that has yet been made against him, Lorimer said, was that of Kern's, where the Indiana senator said a boy, McCann, had been given a job like Wilson and Jandus, "to quiet them."

"If the statement means anything," Lorimer said, "it means that I have been suborning perjury, and if that is the meaning of the senator from Indiana, I desire to characterize it as a deliberately false statement. It must either be the truth or a deliberate attempt to mislead the senate."

Lorimer read from Kern's speech that Lorimer associated practically with some "notorious and vicious characters," including "Hinky Dink" Manny Abrams and John Broderick. This, he said, was stricken from the speech as printed.

"Hinky Dink" and I were boys together," the senator continued. "I have known John Broderick more than 20 years. It is all right to stir, but I would suggest to him that 'charity covers a multitude of sins.'"

The so-called "confessors" were discussed by Lorimer. He began with Charles A. White.

"If you have any case here, you must stand or fall on White's testimony," the senator declared. "It is in the record that White is a perjurer, admitted under oath that Lee O'Neil Browne was charged with bribing White to vote for Lorimer, when he was on trial in Cook county. All efforts of the state's attorneys were directed to proving that fact. The whole case depended on whether Lorimer told the truth."

At 4:10 this afternoon, Lorimer, not having completed his defense speech, and being utterly exhausted, the senate adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow.

Gnats Eat Horses.

Wenatchee, Wash., July 12.—Wenatchee Valley is suffering the torments of the New Jerseyans. Gnats infest the valley. One horse was bitten nearly to death and others are unable to work in the open.

Kelly's Hard Luck.

Vancouver, Wash., July 12.—John Kelly broke a bowl in a saloon. He was told to replace it. A few minutes later he was caught stealing a similar bowl in a nearby saloon and was given 30 days in jail.

A Hawaiian Rumpus.

Washington, July 12.—Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher, it was announced today, will make a personal investigation of the rumpus in Hawaii between Governor Frear and Delegate Kalaniana'ole, and for that purpose will leave Washington for a tour of the islands just as soon as the present session of congress is concluded. Kalaniana'ole charges that Governor Frear is not progressive; is out of sympathy with sentiment in the islands.

RECOVERING FROM FAINT GIRL LOSES MEMORY

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Vancouver, B. C., July 12.—Local police are unable to find any clue to the identity of a pretty 16-year-old Miss who fainted while in a moving picture show yesterday and when brought to had completely lost her memory. She was neatly dressed and appeared in comfortable circumstances.

Liberals Keep Places.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Regina, Sask., July 12.—The latest returns today in the provincial elections here, show the Liberals, who were supporting reciprocity, have retained their power, having 40 seats to the Conservatives 14. Two elections will be held at a later date.

Goos Insane Smashes Windows.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Vancouver, B. C., July 12.—Going suddenly insane, Mrs. Thomas Clarke, of Forbes avenue, started in on a window smashing campaign and did about $100 damage before she was taken to the asylum.

LEADERS HAVE LOSS OF MEMORY

BOTH DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN MANAGERS HAVE SUDDENL Y FORGOTTEN WHERE CAMPAIGN FUNDS CAME FROM.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Washington, July 12.—Baffled in its search for details of the enormous campaign fund collections in 1904 and 1908, through the defective memories of both the republican and democratic national managers and their testimony that all records had been destroyed, the special senate investigating committee today faced a dilemma.

The committee decided today to continue its hunt for information as to the 1904 campaign before beginning on the presidential race of 1908. Geo. Sheldon, who was treasurer of the national committee in 1904, will be called shortly. While no definite arrangements have yet been made, it was understood Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, Taft's manager in 1908, and Norman E. Mack, of New York, Bryan's general in the same campaign, will be called.

Horses Lost Race.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] San Francisco, July 12.—This city's fire horses are plunged in gloom. Five of them, the pick of the bunch, raced a huge motor fire engine as a test, and were beaten to a frazzle. No more horses for this department," says the fire chief.

An Honest Burglar.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] San Jose, Cal., July 12.—I have made a mistake. I rob only the rich, and give the proceeds to the poor." This was the note left by a burglar, who made a second sneak into a hospital to return 65 cents he stole from a purse.

Was He Damaged?

San Francisco, July 12.—Negro lawyers are sensitive, and their feelings cost money, says S. L. Mash, a chocolate-hued disciple of Blackstone. Refused a drink on account of his color, he is suing $275 bail.

THOUSANDS LINE STREETS TO WELCOME COMING OF THE KING AND QUEEN

BEAUTIFUL QUEEN AND GORGEOUS TRAPPINGS WIN MOST UNBOUNDED ADMIRATION PARADE A GREAT SUCCESS

King's Float in Old Egyptian Style, Decorated With Lotus and Breathing of the Ancient Nile, Headed Procession--The Queen's Chariot Was One of the Most Artistic Creations of the Kind Ever Seen in a Parade--White and Purple Was the Color Scheme in Its Decoration, a Tribute to the Elks--Many Other Fine features.

With perfect weather assured by the co-operation of the weather man, the official astronomer and The Capital Journal, the second day of the seventh annual Cherry Fair opened gloriously for the immense crowds that began to pour into the city at an early hour. At 9 a. m. the Salem Military band, under Bandmaster Tex Stouddenmeyer, began to peel forth the most beautiful strains of music yet heard in the city. At 10 a. m. the first train arrived with many visitors from Portland, bearing three solitary, scared-looking Elks, who were taken in charge by Hon. P. H. D'Arcy, Ed. Hazard, President Sargent and Secretary Hofer, of the Board of Trade. On the 10:30 train a few more arrived, and with succeeding trains more kept filling up the ranks of the city with their gay purple and cream colored suits. But they were like needles in a haystack, compared to the crowds already here. The Salem crowds were the happy, prosperous Willamette valley people, the richest, best people in the world.

The great parade between 1 and 2 o'clock was the great feature of the second day of the Cherry Fair.

The King's Float.

The parade was headed by the king's float, built in Egyptian style, with heavy columns decorated with the lotus design, and flanked by two cherubim in Assyrian style, as described in the Bible. The king's float was in an old stone color of orange flat, a crude, barbaric symposium in greens, yellows and blues. The float was 24 feet long, and 10 feet wide, the head representing the prow of the Egyptian galley in which Cleopatra entertained Marc Anthony. The Assyrian cherubim have men's heads, bulls' bodies and wings of the eagle. The entablature of the Egyptian temple forms the top of the king's throne, which is between the cherubim. The whole float is heavily festooned with oak. The Moose lodge gave its costumes and regalia for the king and attendants. On the sides of the float are the Egyptian symbols of the winged circle, representing the flight of the soul into eternity. The wings have a Spread of 20 feet. The circle is entwined with the serpent of Old Nile.

The Queen's Float.

When Dr. Eppley saw the queen's float this morning in the open-air studio of Prof. Geo. L. Schreiber, on the river bank, at his home, where he has the finest place in the city to produce such works of art, he fell all over himself and kept screaming: "She is a dream; she is a dream." It was built on Simonton's 6-cylinder Mitchell, and the artist in decorating the car made it effective by preserving the automobile lines. This car should have gone to Portland for the Elks' parade, but failure to secure a box-car large enough to hold it prevented its display. All who were at Portland say there was nothing in the parades there to equal these floats put up by Prof. Schreiber, and his force of helpers, who have worked day and night for two weeks. The queen's float is in white and purple damask, in honor of the Elks, profusely covered with wisteria and ivy. The wisteria is arranged in wreaths and drooping garlands, touched off with gold leaf to give it the royal effect. The head of the motor car has a gigantic elk's antlers peering through a profusion of Japanese cherry blossoms. The automobile is topped with a royal canopy in wisteria, lavender, purple and white. This is a further tribute to the Elks' organization, and it should have been seen by the hundred thousand Elks at Portland, but for unforeseen circumstances. The motor car was apparently drawn by two boy pages, dressed in white silk, drawing the royal car with purple ribbon, and under the canopy was enthroned the queen and her royal maids, the most beautiful queen ever seen in Oregon.

Two Educational Floats.

Under the urgent leadership of Dr. Eppley, and backed by President Sargent, of the Cherry Fair committee, two additional floats were constructed by Prof. Schreiber in the "Art Nouveau" style. The first was the manual training float and was in pergola effect, topped with beams, representing the structural principle of building. Boys were at work at three manual training benches. This float was built in cream and white, touched off with green oak and two large American flags trailing behind. The other float was also very large, devoted to domestic science. In front was the cooking department, presided over by Hortense Eppley, attended by girls from the cooking classes of the high school. At the back end of the float was the sewing circle, representing needlework, as taught in the public schools. One little girl represented the Garfield maidens of the Garfield school. The king's float was drawn by four horses, and the others by one team each. Observers of the parade cheered at many points along the street, and there was nothing to equal them in the Portland parade. Mr. Schreiber has been four or five years at the head of the art department in the Salem public schools, and has supervised the manual training department. He has built floats for several Cherry Fairs, but nothing equal to this.

Features of Parade.

The mayor, President Sargent, Secretary Paulus, Treasurer Walter, Secretary Hofer, of the Board of Trade, and P. H. D'Arcy, master of ceremonies, had a decorated car. The Indian school band appeared in real buckskin and native Indian costumes.

The Rebekahs had a fine float, with a delegation of the Daughters of that order.

The Yeomen had a float of 40 little girls in white.

Some of the other floats were: The Salem Gas Co., The Salem fire department, Imperial Furniture Co., Davis Barber Shop, Salem Hardware Co., Yokohama Tea Co., Hauser Bros' Sporting Goods, Chemawa Indian School. The Chemawa Indian school had about 10 floats, showing their industrial departments.

C. M. Eppley, president of the Manufacturers' association, had a cherry-painted motor-car in the parade, and a load of Made-in-Oregon baking powder.

The Painters' union had the only float representative of organized labor.

One of the most beautiful floats was that of the United Artisans, the state house with a roof and dome of cherries.

The Salem military band and the Victor Point band were in the parade.

C. W. Yanke and his mounted sides were there with the goods.

Other floats in the parade were: Damon and son, grocery. Barnes Cash store. The Oxytonor Co. Fischer Flouring Mills, Silverton. The Y. M. S. A. boys. The Hammond Lumber Co. Miller & Allen, Woodburn.

The parade ended with a gigantic traction engine road roller, with an effigy of President Taft riding on the boiler, and labeled: "The last of the steam roller."

Polk County Wins.

For the second time since Marion county, five years ago, offered a handsome $150 sterling cup as a grand prize for the best display of cherries consisting of not less than 30 10-pound boxes and not less than three varieties, S. P. Kimball today carried it away, and in case he wins it a third time at some succeeding fair, the beautiful cup belongs to him. The exhibit consisted of 30 boxes.

Upon the announcement that Polk county growers had for the third time won this prize there was great rejoicing among the Polk county people, and the jubilation was increased when it was announced that Carl B. Kugel had won second and C. A. Clark third, both Polk county men. The second prize consists of $30 and the third of $20. There was no entry for the fourth prize, which consists of $10.

The Salem Fruit Union won the first prize for the best display of cherries of 10-pound boxes consisting of not less than 20 boxes. A Vercler won second and B. I. Ferguson third, both of Polk county, and Enos Priestnell, of Salem, won fourth.

Class 3.

Best exhibit of packed boxes by individual grower; 10 or more boxes. Entries in class 1 not eligible in this class. First, Mrs. C. M. Wilson, Polk county; second, W. F. Crawford, Polk county; third, A. Vercler, Polk county; fourth, L. Greiss.

Class 4.

Seeding of merit. First, Enoy

Orangemen Celebrate.

New Westminster, B. C., July 12.—Twelve thousand Orangemen are celebrating the 50th jubilee anniversary of the founding of the order in this province here today, coming from every point of British Columbia and from as far east as Ontario.

WITHDREW HIS PLEA AND PLEADED GUILTY

In circuit court this morning W. H. Beeman, who was indicted for assault with intent to commit highway robbery, withdrew his former plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. His sentence has been postponed as it is desirable that he appear as a witness in the case against A. A. Allison and Mrs. Matilda Beeman, which is being tried today. It is understood Beeman will make application to the court for a suspension of sentence, but the attitude of the court on this point could not be learned. A good deal will depend on the pleasure of the district attorney who as yet has not expressed his position in the matter.

WILLIAM F. M'COMBS MAY MANAGE CAMPAIGN

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Sea Girt, N. J., July 12.—Announcement was made by Governor Woodrow Wilson today that he had arrived at a decision regarding the new chairman of the Democratic national committee. Until the decision is communicated to the committee, when it meets Tuesday he said, he would not make his selection known. It was generally accepted among the politicians here, however, that the chairman will be William F. McCombs, who has acted as campaign manager for the governor up to the present time.

WOMAN PUT OUT FIRE AND DOUSED THE CROWD

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Portland, Ore., July 12.—Guns from a miniature battleship in the Elks' parade set fire to the decorations of a downtown building. Principal damage was done to spectators on the sidewalk below, who were liberally doused with water by a woman who put out the blaze.

WILD WEST INDIANS DINE ON BUFFALO MEAT

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—A real war dance by Indian employees of a motion picture company startled the suburbs last night. The occasion was the sudden death of a Wild West show buffalo, which was cooked and devoured. The celebration lasted all night.

STILL LEAD ATHLETES OF WORLD

Swept the Boards in Finals of the 110-Meter Hurdles and Landed First Honors in the Running Broad Jump.

APPLAUDED BY THE KING

In the Semi-Finals of the 400-Meter Race Captured Five Straight Heats, But Lost One on Protest From German Contestant, Who Was Pushed by the Americans—Keep Up Splendid Record of Unfailing Success.

Stockholm, July 12.—The Americans kept up their winning exhibitions in the Olympic games here today, sweeping the boards in the finals of the 110-meter hurdles, landing first honors in the running broad jump, with a new Olympic record, and getting second and third places in the discus throw.

Despite this showing, however, there was great disappointment over the result of the discus throw. Jim Duncan, holder of the world's record, was expected to have an easy time here, but the best he could do was to annex the solitary point that goes with third place. Taipale, the giant Finn, threw the "dish" 148 feet, 1 1/2 inches, far beyond the best mark of the Americans.

When three American flags appeared on the pole, indicating a clean sweep in the 110-meter hurdles, the Swedes in the great stadium stands demonstrated the popularity of the victory by prolonged cheering, which the king, who was in the royal box, led.

There was an impressive scene in the stadium when the flag of Sweden was hoisted on all three of the poles when the result of the modern pentathlon was announced: Lilliclock, of Sweden, was first with 27 points; Asbrink, Sweden, second with 28 points, and Delaval, of Sweden, third with 30. Lieutenant Patton, of the American army, finished sixth in this event, which included shooting, swimming, 300-meter running, fencing, riding, cross-country running and 4000 meters.

America qualified in the 3000-meter team race, beating the Finnish entrants in the first heat. The Germans and English also were successful, and the representatives of the three nations will meet in the finals tomorrow. The Americans who will run in the main event are: T. S. Berna, N. S. Taber, H. Louis Scott, A. R. Kiviat and George V. Bonhag.
