License Issued— A marriage license was issued Saturday afternoon to Miss Adela M. Woodworth of Mehama, and William E. Simons of Salem. The wedding is to take place August 21.

A Serial Story— A serial story by that always interesting writer, George Barr McCutchen, begins in this issue of the Journal. It is entitled Cowardice Court, and will prove of intense interest to those who like keen, clever stories with plenty of life and action.

A Los Angeles Party— A party consisting of Mrs. Martin Bekin, Reed Bekin, Floyd Bekin, Miss L. Van Brankon and W. H. Calderbank of Los Angeles spent last night in the city, having registered at the Hotel Bligh. They are making a tour of the country from their home city along the coast by automobile.

Trotting Match Sunday— A trotting match was pulled off on Sunday at the State Fair grounds between a horse belonging to Arthur Glover and one belonging to A. J. Anderson. The race was won by the Glover horse in two straight heats. The driver of the other horse had considerable difficulty in getting his horse to the score post and in the second heat the old grey which formerly belonged to C. L. Dick, was off his feet most all the way round. The statement is made by those who saw the race that with proper handling Anderson's horse would have made a much better showing.

He Salted Them— A few days ago Homer Foster, an employe of the automobile department at the state house, waged a determined war on a number of pigeons that have been making a roost of the dome of the capitol. Some of his friends recommended that he try a salt shaker in an endeavor to catch them. Homer did use the salt shaker, but in a different manner than usually recommended, for he succeeded in bagging three of the birds at as many shots, and he used the salt shaker to prop up the season for his Sunday dinner. He states that there are two more left, which he has promised to Al Nye, the mail carrier for the capitol building.

Hoofing It to New York— F. Brunton and F. Burch passed through Salem Saturday afternoon on a little jaunt which will keep them putting one foot in front of the other pretty steadily until June 9, 1913. They left Portland Thursday at 4 p. m., and their destination is New York. They go from Portland to Los Angeles, then to Salt Lake, Denver, Kansas City and Chicago, then down to New Orleans and from there to New York. The distance they will foot it is 6141 miles, and they will get $2500 each if they make it in time, and nothing if they do not.

Will Swim No More.
San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Swimming San Francisco bay is losing its attraction for George Strubilos, a Greek. During his third attempt he began to weaken after a mile and shouted to his friends. They thought he was cheering. George nearly drowned.

The Politician who looks forward and not back, and who leads a hand to the solution of current problems, is no politician, but a statesman.

do not. They are both husky young fellows, and what they or anyone else expect to accomplish by an idle waste of muscle that might profitably be used in clearing lands, no one but they know, and probably they do not. They could make the trip in comfort for 6 cents a mile for the two, or about $375.

The Fire Sale— Will continue all this week. The store will be open evenings. The Toggery.

Good Templars to Meet— The Good Templars will meet in their hall, 267 South Church street tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Had Strenuous Trip— Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Byrd have returned from a trip through eastern and southern Oregon. They report having an excellent time, but some very thrilling experiences were encountered. They were in company with Dr. and Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, going the entire distance by automobile. On the trip from Medford to Salem they experienced some very bad roads on account of the recent heavy rains.

The Boy Skipped— Ray Jones, who resides at Waconda was in the city this forenoon and reports that George Thomas, aged 11 years, who has made his home with Mr. Jones for some time, took French leave some time during Sunday night. Mr. Jones has gotten along very well with the young man and he knows of no reason why he should run away. Mrs. Thomas, the boy's mother, formerly lived in Salem, but is now residing in Albany, her husband being a lineman in the employ of the Oregon Electric.

Rain Fixed the Roads— J. W. Shafer and Roy Bohannon returned from the Siletz country yesterday, after traveling over some of the worst roads ever seen in Oregon. In many places the roads were a sheet of mud. Several autos were passed in making the trip which were laid up for repairs or on account of the roads. Saturday night in making their way along a difficult road, the auto went into a ditch, when the men climbed over into a field and slept there all night in the open.

Chimney Fire Sunday— About 1:30 Sunday afternoon the fire department was called to Leslie street between University and Sumner streets where a chimney fire was burning in the residence formerly owned by Mrs. Roitstein. It was not necessary to fight the fire as it had almost burned out at the time it was first discovered.
