

WILL HAVE ANOTHER UPHEAVAL

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 27.—"I look for another upheaval in China," said Commodore C. J. Eyres, R. N., now on his way from Hongkong to England, and who was formerly commander of the British squadron at Hongkong.

"The recent revolution," he continued, "was apparently successful, but the new regime will not last long. There will be trouble there before long, and I believe there will be a renewed outbreak soon."

DANCER STRIPS DOWN TO THE ALL TOGETHER

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
London, Aug. 27.—English theatre goers are still gasping today over the performance of Gaby Deslys, the dancer and former favorite of ex-King Manuel, of Portugal, at the Palace theatre here, during which she disrobed on the stage more amazingly near the limit than has ever been seen in a London theatre.

The disrobing act followed a wild dance in which she indulged with her American partner, Harry Pilcer.

It is predicted that her performance may be interfered with by the English Anthony Comstock.

Will Settle Strike

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Chicago, Aug. 27.—Although the offer of the street and elevated railway companies of a slight increase in wages and better working conditions is not all that has been asked, President McMahon, of the International Carriers Union, declared here today that it was all the men could get now, and the union committee has accepted the offer.

ARREST ON FALSE CHARGE CAUSED HIS SUICIDE

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Victoria, B. C., Aug. 27.—John Rose, a painter, hanged himself with a clothes line in the woodshed at the rear of his home yesterday. His false arrest some months ago on a charge of indecent behavior towards a school girl had preyed upon his mind.

Ever notice how hard it is to be satisfied when you are thoroughly discontented?

USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE IN TIME AND YOU WON'T NEED ANY FALSE HAIR

Wearing artificial hair is a harmless deceit of which many ladies are guilty. These women are all objects for sympathy rather than criticism.

Early neglect in the care of the scalp has caused the loss of so much hair that their personal appearance is sadly marred. To correct this defect they resort to artificial hair.

Most ladies would resent any imputation of personal carelessness and neglect. And yet very many women permit their natural hair to become so dull, brittle and lusterless that it looks no better than the artificial.

All this is an unfortunate as it is unnecessary. Hair that is unsightly or thin may usually be attributed to the malevolent activity of the dandruff germ. This vicious germ burrows down into the hair follicle, shortly deformed of Governor West's action. Walter H. Evans, when told he had been appointed district attorney to take the place of Cameron, said he could not say whether he would accept it. He stated he would make a definite statement tomorrow, following the return to Portland of his chief, United States District Attorney McCourt, with whom he wishes to confer before finally accepting or declining West's appointment.

District Attorney Cameron said he thought the old statute, under which Governor West removed him, was repealed by the amendment to the constitution passed in 1911, providing that criminal proceedings might be instituted against a district attorney not doing his duty.

As a consequence of Governor West's action in removing District Attorney Cameron, Multnomah county this afternoon was without an official prosecutor. Being doubtful of his legal right to conduct the grand jury, District Attorney Cameron dismissed that body.

WILL LECTURE ON TRAINING AT CHEMAWA

Plans are being made by the Indian office in Washington to have Hon. Meyer Bloomfield, director of the Vocation Bureau in Boston, Massachusetts, to visit a few of the Indian schools during the last days of August and the month of September for the purpose of discussing vocational training with those in charge of the various schools. Mr. Bloomfield is a leader in this particular phase of education, and through his work in Boston is giving trend to thought pertaining to vocational training. He has a message of interest, especially to those who are in charge of young people, preparing for gaining an independent livelihood. His talks are inspiring and helpful, and much benefit may be derived from listening to him.

A letter from Mr. Bloomfield states that he will deliver his address at Chemawa Indian school about the 10th or 11th of September. The exact date will be given in the daily press as soon as ascertained, and all are especially invited to be present at that time to meet Mr. Bloomfield and hear his address.

can't be. It can't be." "Recovering her composure a few moments later, she said: 'You see, it is an awful shock—even though you have perfect faith in your husband.' "Attention is also called to the fact that although they have been in the valley five years, the Lounsberrys have had no intimate friends, although they were friendly with every one. They never entertained, and although the house shows every indication of luxury and taste, no servants were kept, and even the two little boys were cautioned never to let any one in the house under any conditions."

HUNDREDS OF WOMEN IN THE PARADE

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Columbus, O., Aug. 27.—Hundreds of women marching in the suffrage parade featured the Ohio centennial celebration today. Buttermilk and sandwiches were sold along the line of march to raise funds with which to pay the expenses of a campaign to secure the adoption at the election September 3 of an equal suffrage amendment to the constitution.

Dr. Alice Littlejohn, women's physical instructor at Ohio State University, was grand marshal of the parade. The marchers included Fola La Follette, daughter of Senator La Follette; Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, of New York; Harriet Taylor Upton and Harriet Stanton Blatch.

The delegation of school teachers carried a banner reading: "We teach voters, but cannot vote."

HE RODE INTO THE BARBED WIRE FENCE

As a result of riding into a wire fence and being thrown heavily, Walter Smith, son of T. W. B. Smith lies at his home nine miles south of Corvallis in a semi-conscious condition, with three ribs broken, possible internal injuries and a shock that is severe. He has not yet recovered sufficiently to give the details of the mishap, says the Corvallis Gazette-Times of Saturday.

The accident occurred Wednesday evening, not far from the Ned Smith place on "the Island." The injured man had gone from his place in the early evening to notify Ned of the condition of his father. He failed to find him until the evening shadows began to fall and then started to return, Ned accompanying him a part of the way. It appears that a new road is being cut through that section, and that fence posts had been set several days. Drivers had found it easy to go between the posts, of course, and neither Ned nor Walter knew that wires had been stretched that day or the one previous. It seems that Walter had gone scarcely a hundred yards from where he left Ned until he ran into the wire fence. Probably riding at a good clip, his horse struck the fence, threw Mr. Smith and followed with its own body, the horse falling on its rider. At any rate the Wilson family, alarmed at the failure of Walter to return, set out to find him and about 10:30 p. m. located him at the scene of the accident. Both he and the horse were in the lane, so both had to fall over the fence. Mr. Smith was unconscious, and has been so in great measure ever since. To relieve severe pain he has been under strong opiates. In his attempts to talk of the accident he does not appear to remember that he met Ned Smith, though recalling that he went to hunt for him.

It is believed that the injured man is in no sense injured critically, but he received a terrible jolt and will be laid up for some time.

Clay was called and the unfortunate man was removed to the Willamette Sanatorium, where every attention is being given him.

GOVERNMENT PROBING THE LUMBER TRUST

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 27.—The government probe of the so-called retail lumber trust of the Middle West began here this morning. H. B. Hewitt, of the Tye Lumber company, of Hoquiam, was the first witness called. He admitted that he hesitated to sell to retail lumbermen not included in the alleged syndicate, for fear of being blacklisted by the trust.

He told of correspondence that ensued between him and the publishers of the Mississippi Lumberman, a lumber journal, in support of the trust, in which it was hinted that he must refrain from selling in the Mississippi valley and neighboring territory to any retailer except those in the syndicate. In answer to Judge Milton D. Purdy for the defense, Hewitt bluntly said that he would have continued to sell to a certain house except for this fear.

Governor West, in speaking of the Portland clean-up campaign in this morning's Oregonian, is quoted as saying: "If Multnomah county had the right sort of officials, it would not be long until the undesirable element would have packed up and moved away." The governor inadvertently put his finger on the weak spot in his plan. Where will they move to? It might help Portland to drive them out but how would it affect other cities? A restricted district and the laws enforced concerning it seems the only solution.
