

SOCIETY

The largest social events of the week were given Wednesday when Mrs. Ada Strong and Mrs. Frederic Thielson were hostesses with an attractive card party in the afternoon, complimenting Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner, and a charming affair in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Thielson and Mrs. Strong entertaining for their house guest, Mr. Samuel Young, of Denver, Colorado. The living and dining rooms displayed a wealth of pink, orchid sweet peas and delicate pink geraniums with big white dahlias and asters. Ferns supplied the green. Cedar and asters were used in the sun room and in the hall were deep red dahlias. Eight tables of five hundred were played in the afternoon, and guests besides came in later. High score honors fell to Mrs. Charles McNary. Mrs. George Rodgers and Mrs. McNary poured, while a number of Mrs. Baumgartner's close friends assisted with serving. Guests asked for this occasion were the members of Mrs. Baumgartner's club and the few besides, dropping in for tea. Complimenting Mr. Young in the evening was a most delightfully informal card party, the invitations including the young married set and their friends in the un-married crowd, making a party of fifty. Five hundred was the game for the evening and played at ten tables. Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley and Mr. William Thielson captured card prizes.

At seven-thirty o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, September twenty-fifth, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beckley, Doctor R. N. Avison read the marriage service uniting Hattie Caroline and Grover C. Bellinger. The house decorations were a charming combination of eggplant, autumn leaves, white asters and dahlias. Under a wedding veil of white asters, hung in the beautifully decorated bay window, the lines of the ring service were read. Miss Olive Beckley presiding at the piano, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. Miss Hilda Beckley was her sister's maid of honor and wore a dainty frock of apricot crepe with head dress of

The Kensington club met with Miss Elizabeth Lord yesterday afternoon in her home at High and Mission streets. Miss Althea Moores and the Misses Gertrude and Margaret Gray were guests besides.

The following announcement will be of special interest to the many Salem friends of the bride's family: Mrs. Elizabeth H. Rotan announces the marriage of her daughter Cora to Mr. Wilbur F. Brock on Tuesday, September twenty-fourth nineteen hundred and twelve after November fifteenth Lenta, Oregon.

The marriage was solemnized in Los Angeles, California. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Bishop entertained with an informal dinner last Monday night, in honor of Mr. Samuel Young a guest in Salem.

Musicians in Salem availed themselves of the rare opportunity to meet Olga Steeb when she received last evening for an hour, at Hotel Marion. Miss Steeb, who is Mrs. Keefer in private life, is considered by very best judges, to be one of the world's greatest pianists. Her phenomenal memory and wonderful technique are among the remarkable talents that make her a genius. In personality she is charming and holds one with subtle magnetism, whether she is playing or conversing. Although registered at the Hotel Marion, Mrs. Keefer has been receiving entertainment from Salem acquaintances whom she had previously met.

Miss Rita Steiner accompanied her uncle, Mr. P. S. Steiner, when he returned to California, Sunday of last week. Miss Steiner will make a visit of indefinite length with Mrs. Charles Crocker, at present in her summer home, "Bendynode," Belvedere. Before her return home she will be the guest of friends in Santa Cruz. On her journey to California, a day was passed with Miss Maud Durbin at Mills College and with Miss Alice Bingham at Miss Head's school.

Miss Matilda Eckerlen returned home Monday evening from a visit in Portland.

When Mr. Ralph Matthews returned to Berkeley last Monday, Mrs. Matthews accompanied him as far as Portland, where she passed the week with friends intending to return to Salem tomorrow evening, for a continuation of her visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Miles and Miss Mary Eckerlen motored to McMinnville last Tuesday for a day at the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Bishop and son, Robert, went to Pendleton Tuesday afternoon for a visit and will remain until Monday. Mrs. C. P. Bishop preceded them a few days.

The Daily Palo Alto of September fifth, published the following announcement, which we repeat for the pleasure of Salem friends: "Stanford Wedding This Evening. The wedding of Miss Louise Marcus, '12, and S. S. Evenden, '10, will be solemnized this evening at the home of the bride in San Francisco. Reverend C. F. Aked will officiate. The couple will leave at once for their future home at Monmouth, Oregon, where Evenden teaches in the Normal school."

At midnight last Thursday, Armin Schreiber, surrounded by his dog, chickens, the family cow and household furnishings, together with his favorite fruit trees transplanted for the journey, started in the big freight car for the trip to Santa Monica. His suite of rooms had been most comfortably arranged in one end of the car and all preparations completed for the long ride. Mrs. Schreiber will remain with the Ernst Hofers for a few days before leaving to join the family in California. Armin will take his first year's college course in the Santa Monica high school.

The delightful reception given in Elks' hall on Friday evening of last week by the local order of American Yeomen in honor of Judge Ronald P. Rogers and Mr. Arthur P. Evans, was enjoyed by over three hundred guests. Miss Minnetta Magers was asked to arrange a program of music for the occasion. As soloists, Miss Inez Denison, Miss Gertrude Erixon and Miss Ada Miller gave splendid work and responded to enthusiastic applause. A piano duet by Miss Bernice Sauter and Miss Ada Miller called for encore and the number given was an original arrangement of popular airs, which brought demand for a double encore. The delightful reading by Miss Hazelle Erixon and Miss Emmeline Klein were heartily applauded and encores demanded. Selections by the Thursday Musical club received ovations. The addresses of the evening were excellent, and listened to with closest attention. An informal reception followed the program, when the large company availed themselves of the privilege of meeting the distinguished visitors and of congratulating the talented young women whose programmed numbers had given pleasure.

After the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters last Tuesday evening in Elks' hall, Mrs. Samuel Garber was made honor guest, and during the delightful social hour Mrs. O. G. Shellberg, in behalf of the organization, presented her with a beautiful pin, the insignia of the lodge. This mark of affection and appreciation was a great surprise to Mrs. Garber, who could form no manner of verbal expression at the time. The token was a farewell gift, as the family is leaving to pass the winter in Minneapolis, Minnesota. At the banquet that followed, the Knights of Pythian were asked to join. The evening was one of their most enjoyable affairs.

The monthly meeting of the children's mission band of the First Presbyterian church, was held in the parlors on the afternoon of Friday, twentieth. Dorothy Dick presided, being president of the society. There was an entertaining program of songs and readings and a map talk on Africa; the subject for discussion. A poem, "The Mite Box and the Burglar," was read by Helen Robe. A full attendance enjoyed the afternoon. The October meeting will be held on the third Friday of the month.

Mrs. Ada Strong has purchased a cottage at Agate Beach, which she intends to use for a summer home. The house was erected this year and is well built. The site is on a rise of ground commanding a splendid view of the ocean.

Misses Lucille and Gene Belle went to Quinaby yesterday for a few days visit with Mrs. George Gray.

Miss Mary Eckerlen is in Sublimity the guest of her aunt. She left last Wednesday and will remain for two weeks.

Cards have been sent to the members of the Salem Woman's Club, announcing the breakfast to be given at Hotel Marion on Saturday, the twelfth of October, at noon. The committee on arrangements carries the names of Mrs. H. P. Minto, Mrs. G. G. Brown and Mrs. S. G. Sargent.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Reid are giving a song recital in the First Methodist church, Monday evening, October seventh.

Olga Steeb is playing this afternoon for the pleasure of the inmates at the state penitentiary and asylum for the insane. Although unfortunate in ways, these incarcerated hundreds are given the splendid privilege of listening to one of the world's very best pianists.

On Thursday evening Miss Gladys Steele, matron of Willamette Sanatorium, entertained informally in honor of her training school class. The occasion also marked the opening of the new home for nurses which has been added by the management for the comfort of students. The evening was spent pleasantly with music and games, ending with a dainty luncheon. Twenty guests enjoyed Miss Steele's hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Shipley's infant son, who has been seriously ill since his birth two months ago, shows evidence of a strong constitution by holding the thread of life very tightly in his baby grasp.

Miss Joy Turner has joined the faculty of Willamette university college of music, and will assist Dean F. S. Mendenhall with piano, and will also organize a class in violin work. After graduating from Willamette university conservatory under Mr. Mendenhall, and later from the Northwestern Conservatory under Professor Frank Churchill, Miss Turner studied in Boston, Massachusetts, at the New England Conservatory of Music where her piano instructor was Carl Baerman, of international fame, who was a pupil of Liszt and taught in Europe most successfully. The fact that Mr. Baerman takes but a limited number of pupils, the successful passing the rigid examination required for admittance to his classes, was complimentary to Miss Turner's thorough knowledge of piano work. Her instructor in violin was Eugene Gruenberg, a pupil of Massot, Violentemps and Heisler. Having taught in the New England Conservatory Normal department, both piano and violin, Miss Turner is perfectly prepared to succeed with her work in Willamette university. Before leaving the east, she was offered positions in several conservatories, one of them the Ohio Wesleyan university in Delaware. A preference was given to the west, and her home town. The theoretical work was under Louis C. Elson, and ensemble under Josef Adamowski, of the well known Adamowski trio.

On account of not being able to use her own piano, a Chickering concert grand, Olga Steeb will play only at the penitentiary where facilities for housing the instrument are possible.
