THE DEAD MAN SHOWED UP AT RIGHT MOMENT

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Oakland, Cal., Oct. 3.—When Frank Rockford and his wife were coming into the court today where Rockford is being tried for attacking a neighbor who accused him of murdering Fred Aegeta, who had disappeared they saw "the dead" alive.
"Look!" said Rockford, pointing to the court house steps.
"My God!" exclaimed his wife, rushing forward and grabbing the supposed dead Aegeta by the arm, "are you here?"
"Yes, this is me," said Aegeta.
"What's up?"
"You're dead."
Aegeta, entirely ignorant of the fact that he was supposed to have passed from the land of the living, gasped, "Who's dead?"
Without further parley Rockford dragged Aegeta into the court room to prove the accusations against him untrue and the case went to the jury.

LABORER GOT VERDICT FOR BIG DAMAGES

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 3.—Edward Frostman, a laborer, this morning was given a verdict of $10,000 by a jury in Judge Tallman's court, following a four-year legal battle to recover damages against Strrat & Goethe, contractors, for injuries received, while he was at work digging a ditch which crippled him for life.
Frostman was struck by a heavy scantling which was thrown out of the Seattle theatre building, which was being remodelled. His spinal cord was bent and his nervous system racked. Three times his suit was thrown out of court before it reached the jury. It was finally taken to the supreme court, the lower courts were reversed and the fourth trial resulted in victory.
