"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR" ITS YOURS

AND BESIDES IT WILL PROVE ONE OF MOST SATISFYING BUYS YOU EVER MADE—CHEAP AT ANY PRICE—SEE IT.

In speaking of the Wm. A. Brady production of "Bought and Paid For" by George Broadhurst, at the Cort theatre in San Francisco, which will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, Saturday, October 12, afternoon and evening, the Evening Post of Sept. 3rd said:

"Bought and Paid For," Broadhurst's drama, which has been running for over a year in New York City, opened at the Cort theatre yesterday. This play will be with us three weeks and it is a safe prediction that it will run to capacity houses for that space of time. One skeptic expressed some doubt as to this yesterday, declaring that a play without stars would not run that long in this city. We beg to take issue. There are four stars in this cast, playing the characters of Robert Stanford, James Gilley, Virginia Blaine and Fannie Blaine, and before those three weeks are up, it will be generally admitted that this is one of the best companies that ever came to this city. The production is a perfect piece of machinery. Intelligence and understanding on the part of the actors and the producers make it that. It is rather late in the day to discuss "Bought and Paid For," even in this neck of the woods, for it is one of the most discussed plays of many a season. Financially, its success has been phenomenal, and artistically it has been awarded the high praise it has deserved. "Bought and Paid For" is a much more absorbing play than "Paid in Full." It holds the audience from the opening curtain to the last. The production at the Cort is absolutely flawless. "Bought and Paid For" will create enough discussion to keep it in the limelight for the three weeks stay."

BANQUET AT Y. M. C. A. WAS GREAT

The boys' banquet given by the Y. M. C. A. last night at the association rooms was a big success. A large number of boys were in attendance and all enjoyed the repast most heartily. True to their nature, when anything good to eat is in prospect the boys were on hand early and many of them had a long wait before the doors opened, and they tackled the delicious spread furnished for the occasion. The greatest treat of all came when the ice cream was reached. As we all know no banquet, no boys' banquet, at least, would be complete without this delicious article, and the manner in which it was disposed of showed that it was a first-class article, and that appetites were good. A few of the boys made brief remarks in appreciation of the benefits derived from the work of the association, and a good deal of enthusiasm was thus created for the coming season. Acting Secretary Compton spoke of and mapped out the plans for the coming season, which will include a good many new features. The boys all seemed much interested and promised to lend all assistance necessary in order to put the new features into operation the coming winter.
