FULL LEASED WIRE TELEGRAPH REPORT

A DESERVED TRIBUTE.

Mrs. Dunway, Oregon's grand old woman, celebrated her 78th birthday in Portland yesterday, and Portland celebrated with her. There was a gathering at the big tabernacle, with governor West and the prominent men of the city, and many from the state at large, on the stage, and the big building was filled with friends and admirers, gathered to do her honor. Did we say Portland celebrated with her? That is putting it pessimistically. The whole state, in fact the whole Northwest was there in spirit, to express its good will and esteem for the venerable pioneer, who came across the plains in an ox wagon Pullman in 1852.

Mrs. Dunway needs no commendation no sketching by The Journal, or for that matter by anyone, for all Oregon knows and appreciates her. The Journal, however, takes off its hat to the venerable pioneer and sincerely hopes that many years may yet be hers in grand old Oregon, that she loves so well. And, with thousands of Oregon's good people, who, regardless of their beliefs as to equal suffrage, celebrate the rounding fullness of a great and good life splendidly lived, it congratulates her that the battle she has fought so long, so persistently and so valiantly has practically been won, and that, while she is still with us, to enjoy the victory, she has fought so bravely for.

A BADLY MIXED ELECTION.

With the election less than two weeks in the future, there is less excitement, and less interest in it than has been shown in a presidential election, probably, since the organization of the government. Nor has there been such an uncertain and bewildering situation. The Republicans are confident, so are the Bull Mooseers, and the Democrats perhaps overconfident, and yet all of them are evidently uneasy, and have a string on their opinions. However, whatever happens, it will be taken good naturedly—by the winners, and the others have a right to kick, enough at least to ease their feelings, but the country will go on and prosper just the same. Neither party sends the rains, and they will continue to fall upon the just and the unjust alike, only a little more steadily out here in Oregon, perhaps, than elsewhere.

One thing seems to be pretty certain, and that is that the election will be a very badly mixed and uncertain one, or it will go in a bunch one way, that will astonish everybody, and this does not necessarily imply that it will be for Wilson. The whole situation is such that every man can do his own guessing, and do it about as well as anyone else can do it for him. In the meanwhile, just get in your wood, make a dry shed covered place for your chickens to run, patronize your home merchants, and be good, and you will be all right, whatever befalls politically.

COAL OIL FOR OREGON.

From results following the attempts to bore for oil down in Southeastern Oregon, it is not unreasonable to presume that a fine oil field will be opened and another great and permanent source of wealth added to Oregon's unequalled list. She has about everything that provident and generous old Dame Nature could give, coal and coal oil being about the only things not yet on her list, and one of these at least, seems assured. With the most valuable forest area in the Union, the most magnificent water powers in the world, a climate unequalled for mildness and equability in the same latitude anywhere in the world, and a range of agricultural and orchard products unrivaled anywhere, she is peerless as it is. With coal and oil added, there is nothing more for her children to desire.

"Why I am for Taft" is the title of a political pamphlet gotten out by John Hays Hammond, who threw the Boers down in South Africa. Hammond has recently testified that he subscribed $25,000 to the Taft campaign fund—and to the average citizen the inference would be that he is favorable to having "a run for his money," putting the political aspects of the matter in the background.

Some objections are made to the opening and improving of the rivers, because the railroads had the freight anyway. This is true, in a sense, but the fact that the rivers are navigable, and can handle the freight at a low rate, fixes the charge therefor, whether it is carried on the rivers or the roads. They are a great safety valve and prevent the steam, that is the rates, getting too high.

The Oregonian for some time seemed to be rather astride the fence politically, but there is not a shadow of doubt as to its position with regard to Senator Bourne

THE ROUND-UP

Baker City reports a case of smallpox.

Baker county sawmills complain of their inability to get cars.

About 1000 feet of the big railroad tunnel near Vale is completed.

Dr. J. C. Smith has sold out in Pendleton and will locate in Portland.

Charles Galloway and W. S. U'Ren are debating "Single Tax" in eastern Oregon.

Cattle rustlers are reported as being unusually active in northern Grant county.

Fred Cochran, of Baker City, had his leg broken last week in a runaway accident.

Work on the 12-inch oil well near Burns, Harney county, was started last week.

That big blast of 20 tons of powder at Monroe, was billed to be fired this afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock.

Lake county farmers are sinking many artesian wells and getting a fine water supply at from 125 to 200 feet depth.

Grain in stack belonging to Charles Wilson, of Burns, was destroyed by fire last week, about 2000 bushels being burned.

The Presbyterian Synod of Oregon in its meeting at Wallowa last week elected a new board of trustees for Albany college.

The corner stone of the Y. M. C. A. building at Baker City was laid Monday, the local Masonic lodge having charge of the ceremonies.

The Good Roads Association just formed in Coos county, proposes to bond the county for two million dollars for the purpose of getting a system of perfect roads.

The fourth annual Grant county fair which was held at Canyon City and closed Saturday night, was the best in its history. The exhibits were a revelation and the attendance large.

Reports from Eastern Oregon and Washington show the big storm Friday night was general. Telegraph and telephone wires generally were put out of commission.

MINES ARE MAKING A GOOD SHOWING

That the mining industry of Baker county is rapidly taking on new life is evidenced by the glowing reports coming in day after day. Old properties which have been idle for several years past, are being reopened and will take their place again on the roll of billion producers. Active operations on new properties in our various districts are doing their share toward presenting a splendid showing and stimulating mining, which has the effect of encouraging all engaged in this industry and a return of the old days when mining made things hum in Baker county is confidently expected.

Mika Woodard brings a good report from his group, consisting of fourteen claims on East Eagle. This property, which is known as the Woodard group, was located several years ago but it was not until recently that extensive development was prosecuted. A force of miners is now engaged in running a tunnel which will tap one of the ledges at a good depth. The ore is free milling and recent assays made by a local assayer show the ore to be very rich. The width of the vein has not been determined, only one wall having been exposed.—Baker City Herald.

Roosevelt has discovered through the shooting episode that his political opponents have a rather high regard for him, after all.

Journal "Want Ads." bring results.

Company Will Pay Premiums for Employees

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—Beginning with January 1 of next year, the Harriman lines will assume all bond premiums of employees in their service, according to an announcement made at the offices of the Southern Pacific Company here today.

In the past, it has been the custom to require all men handling money to put up a security bond, and the premium on it has been paid by the employe himself. After the first of the year this expense will be borne by the railroad company.

On the Pacific system of the Southern Pacific alone, there are about 45,000 employes, and the new arrangement, it is said, will involve a heavy expenditure annually.

This action is in line with the welfare campaign which the Southern Pacific and its allied lines are carrying on to better the conditions under which its employes are working.

HIGH GRADE STILL IN THE LIMELIGHT

Reno Gazette: T. B. Montgomery, a well known townsman of the Pacific coast, who was in Reno recently, stopping at the Overland hotel, brings some glowing accounts of the indications of the future prosperity of Highgrade, the new mining camp in Modoc county, California. He tells of three new strikes in that camp in the last 10 days.

"Highgrade is going to be the best mining camp in that vicinity in the spring," is the way Montgomery puts it. "In the last ten days there have been three strikes of importance. Two of these were on the Sunshine and the other was on the Modoc. In each instance the ore brought to light is carrying better values than heretofore struck, and will mean some good returns for the company, for the ore gives every indication of continuing for a good distance.

"Evidently Highgrade's fame is spreading, for there has been quite a large number of new residents coming in of late. Among them are miners from every part of the country. It is these things that causes us oldtimers in the camp to predict its future growth and prosperity."

Highgrade, which is located a short distance from Fairport on the N. C. O., is noted for the Sunshine mine, which is the show property of the camp. The camp was named after a streak of highgrade in the Sunshine mine, which returned values of $231 to the ton in gold and silver.

Montgomery was in Reno looking after business affairs and calling on some friends, and will not return to Highgrade until the spring. From Reno he went to Mason.

Because of the Dog.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] San Francisco, Oct. 23.—It all happened over a dog. L. B. Johnson loves him. He insisted upon the dog eating at the table and sleeping in bed with him. His wife asks a divorce.

Notice of Deficit Assessment for Improvement of Chemeketa Street from East Line of Water Street to West Line of Fourteenth Street.

Notice is hereby given that the common council of the city of Salem, Oregon, will at or about 7:30 o'clock p. m. on the 4th day of November, 1912 at the common council chambers in the city of Salem, Oregon, proceed to assess upon each lot or part thereof or parcel of land liable for its proportionate share of the deficit amount of the total cost of improving Chemeketa street from the east line of Water street to the west line of Fourteenth street, in accordance with the plans and specifications heretofore adopted for said improvement and on file in the office of the city recorder.

All persons interested in said deficit assessment and in the original assessment for improving said street are hereby notified to appear at said time before the said common council and present their objections, if any they have, to said assessment and apply to said common council on or before said 4th day of November, 1912, to equalize their proportionate share of the total cost of improving said Chemeketa street, and their said assessment.

Knees Became Stiff

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism.—The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 10 Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years, it kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's." Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM IS WORKING STEADILY

Despite the rain, cold and mud the high school pigskin booters are practicing each night and although the ball being wet and slippery and the field necessarily slow, the work is very good. The team was given quite a setback by the loss of Penn, one of the halfbacks, who, so far this season, had probably made more yardage than anyone else. But Spaulding, who is working in his place, is fast getting into shape and will probably be as big a yardage gainer for the school as Penn was. Bull who is working at the other half position, is getting on to the fine points of the game and will develop into a big yardage gainer as the season advances.

Miles is again back at his position at tackle after being out for a week, and Turner is back at center.

Coach Turner was very well satisfied with the result of the game Saturday, but expects them to take the other end of the score in the game on the coming Saturday.

Notice of Deficit Assessment for Improvement of South High Street From South Line of State Street to South Line of Mill Street.

Notice is hereby given that the common council of the city of Salem, Oregon, will at or about 7:30 o'clock p. m. on the 4th day of November, 1912, at the common council chambers in the city of Salem, Oregon, proceed to assess upon each lot or part thereof or parcel of land liable for its proportionate share of the deficit amount of the total cost of improving South High street from the south line of State street to the south line of Mill street in accordance with the plans and specifications heretofore adopted for said improvement and on file in the office of the city recorder.

All persons interested in said deficit assessment, and in the original assessment for improving said street are hereby notified to appear at said time before the said common council and present their objections, if any they have, to said assessment and apply to said common council on or before said 4th day of November, 1912, to equalize their proportionate share of the total cost of improving said South High street, and their said assessment.

W. C. HAWLEY,
Republican Direct Primary Nominee for Congress, has received the commendation of President Taft and Roosevelt and of the people of Oregon generally for his support of progressive legislation. Mr. Hawley is a native born Oregon, and is familiar with the affairs of Oregon, and will continue to serve the best interests of her people.

The Eugene Guard has the following relative to Mr. Hawley:
It is but simple justice to a hard-working, sincere man to say that Congressman Hawley possesses those qualifications for the office he holds. There are many smoother politicians on duty at the national capital, many more brilliant orators, but probably no member who is really trying harder to serve his constituents in a material way. More than this, Mr. Hawley is a plain forceful speaker, with ample ability to express himself in public, voicing the wishes of the people he represents.

Mrs. I. C. Hastler, Grand Island Neb., has something she wishes to say about Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. "My three children had a very severe attack of whooping cough and suffered greatly. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and it did them more good than anything I gave them. I am glad to recommend it." Sold by Dr. Stone Drug Company.
