Earrings Age Your Face

Madame Quivilla will be glad to answer any questions pertaining to womanly beauty. Personal replies will be given if a stamped and self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

The long earrings are especially pretty with the caplike hats and the hair worn over the ears on a gypsy face. They are also pretty upon young women of vicious temperament, but you must always remember that earrings will age your face at least five years, and in some cases ten. Diamonds should never be worn in the ears, as they detract from the brilliancy of the eyes. One large pearl, its translucent splendor set off by the pink flesh of the ear, is oftentimes pretty. However, I sometimes feel as a friend of mine does about rings—if your ears are pretty they do not need embellishment of earrings, and if they are ugly you do not want to call attention to them.

Beauty experts in this country as well as abroad are beginning to realize that this organ needs their attention just as much as the face. They are learning that pink ear lobes are of great assistance to the woman who is striving to retain her youthful appearance, that they bring out the pink in the cheeks most wonderfully, while the cold, lifeless ear reflects its ashy hue on the face. The up-to-date beauty specialists are, therefore, advising a gentle massaging of the ear, pinching the lobes to make them plump and pink. Many women, too, who never rouge their cheeks, invariably rouge their ears, as it really works wonders in their appearance.

Then there are ears that protrude which always causes much sorrow to their owner. They should, of course, have been treated in childhood, but even the mature woman will find great help in tying them down with a narrow ribbon at night just before retiring. She should also massage them gently every night with cold cream or olive oil, keeping ever in mind that where they have been neglected for twenty, thirty or more years, it takes more than a few days, weeks, or months to restore the elasticity of the skin, make it pliant, and thus gradually lessen the prominence of these obstreperous organs.

The first wrinkle of age comes on the side of the cheek, just in front of the ear, and its possessor in, as a rule, the last person to notice it. Just behind the ear there is usually a falling off of the roundness of the neck, and the hair becomes thin, leaving a bald look on the woman over 40 if she is not careful to remedy these important blemishes. Massage will do more for these growing imperfections than almost any other facial defect.

Some women, also, from lack of care, have ugly blackheads in the ear. These, of course, can be easily obliterated. The only thing is to pay attention to this important member. Sometimes one wonders that nature is as beneficent as she is to women, for few of them repay her with intelligent care of themselves, although they waste the time that should be given to physical cleanliness and cultivation befalling the fact that they are not beautiful.

A hand mirror that magnifies should be on every woman's toilet table. It should be used every day to note, among other things, that her ears are in the best possible condition, and that her hair is combed so that they show to the best advantage.

The woman who cares for the appearance of her ears, has in mind the general effect of the side and back view of her head. French modistes always call the attention of their patrons to the back view of their gowns, and the woman who thinks perfection will probably be un deceived if she will study the back of her head. The prominence and coloring of her ears will impress her with the laxity in attending to this particular part of her body, and she will resolve to care for them with just as much solicitude as her face and hair.

It will not take much extra time. Five minutes night and morning will be ample, and certainly repay any woman for the slight trouble for so dainty and well groomed will she look that some one will be sure to whisper something she loves to hear, close, close up to the satiny surface of her well kept ears.

The manual of the ear follows:

Large, thick ears: Simple, rudely reared, and forgetful.

Small ears: God memory, courageous, honest, peaceful, and of good habits.

Loose and narrow ear: Swollen with envy, wild, dishonest, and malignant.

Large, wide ear: Cunning and fo- queous.

Small, wide ear: Owner resembles a monkey and has habits of a monkey, always imitating the man- ners of others.

Criminologists rely upon the ears largely for purposes of identification, for no two ears are alike the world over. There is much similarity in noses, mouths and eyes, but there are no duplicates of your pair of ears.

To Open New Grocery.

Roy Collins, who was formerly in the employ of the Roth Grocery Co., and W. M. Thielsen, who conducted a garage on High street, are having the necessary alterations made in the Thielsen building on High street, preparatory to opening a grocery store and market there. This firm will handle a complete line of groceries, as well as meats, vegetables and fruit. They expect to do only a cash business and will run a delivery and con- duct the place as any first-class gro- cery and market should be conducted.

Being a philosopher may be a man's sized job, but a great many small women are taking care of that same job.

Some New Old Cars.

Two additional cars for service on the Portland, Eugene & Eastern lines in Salem arrived this morning from Los Angeles and are now being unloaded at the barns on Chemeketa and Front streets. The cars are of the double-truck variety and appear as though they will afford much better service than the single truck cars now operated in various parts of the city. From the appearance of the wheels, the recent shipment of rolling stock has been in use elsewhere.

Binding the Reports.

Judge J. C. Moreland, clerk of the supreme court, is directing the binding into volumes of all original opinions of the Oregon supreme court since the eighth Oregon report, which was published some time in the 70s. All reports up to the eighth were sent to San Francisco to be bound some years ago and are believed to have been destroyed in the fires following the earthquake in 1906. The earlier of the reports are in the handwriting of the judges.

Has All the Ear Marks of a Fraud

That several persons were induced to bite at what appears to be a fake promotion scheme, when Messrs. E. N. Garrett and H. H. Hoffman, promoters of the Armstrong Townsite Co., entered into a contract with Francis Feller, of Woodburn, for 225 acres near Woodburn, on the Oregon Electric, seems evident, after investigations made into the company by the Portland Realty Board.

Advertising to the effect that a large factory was to be built on the site by the Armstrong Manufacturing Co., the promoters induced several people to purchase lots at an average price of $300 each. The investigating board has evidence showing that Mr. Feller did not receive anything for his land, though several thousand dollars' worth of lots were sold. It is said that the promoters advertised that the purchasers would be protected by gold bonds issued by the Guarantee Realty & Trust Co. It looks as though they would lose all they invested.

GREEK FLEET WILL BOMBARD SALONIKA

San Francisco, Oct. 28.—Assault by the Greeks on Salonika by both land and sea is forecasted by dispatches received here today from Greece by the Pacific, a local Greek newspaper. These dispatches, say the Greek fleet is today steaming up the Aegean sea and will open a bombardment of Salonika either upon arrival or as soon as the Greek land force, aided by the Servians, is in position to strike.

WILL CLOSE ALL THE ROAD HOUSES

Portland, Ore., Oct. 28.—In a few months' time the last road house remaining in Multnomah county will have been wiped out of existence. The county commissioners today arbitrarily refused to re-license four of the six places remaining in the county. The licenses of the other places will expire May 22 and February 26, 1913, respectively, and they will not be allowed to reopen. The commission bases its action on the many complaints registered against the places, the difficulty of properly policing them because of their comparative isolation, and on the grounds that they are public nuisances.

The move is one of the most important in relation to the moral crusade in Portland and environs.

Old Steamboat Man.

Frank Haas, who resides on North Front street, is about the oldest steamboat man in the city, according to the logs of the various steamers which have plied the Willamette between Portland and Eugene. Mr. Haas was employed as cook, waiter and officer of "The Ruth" and other old time creamers thirty-five years ago. He inspected the new Grahamona yesterday and pronounced the nobby steamer to be about the "fittest" he has ever seen on the river at this city.

Is Writing a Book.

New York, Oct. 28.—Father Bernard Vaughn, the famous English Jesuit, is not missing, but is working on a book, according to the announcement this afternoon of Father Casey, of St. Ignatius' church. Father Vaughn's work on the book, Father Casey explained, compelled him to cancel his Chicago lecture, and this led to the report that he had disappeared.

Scared by War Rumors.

Berlin, Oct. 28.—The Bourse slumped heavily today as a result of reports that the British naval reserves are mobilizing for service in the near east.

Robbers Working in the Daylight

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

New York, Oct. 28.—Three men, unmasked and unarmed, this afternoon robbed the branch office of the Prudential Life Insurance company in the heart of Brooklyn's business district, escaping with $1000 in cash. The robbery occurred just two blocks away from a police station. The bandits entered the office while Miss Alice Frennels, the cashier, was alone. They houn dand gagged the girl, looted the open safe and escaped in the crowded streets.

Turns Against Johnson.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Pretty Lucille Cameron, the 19-year-old white girl of Minneapolis, whom Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion fighter, is accused of having abducted, resumed her story to the grand jury of her alleged treatment at the hands of the pugilist. Miss Cameron, it is reported, has turned completely against Johnson and will testify against him, should the grand jury return an indictment. Charles Johnson, the negro's brother, who gave damaging testimony against Jack last week, was served with another subpoena today.

Pressing Plaited Skirts.

Now that plaited skirts are creeping back to the realm of fashion women who like to attend to their own clothes will want to know just how to go about keeping them well pressed and in good condition.

First of all, you must baste the plaits in place just as they were when the skirt was new. Run a line of basting on the outside edge of each plait the full length, catching it down firmly to the material underneath. Lay it over the ironing board wrong side out, place a damp cloth over the plaits and press with a hot iron until the damp cloth is dry.

Allow the basting threads to remain in the skirt after it is pressed for several hours. Then remove them, and your skirts will keep their shape and look nice for a long time.

This same rule applies to all plaited garments.

Embroidered Nosegay.

Newer than the little boutonniere of silk or satin rosebuds, lilies of the valley or forget-me-nots and their foliage is the fad of embroidering the little nosegay directly upon the satin or silk lapel of the tailor made coat. The embroidery is done in the raised manner and is made so very prominent that at first glance it looks as though the flowers and leaves represented in their natural hues were detachable.
