

ALL the news that's fit to print--honest editorials, influenced by neither clique nor corporation--The Capital Journal stands for the people.

The Daily Capital Journal

THE largest circulation in Salem--and it is steadily increasing--The Capital Journal affords the very best medium for all advertisers.

36TH YEAR.

SALEM, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1912.

PRICE TWO CENTS

Man Loses Identity for Years

Had Absolutely no Recollection of Four Years During Which He Had Married and Was Father to two Children

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 28.—"It's Mary! Oh, I knew it would be, I never could have married any one else," cried Albert J. Ryan, of San Diego, when he was reunited with his wife at the central police station here today.

Ryan recovered last Sunday from a mental lapse of four years, according to his story, during which time he had married Mary Lloyd, of New York, to whom he had been engaged when he went to Arizona for his health. He was told last night that he was a married man with two children, and since then he has waited in an agony of apprehension lest the woman he married was not the girl he loved and had left in New York.

The Ryans departed together to celebrate Thanksgiving, Mrs. Ryan telling the police that she would return later and explain all she knows of the unusual case.

Employer Recognized Him.

Ryan recovered last Sunday from a mental lapse of four years, according to his story, during which time he had married Mary Lloyd, of New York, to whom he had been engaged when he went to Arizona for his health. He was told last night that he was a married man with two children, and since then he has waited in an agony of apprehension lest the woman he married was not the girl he loved and had left in New York.

The Ryans departed together to celebrate Thanksgiving, Mrs. Ryan telling the police that she would return later and explain all she knows of the unusual case.

NO SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTE IN SIGHT

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 28.—There was no sign of a settlement of the dispute between the Carnegie Steel company and representatives of the 625 trainmen who struck because three of their number were discharged for circulating a petition for readjustment of wages.

More than 15 strikebreakers were quartered in the Homestead plant last night. The strikers refused overtures today from officials of the I. W. W. to help them within the strike.

Two More States Dedicate Sites at Exposition

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
San Francisco, Nov. 28.—The commissioners of the states of New York and West Virginia will dedicate sites for participation in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition tomorrow in the presence of many thousands of natives from the Empire and southern states, who are now gathering.

Norman E. Mack, chairman of the New York delegation will plant the flag on the New York site, which is adjacent to the one selected by Pennsylvania's chief executive. New York has set aside $750,000.

Thus far twenty-one states have dedicated sites for state buildings, and thirty-two states have accepted the invitation to participate in the 1915 Universal exposition.

The Day in the West.

San Francisco, Nov. 28.—Bright sunshine, balmy air and weather which as a whole could not be bettered, marked today all along the Pacific coast from Canada to the Mexican line. In the east heavy snow and a howling blizzard proved a setback to the joys of turkey day while in the middle west and the Rocky mountain section the temperatures were low.

Blue skies and bright sunshine on whole coast, the day was in every way a perfect one.

A Notable Change in Situation

NEW YORK TIMES POINTS OUT THE VAST DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE CAMPAIGN OF WILSON AND THAT OF CLEVELAND.

(New York Times.)
When President Cleveland entered the White House in 1885, the break in Republican ascendancy in the national government was the first in nearly a quarter of a century. Partisans on both sides expected a "clean sweep."

But Mr. Cleveland, with that rare ability of his to grasp the real significance of changes under representative government, had pledged himself to the principle that only such offices should be changed as were concerned in the policy of the government, and that the masses of purely business places should not be treated as "patronage." This principle he enforced—considering the pressure necessarily brought to bear upon him—with marked fidelity. But the conditions were difficult, the civil service law was new and its machinery undeveloped; the result was mixed and by no means satisfactory as the advocates of the merit system desired.

On the 4th of March, next, another change will take place. After 16 years the Democratic party will regain control of the government. But this time no one expects a "clean sweep." None will occur. Undoubtedly many offices will be turned over to Democratic appointees. But the number in which there will be no interruption whatever will be many times as great as in 1885. Very few offices not "presidential"—that is, filled by nomination of the president—will be affected. In what were formerly the great patronage departments of the government—the treasury, the postoffice, and the department in Washington—only a fraction of the places will show the influence of the election, while in the diplomatic and consular service the proportion will be far less than 16 years ago. And this remarkable change is bound to be progressive. It is the concrete result of a very great advance in public sentiment, which is still going on. Every friend of practical, orderly, clean and efficient government may rejoice that this is so.

OFFERS REWARD FOR MISSING CAPITALAIST

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
San Francisco, Nov. 28.—To stimulate the search for William Watt, capitalist of Napa, who disappeared in Oakland last Friday afternoon, and whose automobile was found near the ferry there, Mrs. Elizabeth Watt, mother of the missing man, offered a reward of $500 here today for his return, dead or alive.

The police throughout the state are working on the case, but the mystery appears to grow more puzzling. Watt is 32 years old, six feet tall and weighs about 170 pounds.

Will Get Jury Trial

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 28.—Owing to pressure of business in the juvenile court, the case of former City Prosecutor Guy Eddle, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, probably will be transferred to the superior court. This will assure Eddle of a jury trial.

Lost Wife and Life

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Napa, Cal., Nov. 28.—Because he objected to the attentions of Chris Carey to his wife, Fred Neunenschwander followed the pair as they went buggy riding, engaged in a fight with Carey, and as a result is dead here today and as a bullet through his head. A posse is on the trail of the slayer.

"I'll Get You, Mr. Gobbler"

By JAMES A. EDGERTON
(With Apologies to James Whitcomb Riley)

GORGIE, like another George who lived in times way back,
Took his little hatchet out to find what he could hack,
Looked the pleasing prospect o'er and softly murmured, "Gee;
I've no time to monkey round with any cherry tree!"
Thought about Thanksgiving that was out two days away;
Said, "I've got to have a turk to celebrate the day";
Sashayed toward the turkey yard and gave a sudden shout,
"I'll get you, Mr. Gobbler, if you Don't Watch Out!"

GOBBLER had been fattened up and given corn to gorge
Till he was a whopper and was 'most as big as George.
So when Georgie waved his blade with bloody, fell intent
Turkey simply gobbled—couldn't scare him for a cent;
Klunked and strutted round awnle, his wattles flaming red,
With a manner truculent that very plainly said,
"Look sharp or I'll dog you 'fore you know what you're about, an' the gobbler 'll get you if you Don't Watch Out!"

I DON'T know of anything in all creation's plan
That can scare a boy more than a turkey gobbler can.
With his tail spread like a fan, his wings down on the ground,
Strutting round and gobbling with a terrifying sound,
This one made for little George, who suddenly turned tail,
Dropped his hatchet in his flight and legged it with a wail,
Every step imagining he heard that turkey shout,
"The gobbler 'll get you if you Don't Watch Out!"

LATER on that Mr. Turk got his, as turkeys may,
Specially if they are fat around Thanksgiving day.
Father came upon the scene and set a pace so hot,
Strutting gobbler had to execute the turkey trot.
George, who saw his enemy with head upon the block,
Didn't shed a single tear or feel a single shock.
But when served his portion waved his drumstick with a shout,
"We got you, Mr. Gobbler, 'cause you Didn't Watch Out!"

Syndicate to Build Yacht to Meet Lipton

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
San Francisco, Nov. 28.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge to race in the 23-meter class at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition next month in 1915, has been accepted by a syndicate, headed by Thomas L. Miller, president of the West Coast Life Insurance company. The challenge reads:
"On behalf of a syndicate, yet to be formed, permit me to accept your challenge for a race in the 23-meter class to be sailed here during 1915.
"We will meet you with a boat designed under the international rule," built and sailed by San Francisco. "And may the best boat win."
This syndicate will be made up of 25 leading residents of this city. The boat will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000, and it will undoubtedly be called "LIPTE."

Herbert Quick Is Boomed for Cabinet Place

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Washington, Nov. 28.—Among those enjoying cabinet rooms here today is Herbert Quick, "Prominently mentioned" for secretary of agriculture. Quick is chief of Farm and Forestry. He is the author also of many books on many subjects. He was at one time mayor of Spass City, Ia., and was editor of LaPullette's Weekly when that paper first began.

Will Shoot Anyway

Ventura, Cal., Nov. 28.—Because his manly officers threaten to arrest if a scheduled turkey shoot is held here today, the mayor, the chief of police and city council say they will participate, if they go to jail for it. Fifteen birds were bought.

The Day in the East.

New York, Nov. 28.—Howling blasts and swirling snow in the morning for the Thanksgiving turkey today all the way from Texas to Georgia and from there north to Canada. Heavy snow covers New York state and in many sections transportation was demoralized in Canton, N. Y., 26 inches of snow has fallen.
The storm struck New York this morning and already is causing serious difficulty with the street car service.

Talks to Interest Dairymen

SPECIAL SPEAKERS AT O. A. C. FARMERS' WEEK, DECEMBER 9-14 ON LIVE DAIRY SUBJECTS A BIG FEATURE.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Or., Nov. 28.—Dairymen will find much of special interest in the Farmers' Week program at the Oregon Agricultural college this year. A letter received from J. M. Dickson, of Ashburn Farm, Shedd, where the registered Jerseys are bred, gives the subject of his address Tuesday afternoon, December 19 from 4 to 5 o'clock, an "The Building of a Dairy Herd."

A. K. Risser, in charge of the western dairy investigations for the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States department of Agriculture writes that he will have as his subject "The Work of the U. S. Dairy Division in the West." He is to speak Thursday afternoon, December 12, from 4 to 5 o'clock. He is to speak also, on his way to the college at Lewiston, Ida., December 9, and probably will have a place on the program of the state Dairymen's convention at Albany.

Other lectures of interest to dairymen attending the Farmers' Week will include those of Dr. Withycombe on "Agricultural Opportunities," "Co-operative Marketing," "Dairy Herd Improvement," and "Livestock, a Factor on the Dairy Farm." Prof. E. L. Potter will give demonstration lectures on "Judging Dairy Cattle," "Marketing Livestock," and "Judging Beef Cattle."

Prof. L. L. Kent, head of the dairy school will have a number of interesting lectures and demonstrations on "Milk: Its Composition and Secretions," "The Babcock Test," "Milk Records," "Dairy Stations," and "Dairy Equipment."

G. R. Sainson of the animal husbandry department will talk on "Principles of Breeding," and Prof. H. D. Scudder will speak of "Special Crops for the Dairyman—Kale, Rape, and Fodder," as well as of other foods.

"Farm Cheese Making" is one of the subjects on which O. G. Emerson will speak. He will also treat of "Cream Separators" and "Farm Butter Making." Swan Bevel's lecture on "Farm Business Methods" will be helpful to the dairymen who wish to make his business a financial success, and there will also be particular value in Prof. T. D. Henshew's lecture on "The Farm Waste Supply," "The Use of Soil by Root Crops," "Intercropping Cereals," "Tobacco Feeds," and "Tuberculosis."

The talks on modern farm buildings, intensive farming, irrigation, drainage, and the use of concrete on the farm will be interesting to the dairy man as to the general farmer. Other dairy men will add to the program profitable addresses on farm machinery, tools to the land, crop rotation, co-operative associations, the using of useful knapsack for farm, manure, and fertilizers and general farmstead problems.

Ex-Senator Gordon Dead

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Oklahoma, Miss., Nov. 28.—Former Senator James Gordon died at his home here today.

Hangings Might Be Illegal

Attorney General Inclines to Opinion that Convicts must Be Resentenced, and that Governor Cannot Fix Day

It is possible that there will be no executions at the state penitentiary on Friday, December 13, regardless of the fact that this is the date to which the dye condemned men sentenced to death have been reprieved by the governor.

John P. Robertson, of this city, raised the question with Attorney-General Crawford today as to whether it is within the power of the executive to reprieve a condemned man and set a date for his execution at a time certain after the date which has been set by the court for the judgment to be executed.

Attorney-General Crawford has started an investigation into the law-points involved. Off-hand he said today that it is his opinion that it will be necessary for all of the condemned men to be taken back to the respective counties in which they were originally sentenced and for the court to again set new dates for their execution.

Executions Might Be Prolonged.

In this event there would be little likelihood that all of the men would hang on the same day and the executions would probably string over a period of time.

The Attorney-General says that apparently the courts of this state and other courts have held that in event the execution of death penalty is not carried out on the day provided in the original sentence of the court that it is unnecessary for the court to resentence, but it is necessary for the court to name another date on which the sentence is to be carried out.

He doubts the legality of the executive's move in taking upon himself the naming of a day when the death sentence shall be inflicted. He expresses the opinion that this is purely a move for the judicial power and although in some cases it has been designated as a ministerial act it has been held as lying solely within the province of the court.

Statute Silent on Particular.

The constitution gives to the governor the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, but the statute is silent on the point as to when a reprieve shall cease to be effective. The reprieves were granted from time to time and each of the five designated Friday, December 13, as the date for the execution in event the people of the state voted to retain capital punishment.

The attorney-general has not given a final opinion on the question. In addition to the point raised by Mr. Robertson it was also suggested that in event the executions were carried out on the day named by the governor and it was determined that such execution were illegal it may be possible that the superintendent or warden of the prison who carries the execution in effect would be indictable on a charge of manslaughter.

Will Hold up Decision for Several Weeks

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Washington, Nov. 28.—Mayor James H. Duff of New York has declined to sign a bill which would suspend the death penalty for the state of New York until after the hearing is completed here. It will require a month to prepare reports on the bill. The bill would suspend the death penalty for the state of New York until after the hearing is completed here. It will require a month to prepare reports on the bill. The bill would suspend the death penalty for the state of New York until after the hearing is completed here. It will require a month to prepare reports on the bill.