

Women in England Get Silly

ONE HORSEWHIP'S A PREACHER BY MISTAKE AND OTHERS WHENEVER GIVEN THE CHANCE MAKE FOOLS OF THEMSELVES.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Aberdeen, Scotland, Nov. 29.—Mistaking the Rev. Forbes Jackson for Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd George, a suffragette administered a severe horsewhipping across the clergyman's face today. She was arrested.

Four other suffragettes were arrested in connection with Lloyd George's land tax meeting here last night, including a girl who threw a stone through the window of an automobile in which the chancellor was supposed to be. Another woman was arrested with a dummy bomb in her possession.

One of the suffragettes arrested, Grace Locke, when denied an immediate trial today, removed her shoe and threw it at the examining magistrate. She was sent to jail for contempt of court.

Plastering Falls on the Committee

Sawtelle, Cal., Nov. 29.—While the senatorial committee that is probing conditions at the national soldiers home here was examining Edward H. Kenney, a veteran today, a large section of plaster fell from the ceiling of the auditorium, narrowly missing the witness and stenographer A. G. Bagley. Similar incidents have occurred at least six times recently, according to the veterans, and had anyone been struck, they claim, serious injuries would have been probable.

Kenney testified regarding technical regulations, wardrobes and other matters pertaining to the home and its discipline.

Senator Chamberlain stated today that it is undecided how long the probe will continue, but that it is likely to be lengthy. It is possible that it will extend to other homes before its official close.

FRIENDS BOOST L. H. ROBERTS FOR COUNCILMAN

The people of the fifth ward are faced with the necessity of writing in the name of a candidate for alderman for the long term or voting for Mr. E. C. Minton the nominee. Mr. Minton is the sole nominee for the long term owing to the withdrawal of J. D. Turner, who declined to make the race. Many of the people of the ward who are friendly to Mr. L. H. Roberts propose to vote for that gentleman by writing his name in the ballot. Mr. Roberts has lived in that ward for several years and during that time has done much for building it up. He has built a large two-story concrete store building, has acquired a splendid home, and although not a member of that denomination did much toward the building of Jason Lee Methodist church. His friends are confident that he will make a good councilman and propose to write his name in the ballot. Voters should remember that his name should be written in the blank space for the long term and marked with an X, just as though the name were printed. Paid advt.

ASKS COUNTRY LIFE COMMISSION TO MEET

State School Superintendent Alderman today issued a call for a meeting of the state country life commission at the state house on January 3 and 4. Discussion of important questions pertaining to a building up of country life both in residence and enlightenment will be taken up. Suggestions will also be invited of means for making country life more desirable.

The members of the country life commission appointed by Governor West last February are the following: Mrs. B. Lee Pugh, Oak Grove; A. C. Goodrich, North Yamhill; M. O. Nelson, Troutdale; C. D. Huffman, La Grande; Miss Elizabeth Putman, Medford; Mrs. Elmer Connell, Deer Island; L. T. Reynolds, Salem; T. W. Brunk, Eola; E. H. Shepherd, Hood River; Charles K. Henry, Portland; Cliff Evans, Lostine; Mrs. W. J. Ball, Salem; Louis J. Simpson, North Bend; E. H. Barber, Myrtle Creek.

Notice to Voters.

To all who favor the issuing of bonds for payment of the Salem sewers, vote yes on 100, yes on 102 and no on 107. It is necessary to vote yes on 100 to give effect to 102. Let no argument of the opposition mislead you.

ENOS PRESSNALL,
E. C. Minton,
Sewer Committee.

Before the Election Guesses

Speculations are being made today by Salem voters as to who will be the successful candidates, and what the fate of several measures will be when the votes are counted for the city election Monday.

There is considerable dissension in the fifth ward over the election of aldermen. For a time it appeared as though C. E. Minton would have a clear field, by reason of John D. Turner's declination to be a candidate for the two-year-term, but those who opposed the former soon placed L. H. Roberts in the race, who, it is declared, is meeting with much encouragement from the voters, both male and female, in the fifth ward. Mr. Roberts consented to run only after the insistent requests of friends.

Hill's friends have been making a vigorous campaign in the fifth ward, and they claim a complete victory insofar as the candidate for the short term is concerned. Hill is also confident he will be re-elected, and also predicts that L. H. Roberts will receive a majority for the long term. Hill declares that so far he has not met with any serious opposition, and hopes to secure a good majority, in spite of the fact that there has been quite a mix-up in his ward over Turner's switching.

The chief of police race is probably the most hotly contested in the present campaign. D. W. Gibson is confident, and his opponent, Frank Schedeck, is equally so. It is probably a matter of friends in this race, both being about equally divided.

Both candidates are making a clean fight, and friends of each are making no special effort, so far as can be seen, but are content to leave their choice in the hands of the voters in general. As a police chief, Gibson is spoken of as being equally as good as any ever filling the office, and as a patrolman, Schedeck is the recipient of much encouraging comments.

The bond issue is a burning one. Some are confident that it will fail to carry, while others proclaim its victory by large majorities in every ward. $350,000 is the consideration in bonds, which the vote next Monday will either authorize the council to issue or forbid the issuance. In order to meet the obligation incurred from the bonds, the bill proposes that an additional assessment be levied yearly. There will be $19,000 principal and $19,000 interest to be paid next year. In the event the bond issue carries.

The bill authorizing the council to set aside $1500 yearly for the support and maintenance of a band is meeting with considerable favor, according to some. Salem is without a regular musical organization at present, and it is the general opinion that a city of this size should support a band.

Some newspapers and people seem to expect that the tariff is going to be fully and finally settled next year. But the tariff will probably be an issue in 1912.

It's surprising how fat a fat woman is.

Will Help Us Build the Roads

That Oregon receives $65,583, including the 10 per cent from the regular 25 per cent fund from the receipts from the national forests for road building, is information received by Governor West from W. M. Hays, acting secretary of the interior. The communication further says that $6,000 has been set aside by the department from the regular road improvement fund for the Ashland road in the Crater national forest. The communication to the governor follows in part:

"The list of road projects, submitted to you by the district forester under date of November 8, has been approved in full, with authority to the district forester to apply the unallotted $96421, which he suggests be retained until later as a contingent according to his own judgment.

"You will also be interested in learning that $6000 of the regular permanent improvement fund has been allotted to the Ashland road within the Crater national forest. This makes altogether a sum of $23,023.81 devoted to road construction within the national forests of the state from the funds of the forest service, in addition to the regular fund consisting of 25 per cent of the receipts of the national forests which the law says shall be paid to the public school and road funds of the counties in which the national forests are located. This sum for the entire state of Oregon for the fiscal year 1912 was $42,550.52."

After all, the old maid suffragists like Miss Addams and Miss Harper, may know pretty well what is good and right for children.

Explains Austrian Situation

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Rome, Nov. 29.—Why Austria's warlike preparations now keep Europe trembling on the verge of general war is not alone that it fears Serbian aggression, but also that it faces a disintegration of its own power and the establishment of a great Slav empire, according to Leonida Dissolati, Socialist and labor leader of the Italian parliament. Dissolati and his colleagues are bitterly against Italy's backing Austria if the test of war should come, and are planning to oppose in every possible way the use of Italian bayonets to bolster up the menaced Austrian power.

The true inwardness of the Austro-Serbian impasse was detailed here for the United Press in the following signed statement:

(By Leonidas Dissolati.)
It is only too natural that Austria, with all of the temerity of desperation, should play its last card. In the new adjustment of the Balkans which will result from the victory of the quadruple alliance, Austria feels itself defeated in its most important policy. And why?

He who wishes to grasp the real reason why Austria feels itself defeated along with Turkey by the arms of the Balkan allies has only to raise his glance so that it will embrace the entire effect of the situation that has been created for Austria by the unexpected Balkan catastrophe. A new and powerful political organization is about to be formed on its confines—an organization in which the predominant element will be that of the Slav. With such a new organization perfected, it would become at once a center of attraction for the Slavs now living in the Austrian empire, and of whom at present there are 6,000,000 living immediately on the boundary between Austria and the new Balkan-Slav organization that is about to arise.

This new organization in the Balkans would not be a danger to Austria if it had within itself the capacity to give satisfaction, in its inner civil, political and industrial life, to the Slav element, admitting the latter as the third party in the constitutional association. But the two dominant races in Austria—the Germanic and the Magyar—do not intend to cede any of their power and treat the Slavs as should play its last card. In the new they, the Germanic and the Magyar peoples, play the role of police commissioners directing the stage. Nothing remains, therefore, except to avert the peril, making use of diplomacy, if possible, and arms if necessary, to prevent the formation of the new Slav political power.

This is the reason why Austria wants the territory lying between Serbia and Montenegro, and not merely for the purpose of increasing its territorial holdings. This is the reason why it does not suffice to Austria to have guarantees of commercial communication with Salonika; this is the reason why Austria wishes to place as a condition of its not intervening that Serbia shall come within the orbit of the Austrian empire by means of a mutual tariff, and customs agreement.

And, finally, this is why, despairing of succeeding by these means, Austria has now played its last card by raising the question of the integrity of Albania.

If everybody would put the Made-in-Oregon slogan into practice, this would soon become by far the richest state in proportion to population in the Union.

Archduke and Heir-apparent Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary looms a large and important figure on the perturbed European field.
