164 Deaths Caused by Accident

IN SIXTEEN MONTHS, ENDING SEPTEMBER 30, THERE WERE 5179 ACCIDENTS REPORTED TO LABOR COMMISSIONER, 164 FATAL.

The number of accidents to laboring men in Oregon from May 20, 1911, to September 30, 1912, as listed in statistics compiled at the office of State Labor Commissioner O. P. Hoff total 5179, and of this number 164 proved fatal. The figures are to be included in the biennial report from the labor commissioner's office.

From all places where more than three men are employed the law demands that all accidents, if any time is lost, or a physician is called, be reported to the labor commissioner. Commissioner Hoff complains that in a number of smaller concerns, where only a few men are employed, the law is not followed in the reports being submitted to him as closely as he desires to have it followed. All the large establishments are prompt in sending in their reports. Many of those who fail to report, the commissioner declares, are not ignorant of the law, and in all cases, as soon as he becomes cognizant that the law is not being adhered to Commissioner Hoff declares that he will enforce it to the letter.

Particular care has been taken in compiling the report to list the injuries according to the classes of workmen. In some cases this is said to be a hard matter, because an injury to a carpenter, for example, may be listed under injuries in construction work.

In the number of accidents reported, the largest number 645, took place in saw and planing mills. Of this number 16 proved fatal. With 544 accidents machine shops and foundries are second on the list. The largest number of fatalities occurred in the logging industry, a total of 44 men out of 461 injured having lost their lives while logging.

In the following list of accidents, as classified under the different crafts those reporting less than 20 are under the head of "miscellaneous."

Blacksmithing, 60; bridge construction, 27; can manufacturing, 46; carpenters, 50; concrete, cement and paving, 28; construction, 398; electrical work, 186; furniture, etc., 27; logging, 461; machine shops, foundries, etc., 544; meat concerns, 66; mining, 22; paper mills, 446; power plants and construction work, 35; quarry work, 20; railroad construction, 309; railroad section, 264; train, 407; railroad yard, 396; sawmills, planing mills, etc., 645; sawmill and planing mill yards, 285; teaming, 62; warehouse and dock work, 98; woolen mills, 28; miscellaneous, 261; total, 5179.

The fatalities reported are: Brickyard, 1; bridge construction, 1; carpenter, 2; concrete, cement and paving, 2; construction, 12; electrical, 5; elevator operator, 1; fish cannery, 1; harvesting, 1; logging, 44; machine shops, etc., 2; mining, 2; paper mill, 1; quarry, 10; railroad construction, 18; railroad section, 6; railroad train, 14; railroad yard, etc., 9; sawmills, etc., 16; sawmills, etc., yard, 5; sheet metal works, 1; steamboat, 5; store, 1; warehouse and dock, 2; wood distillery, 1; wood saw, 1; total, 164.

MARION COUNTY REFUSED TO HELP BUILD ROAD

Marion county has lost many thousands of dollars of state and federal aid, and the state has consequently lost a considerable amount of federal aid because of the fact that the Marion county court has failed to respond to a request by the government for a contribution for the building of a wagon road between Niagara and Detroit. So it is stated by Governor West.

People living on what is now no more than a trail between Niagara and Detroit raised a sum of $1500 for a road. Governor West promising them help from the government. It was said that $2500 would be available for the fund. Immediately, and a greater amount later. Had the road been provided for it would be of great value to the country, because the highway would lead directly into the new state forest reserve.

The matter was also put up to the Linn county court and to the state board of forestry. Both agreed to contribute, while the Marion county court could not see its way clear to do so. The money must now be used for some other purpose. Governor West states that he had planned to establish a convict camp on the road and to hurry the work to completion. He estimates that for every dollar spent by the county on the road there would be returns worth $5.

THEY WORK FOR MONEY BUT STAY IN SCHOOL

They do not allow working to interfere with going to school in Hammond, Indiana. Special arrangements are made whereby boys and girls may work half a day in certain commercial establishments and attend school the balance of the day. Hammond is a manufacturing community, where the temptation to boys and girls is strong to leave school and earn a living. Supt. McDaniel's plan makes it possible for boys and girls to earn money, remain in school, and also make themselves more efficient industrially.

The plan at Hammond is based on a full realization of modern social and industrial conditions. Supt. McDaniel proceeds on the theory that, while there are certain general principles underlying all education, each community has its own special problems that are too often disregarded in the making of the schools. Besides the co-operative school and shop arrangement, Hammond maintains a night school with an attendance of 700, where boys and girls may not only make up elementary deficiencies, but also receive practical training in specific phases of commerce and industry.

Vocational guidance forms another feature of the Hammond plan. The schools furnish information about the various industries in the community, the salaries paid in different lines of work, the opportunities for advancement, hours of labor, permanency of employment, and all the details that are of value in determining a choice of employment. As early as the sixth grade the teacher tests the child's interest and ability in various forms of elementary industrial work, so that he may come to have some idea of a future vocation. The school authorities also maintain an employment bureau, where present and former pupils are registered and their qualifications carefully investigated.

WAS WITH MARSHALL WHEN HE DISCOVERED GOLD

Reno, Nev., Dec. 2.—James Burke, partner of James Marshall, who first discovered gold in California, and said to be the last of the party that was with Marshall, died Saturday at his home near Reno.

He was 82 years old.

Could Shout For Joy.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters have no superior. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents of J. C. Perry.

National Roads to Come Next

Representative Warburton, of the state of Washington, announces that he intends to introduce a bill in Congress at the short session which convenes the first Monday of next month, providing for the construction of trunk lines of paved roadways connecting the capitals of every state with the National capital.

It will take five years, Mr. Warburton estimates to construct the proposed National highway along with its extensions or other branch lines. Through the medium of minor routes, it is proposed to make the principal National parks a part of the main system.

The proposed roadways are to be made of some hard material, probably brick. To raise the funds for the 15,000 miles of roadways provided for in his proposed bill, Representative Warburton will ask for a restoration of the internal revenue tax on tobacco, which was taken off thirty-three years ago.

The proposed system of highways, Mr. Warburton has estimated, should cost not more than $25,000 per mile. According to his figures, $50,000,000 annually for five years will be required to pay the cost of the trunk lines and their branches. This vast sum, he believes, can be raised without hardship to any one through the tobacco tax feature of his bill. He says:

"This bill will provide for a 16-foot roadway with heavy concrete base, hard surface, such as asphalt or vitrified brick, in order to make the roads as free from dust as possible. The bill will provide for immediate construction of an Atlantic and Gulf line from Augusta, Maine, to Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and Tallahassee, Florida, and a Pacific Coast line from Olympia, Washington, to Los Angeles, California.

Our present tax on tobacco is very low, Mr. Warburton declares. He believes, therefore, that it should not be difficult to re-enact the law of 1879, incorporating a clause setting aside the additional revenue from this source as a National road fund. Calculating the effect of the law, he said:

"While the proposed increased tax on tobacco might seem heavy, yet, as a matter of fact, it will not even be noticed by the consumer. For instance, it would raise the tax on a ten-cent cigar three-tenths of a cent. The manufacturer of a ten-cent cigar would decrease the weight of the tobacco one-third, and the consumer could not tell the difference in size. The manufacturer of smoking tobacco would likewise reduce the size of the package about a twelfth, and the consumer would not know the difference in the size of his package."

The people will endorse the idea of building good roads, but it may be that they will object to raising money in the manner proposed by Mr. Warburton. By raising the money for good roads by a tax on tobacco, it would make the poor men of the country pay the large bulk of the cost of constructing the roads. Would it not be better to devise some way to raise the money that is necessary by taxing something that is more generally used by the wealthy men of the country?—Eugene Guard.
