THE GOVERNOR'S VETO OF THIS BILL GOES

Has Warm Debate With Reporter Perkins, and Put Up a Hot Argument.

The National Guard throughout the state is resting on its arms today, reporters are going heavily armed, and there is much suppressed tension in the legislative halls, but Old Glory still floats proudly over the south capitol wing. Oregon knows not what the day or tomorrow will bring forth. Sad, sad, hour!

For Governor West, he it said to the everlasting shame and disgrace of the newspaper fraternity of the state, licked a reporter last night. The event would not have been nearly so deplorable had the reporter licked the governor. Surely the noble writing fraternity, that once noble calling, is degenerating.

The affair was an impromptu one between lightweights though both men were in the pink of condition. "Kid" West, the state house wonder, however, seemed to have a shade in condition of his opponent, "Battling Perkins," the Portland Telegraph marvel. Efforts are being made for a return bout on the capitol lawn at an early date, in which event much money will go up, as friends of each claim their man can wipe the other off the face of the earth.

But such excitement—well, here is how it happened:
Frank L. Perkins, who had just come from Bill Hanley's banquet to the legislative newspaper men, sauntered into the state house in the prime of his sweet, innocent life, whistling "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." Little dreamed he what was in store. He was thinking of the fighting in Mexico City. Alas, how little we know what the next moment holds for us; how near the grim reaper is lurking.

As Perkins blithely skipped down the corridor, Governor West came out of a committee room.
"What's going on in there?" asked Perkins of West, as he expanded his winning smile.
"Did you speak to me?" the governor said, according to bystanders. "I don't want any lying, dirty crook to speak to me."
"I haven't lied about you," Perkins is said to have replied.
Perkins' reply seems to be fighting language in Salem, for hardly were the words out of his mouth than Governor West jumped forward and grabbed him by the throat, and both rolled to the floor, spitting, spluttering, ainsing and clawing.

Oh, it was awful.
Bill Hanley, famous king of Harney county, who had just entered the corridor as the riot started, wrung his hands in terror as he shouted loudly: "Will no one stop this frightful carnage?" Legislators and others came running from all directions. Representative Forbes, of Crook, Harney, Malheur etc., fainted dead away, and Senator Stewart, of the same territory, fell prostrate over his body. The Eastern Oregon men, reared in a refined atmosphere, are not used to our Willamette valley ways, and were shocked by the sight.

"Mowder!" shrieked 47 house stenographers, and "police!" shouted 23 stenographers in high treble, $5 a day shrieks, and they, too, began joining the fainting squad in sections. Lobbyists and others rushed to telephones and began calling up doctors ordering ambulances and notifying relatives.

It was a time for quick action by strong men, and those very lads were on the spot in the person of Senator Bean and Representative Spencer. They pried the governor's hands off Perkins' throat, and then 14 other solons grabbed Perkins and held him firmly.
"I don't care if you are governor of the state," shouted Perkins at West. "Come back at me, if they will let me loose, and I will give you something to think about."
Then friends of each hurried the combatants off in different directions. That's all.

Notes From the Front.
When news of the combat was brought into the house, it almost broke

SURELY SETTLES UPSET STOMACHS

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" ENDS INDIGESTION, GAS SOURNESS AND HEARTBURN IN FIVE MINUTES.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"Really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs degulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

up the night session of that body Each member was eager for the full details.

An hour after the fight State Printer Dunlway was discerned by friends hiding under one of his printing presses in the state house, and, when assured that Governor West had gone home, also departed for his own domicile, but under heavy guard.

Governor West's account: "I was just leaving the committee room when Perkins passed by and spoke to me. There was some words and I hit him. We went down on the floor together, and then were separated. That is about all there is to tell."

About midnight the two legislative reporters of the Oregonian were found clinging to the top of a pillar at the west wing of the state house. They were glad to learn that Governor West had gone home, and at once began wiring to their paper an account of the battle.

Legislative reporters are traveling in threes today, but if the governor shows no further devastating feeling will probably go in pairs tomorrow. Each is heavily armed with sterilized revolvers, and carries a stiletto in his right sock.

Bill Hanley departed for his home in Harney county today. He was much upset by the episode. "Such a riot would be a disgrace in our country," he said.
