

SOCIETY

It would be difficult to imagine a more delightful affair among the senior high school crowd, than the Washington birthday party given by Miss Mildred and Miss Margaret Garrison last Saturday evening.

Flags and a portrait of General George Washington, red carnations, and emblems of this great American's youthful days, were decorations for the rooms.

Music with games and contests, filled the merry hours. Enjoying the hostesses' hospitality were Miss Olive Beckley, Miss Ruth Manning, Miss Irma Botsford, Miss Marie Holcomb, Miss Hazel Keeler, Miss Isabella McGilchrist, Miss Jennie Pearce, Miss Agnes Driscoll, Miss Dorothy Burdall, Miss Harriett Rigdon, Miss Lora Miles, Miss Jessie Holcomb, Russel Fields, Ross Miles, Bruce McDaniel, Martin Spaulding, William Huggins, Karl Becke, Howard Bull, Kenneth Martin, John Elliot, De-witt Barnes, Paul Hendricks, Harold Hager.

Miss Glenna Smith planned the elaborate pageant which will be one of the chief features of the suffrage demonstration at Washington on the third of March, and will also direct the tableaux vivant in which prominent women will pose on the steps of the Treasury building.

Madam Lillian Nordica has rearranged her concert dates so as to participate in the demonstration. Mrs. Tinner, who was Miss Glenna Smith before her marriage, taught in one of the largest schools of expression in Chicago, and visited Salem as the guest of Miss Mabel Carter, who was a teacher of elocution in this city. Later, Miss Carter was Mrs. Johnson of Portland.

While a guest in Salem, Mrs. Tinner read "Monsieur Beaucaire"; and added laurels to an already enviable reputation as an elocutionist.

Quantities of bunting and flags made appropriate decorations for the George Washington social given last week Friday evening by the West Central circle of First Methodist church. Many colonial costumes worn with the powdered hair, made a quaintly pretty picture. Particularly becoming to Mrs. Vera Byars Glover, was this dainty impersonation of the colonial dame, when she sang "America" as accompaniment to Miss Blanche Lidston's beautiful pantomime. Miss Margaret Fisher presided at the piano. The first number on the program was of necessity omitted.

The comedy of the evening was contributed by Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Bean, Mr. Jones and Mr. Kurtz, when they sang "Old Oaken Bucket," receiving heartiest applause and a call for encore.

The program was followed by a spelling bee and its attendant amusement.

Miss Ella Koppelin and Miss Martha Kappelin, twin sisters, were happily surprised Friday evening, February twenty-first, when a crowd of friends presented themselves in celebration of the eighteenth birthdays. Many lovely gifts complimented the sisters.

Card games and music were diversions for the evening and the affair was most enjoyable.

In the surprise party were Mr. and Mrs. William Zasel, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Givens, Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Doans, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pugh, Mrs. G. M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. H. V. McLain, Mrs. James McEvoy, Mrs. Koppelin, Miss Elinor Rogers, Miss Effie Burleson, Miss Mabel Savage, Miss Florence Sach, Miss Norma Henley, Miss

For the benefit of the Sunday School, a very successful George Washington entertainment was given in Leslie Methodist church on Friday evening of last week.

Henrietta Bishop and Cecil Thompson, two "littliest" children, represented Martha and George Washington. Their colonial costumes were charmingly becoming. Martha wore pink gown with train, cream lace trimming and powdered hair; and George, who gave the address of welcome, was in black coat, knee breeches, big buckles, lace frills and powdered peruke. This dainty couple, with an escort of militia men, were stationed on the platform where they received guests and finally led the march to the luncheon tables. There were tableaux and music, and in all the affair was one of the best ever given by the young people of Leslie Methodist church. Not only was the entertainment a success socially, but it netted a generous sum which will be used for screens in the Sunday School room.

Among the week's many social lodge affairs, none was more enjoyable than the George Washington party Monday evening, when the Adieu party Monday, February seventeenth. Mr. Frank K. Lovell was invited to address Mrs. P. H. Raymond's current literature class and Mrs. Richard Cartwright's political study department. The classes joined and listened to a most interesting talk on the Balkan situation.

The general Federation of Women's Clubs Magazine, the official organ of the General Federation, has made its appearance this year in a fine new form. The magazine has been enlarged and its general make-up changed, the various departments being segregated and put under separate heads. The editorial and publication offices have been removed to New York City. Mrs. Waters will continue as managing editor, but she will have the co-operation of Mrs. Philip N. Moore and Doctor Edward J. Wheeler. The announcement of the editor is in part as follows:

"The editorial plans include not only the gathering and publishing of the news of the General Federation, but also the news of the woman's movement in all parts of the world. In its intellectual, industrial, political, social and artistic aspects. There will be no other magazine like it. All sides of all important questions of vital interest to thinking women will be presented impartially. The opening of the twentieth century finds a readjustment of the position of women going on in nearly all countries. It is shown in all sorts of ways, some wise, some foolish, some half wise and half foolish, but they all indicate an intellectual awakening of women that is destined to be one of the most potent forces of the present century.

"However we may deplore some of its manifestations, the awakening itself is not only good, but it will have a profound effect upon the development of the race. The question of woman suffrage; the problems relating to eugenics; the conditions surrounding the labor of women and children in factories and tenements; the treatment of that open corner of the world, 'white slavery'; questions relating to marriage and divorce; the campaign for pure foods; the housekeeping methods of our municipal governments, with their direct effect upon the safety of children; the position of the home; the cleanliness of our streets; the individual achievements in widely different fields of such women as Jane Addams, Mary Cassatt, Madam Curie, Ellen Key and Olive Schreiner—all these and a hundred other topics are demanding careful attention and just consideration from women of all ranks in life. Upon the women of America rests, to a great extent the leadership of the world in the solution of the thousand problems arising today in connection with this readjustment of woman's status in the social scheme and upon the organized women of America especially, the more than a million members of the federated clubs, this leadership is peculiarly concentrated.

REPORTED STRIKES TICKLE SOUR DOUGHS Claim It Is a Job Put Up to Cause a Rush, and Fattered by Steamship Companies. Seattle, Mar. 3.—Old sour doughs who know Alaska like a book, are chuckling in their sleeves here today at the stories of a great gold strike near Fort Wrangle, being told here by Skookum Jim, who was on the job when they put the "K" in Klondike. They say it is another attempt by the steamship companies to reap a harvest by starting a rush to Alaska. Skookum's arrival here was preceded by a dispatch from Juneau that he had the dope on a new gold strike. The day he arrived here he announced that he would not tell the location of the strike until he had conferred with George Carmack, his old partner. The conference occurred yesterday, and neither Carmack nor Skookum will talk. In the meantime, H. Molinoux, superintendent of road construction from the Atlin district, arrived from the scene of the strike which he says is 75 miles east of the east end of Testlin lake. He says that six streams have been staked and that about 400 claims have been located so far. "The strike was made last fall. 'It's always that way," said a pioneer of the Klondike. "The outside world never hears of a strike until all the claims have been staked. There was a great rush to Klondike, but when the thousands who rushed in from round points arrived, they found every bit of land, even the hill tops, taken. "There is lots of gold in Alaska still undiscovered and strikes will be made all the time, but it is the fellow who is up there who will profit. To run after every rush, starting from this distance is worse than foolish, but the lure of gold is strong and it's fine for the Guggenheim transportation companies."

The Easy Laxative In justice to yourself you should try Rexall Orderlies,—your money back if you don't like them. They are a candy confection that really do give easy relief from constipation. Good health is largely dependent upon the bowels. When they become sluggish the waste material that is thrown off by the system accumulates. This condition generates poisons which circulate throughout the body, leading to create coated tongue, bad breath, headache, dull brain action, nervousness, listlessness and other annoyances. Avoid harsh cathartics and physics. They give but temporary relief. They often aggravate the real trouble. They are particularly bad for children, delicate or aged persons.
