Forty Drowned at Brookville.

Connersville, Ind., March 25.—Another information received here today says that 40 persons were drowned in the flood at Brookville, Ind. The bank protecting the city, where the two forks of the White river meet, broke Monday night. Twelve houses near the levees were washed and it is believed their occupants perished.

OMAHA ABLE TO CARE FOR HER OWN

In Response to Offers of Aid Says She Thinks She Can Get on Without Aid.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]

San Francisco, March 26.—In response to its offers to aid the tornado sufferers in Omaha, Neb., the San Francisco chamber of commerce received today the following message from the commercial club of that city:

"Your expression of sympathy and offer of assistance is appreciated by the commercial club and the city relief committee. The property loss will amount to $5,000,000. We believe Omaha will take care of the situation, at least for the present. If necessary we will let you hear from us further."

"The tornado passed through only the residence portion of the city, and has not interfered with or affected business in any way. The deaths number 139 and the injured 322. The houses damaged number 1669, of which 640 were totally destroyed, making 2179 homeless, but all are being taken care of."

The message was signed J. M. Guild, commissioner of the Commercial club.

Darrow Trial June 16.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—The second trial of Lawrence Darrow on a charge of bribing Robert Baena juror in the McNamara trial, was put over today by Superior Judge Willis to June 15.

This action was taken at the request of Darrow, who appeared personally before the court. District Attorney Fredericks consented. The case was scheduled to go to trial March 31.

DAYTON BURNING.

This alarming message was received here this afternoon by Governor Cox from George Barba, the governor's private secretary, who wired from Springfield.

"The river at Dayton," the message added, "is four miles wide. I cannot get anywhere near the city. It is awful. The water is up to the second story of the Phillips house." Barba is making every effort to reach Dayton.

The Horror Grows.

Columbus, Ohio, March 26.—The first refugees from Dayton arrived at Phoneon this afternoon, according to a message received this afternoon by the Columbus office of the United Press from Mrs. Rena Eakin, a telegraph operator at Phoneon. The refugees told Mrs. Eakin that 500 persons were believed to be dead on the north side of the river alone. The water, they said, was falling slowly.

Forty boats are patrolling Dayton and St. Elizabeth's hospitals, and several other buildings are undermined. Troy, Ohio, Mrs. Eakin wired, is under water, and many fatalities are reported there. Many of the residents, she said, are starving.

Portions of Piqua also are under water, and a scarcity of food is adding to the horror.

Zanesville in Danger.

Columbus, Ohio, March 26.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon Governor Cox was notified that Zanesville, Ohio, is in danger of immediate destruction. The situation, the message said, could not be worse. Frantic appeals for aid were included in the telegram.

Dayton Lost to World.

Dayton, Ohio, March 26.—Dayton is a lost city today. Only one telephone is working out of here, and that is to Lebanon.

The city government is completely imprisoned by the water. Nothing has been heard from it since the flood descended. It came so quickly that no one was prepared.

The only organized relief work is that being conducted by the National Cash Register Company, whose plant lies just outside the flood and fire zone. The plant has been converted into a rescue mission and hospital, and thousands, including rich and poor, slept on straw-covered floors. The company bought up nearly all of the available food supply in Dayton for the stricken residents.

Barfooted, John Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Company, the man who put Dayton on the map, waded through the flood, saving many families. He rowed a boat himself, although he is nearly 70 years old. He has a son, Frederick Patterson, and a daughter, Miss Dorothy. The son led in the rescue work, and the daughter stood in the rain for hours, assisting the refugees. The company's 31 automobiles were pressed into service. There were not enough skiffs in the city, and Patterson ordered his carpenters to build 100 more.

Reports of deaths in the flood are heard everywhere. Most of the fatalities were due to the inability of the refugees to fight the waters on improvised rafts. Others were overwhelmed before they had a chance to escape.

George Dayton, a rescuer, found a woman and baby and took them into his skiff. Suddenly the woman rose and plunged into the flood with her baby. Both were drowned. One man stepped out of a skiff to enter a house. He had hardly closed the door before it was engulfed.

John Scott, formerly of Butte, Montana, an employe of the Cash Register Company, ascended a pole and guided a score to safety across a cable. He fell off the pole, and it is believed he perished.

Miss Norma Thuma, clad in boy's clothing, appeared at a relief station. She said she had donned male garb so she could cross the perilous wire unhampered. She told how Ralph Meyers, carrying an infant in a meal sack, with his wife behind him, walked a block across a high cable. Their only support, she said, was a thin wire alongside the cable.

One woman, maddened by the horrors of the day, fought Bill Riley and Charles Wagoner when they attempted to put her in a boat. She bit and choked the man, until she was overcome. A heart-rending feature of the terror was the women and children who sobbed all night long. Numerous fires have resulted from gas explosions.

The search for the dead will not start until all the living have been rescued.

Fire Adds to Horrors.

Hamilton, Ohio, March 25.—The plant of the Beckett Paper Company, valued at $500,000, collapsed into the flood waters this morning. At midnight the mills of the Columbia Carriage Company and the Dueser Pattern works also collapsed, entailing an additional loss of $60,000.

Last night the Champion coated paper mills, the second largest in the world, incorporated for $7,500,000, and the Bender Bros. planing and lumber mills, valued at $200,000, were destroyed by fire.

"GENERAL" ROSALIE G. JONES, SUFFRAGIST HIKER.

HATS off to "General" Rosalie G. Jones! Whether we favor her suffrage cause or not, praise must be given her for her invention, the suffrage hike, and for her loyal, plucky leadership in the fulfillment thereof. How she led her "army" from New York to Albany, N. Y., the state capital, and later from New York to Washington, the national capital, is now a matter of history—important history in the battle for votes for women in America. "General" Jones is described by those who marched with her as cheerful under every gibe and jeer and difficult and tactful and determined in her command over the hikers. American suffragists will never forget her.

received reports from men along our road which would indicate that an estimate of 500 dead is a conservative figure."

This announcement was made here at noon by Frank Brandon, general manager of the Dayton, Lebanon & Cincinnati railroad.

"At first," Brandon said, "my men reported the number of deaths at 60. Later the reports of fatalities came in so fast that they quit counting. "When we finally are able to get details and the names of the dead we will find the list of fatalities is appalling."

"I would fix the damage to Dayton alone at between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000. Two of the bridges destroyed there were each worth $500,000."

Fifty Drown at Tiffin.

Toledo, March 26.—The Toledo News-Bee, a newspaper, received word by special messenger this afternoon from Tiffin, Ohio, that 50 persons had perished in the flood waters there. He said Chief of Police Myers and Mayor Kaepfel are among the missing.

Water seven feet deep is running along the streets of Tiffin.

100 to 500 at Piqua.

Sidney, Ohio, March 26.—Between 100 and 500 persons were drowned in Piqua by floods, according to unfirmed dispatches received here. The streets of the town are torrents, and there was nine feet of water in the Piqua public square at the last report. The waters are still rising there.

Zanesville Drowned.

Zanesville, O., March 26.—Fifteen persons are reported dead here today as a result of the flood. The Muskingum river is at the 40-foot stage and still rising. The Sixth street bridge was demolished last night and the business section is under several feet of water. Two thousand are homeless.

Uncle Sam Halps.

Washington, March 26.—Secretary of War Garrison this afternoon ordered that 50,000 tents and one million rations be rushed to Ohio from Philadelphia for the relief of the flood sufferers.

Half a Million Homeless.

Cleveland, O., March 26.—It was still impossible at 1 o'clock this afternoon to accurately estimate the total of the flood fatalities in Ohio and Indiana, but it is believed that fully 500,000 were made homeless.

The devastation in Ohio extends for fully 30 miles through the Miami valley.

Bell telephoned an appeal for help to Governor Cox. He said a mass meeting was held in Dayton this morning and that fires which broke out last night were still unchecked today. The governor added that reports of the collapse of buildings seemed unfounded. Governor Cox sent the following message to the Dayton mass meeting through Bell:

"Soldiers will reach Dayton today. The legislature probably will appropriate at least $250,000 for the flood sufferers. I have asked the federal government or railroads and also have appealed to the governors of other states for assistance."

Towns Demolished.

Toledo, O., March 26.—Every bridge in Tiffin was destroyed and $2,000,000 damage was done there by the floods, according to reports received here this afternoon. The town of Mechanicsburg was demolished.

Red Cross Aids.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] Chicago, March 26.—One hundred thousand dollars for the relief of the Ohio and Indiana flood sufferers was offered to the National Red Cross Society by the Association of Commerce here today. Director Bicknell, of the Red Cross, en route to Omaha, stopped here for a short time today, and then started toward Dayton, Ohio.

Will Call for Help.

Sacramento, Cal., March 26.—Governor Hiram Johnson announced today that he will immediately issue an appeal to the people of California for aid in the relief of sufferers in the flood districts of Ohio and Indiana.

Already the new president of France has a "crisis" on his hands. But that is a frequent occurrence in that country.
