

MR. SCHWABE GOES HIGHER ON MERIT

Is Trained for the Work by A. F. Hofer Who Will Be Head Booster for the Illihee Club.

Paul E. Schwabe, who for some time past has been stenographer and private secretary for the secretary of the local Board of Trade, will soon resign his position to accept a better one with the immigration bureau of the Portland chamber of commerce. Mr. Schwabe speaks German and other languages fluently and will prove a valuable man in his new position. A. F. Hofer, former secretary of the Board of Trade, under whom Mr. Schwabe worked for some time, quickly recognized Mr. Schwabe's ability and very kindly educated him as to the difference between the old country methods and the modern American ways. It is understood that Mr. Hofer was largely instrumental in securing Mr. Schwabe's new position for him. Mr. Hofer, it is rumored, will engage in the real estate business in Salem, in addition to which as stated in The Capital Journal a few days ago, he will give the secretary of the Illihee club the benefit of his experience and assist in the operation of the publicity department recently created by that club.

ENTERTAINED LADIES AID AT SALEM HEIGHTS

Mrs. Jennie Kingsley entertained the Ladies' Aid of Salem Heights Friday afternoon in a delightful manner. There are no drones among all these busy workers. The readily made all the blocks for a necktie quilt, which is to be quilted—not tied—for another article to be on exhibition and for sale at their bazaar. They also made several aprons, dusting caps, etc. The finance committee reported $15 on hand which was then and there paid to Mrs. Frank Thompson who had kindly loaned that amount to the aid in an emergency, and her kindness is fully appreciated. As Mrs. Ed Compton, who has been in Oklahoma for a month, has returned the aid will be ready to hold their sale probably inside of two weeks. Mrs. Kingsley served refreshments that were very appealing to the eye, as well as the palate, so daintily were they arranged, and her guests paid her the greatest compliment one can pay anyone, by taking out pencil and note book and jotting down directions and recipes for some of the good things she had so thoughtfully prepared. The following named members were present: Mrs. Myra Sawyer, Mrs. Goldie Perkins, Mrs. Bell Morris, Mrs. Bell Rench, Mrs. Hattie Sawyer, Mrs. Maria Thompson, Mrs. Winchell, Mrs. Ruth Chapman, Mrs. Engdahl, Mrs. Hannah Higgins, Mrs. Cretoria C. Pascoe. The ladies adjourned to meet with Mrs. Bell Morris in a week, Friday afternoon, April 4th. (By Mrs. C. C. Pascoe.)

E. & E., will go to Willamina today to take charge of the newly purchased road. The line will be electrified sooner or later, but it was not purchased in time to include it in the many miles of lines the company has planned to electrify.

CHINKS AND NEGROES HAVE A HOT BATTLE

Meat Cleavers, Razors and Butcher Knives the Weapons in Red Hot Race Battle.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE] Los Angeles, Cal., April 1.—Meat cleavers, razors and butcher knives, wielded by angry Chinese and negroes, figured today in a race battle in the kitchen of the fashionable Shoreham hotel here. The melee was ended by the police, after Quong Sing, the Chinese cook had suffered the amputation of the index finger of his right hand and severe cuts about the head, and eight yellow and black hotel employes had been more or less seriously cut. The combat was precipitated when the chef issued an order not to the liking of Albert Johnson, a negro assistant. Johnson leaped at Quong with a knife. The Chinese seized a meat cleaver and defended himself. Two razors made their appearance in the hands of other negro kitchen employes. Four were unconscious on the floor when the police arrived. Johnson was stabbed in the back and cut on the head. Guests in the hotel's dining room when the fight started fled panic-stricken to a nearby park.

OLD PORTLAND MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Gavin E. Caukin, 85, Writes as to Disposal of His Body and Blows Out His Brains.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE] Portland, Or., April 1.—Gavin E. Caukin, 85 years old, prominent in G. A. R. circles, committed suicide with an old army pistol today in his insurance office in the Ainsworth building. The act was deliberate and well planned, all arrangements having been made by the man a short time before death. In fact, the ink was not dry on the paper which he left, telling what he wished done with his body and effects. After leaving a memorandum of his name, wife's address, daughter's address, undertaker to be called, and instructions to place his affairs in the hands of Attorney Thomas N. Strong, the aged veteran closed the inside shutter to his window, looked into the corridor to see if any one was near, then pulled the trigger that sent a .38-calibre bullet into his temple. Death was instantaneous. A daughter, Mrs. T. M. Riggan, lives on Fifteenth avenue, Seattle.

FAMINE THREATENS THE DAYTON VICTIMS

Committee Underestimated Amount of Provisions Required, and the City Is Without Food.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE] Dayton, O., April 1.—Residents of flood-swept Dayton were confronted by a new horror, when it admitted that famine is imminent, as a result of the relief committee underestimating the amount of provisions that would be required here. Admission that the stricken residents were now forced to face the spectre of want was made by John Patterson, head of the relief committee, who voiced a frantic appeal to the outside world for help through the United Press. "The food supply in Dayton," said Patterson, "is practically exhausted, and people will go hungry unless a large supply of food is sent here at once. We also need coal and other fuel. I want to appeal through the United Press to the generosity of the nation for succor in our serious predicament."

Delicious Saratoga Chips made with Cottolene

Saratoga Chips made with Cottolene are never greasy, as are those made with lard. The reason for this is that Cottolene heats to about 100 degrees higher than either butter or lard, without burning, quickly forming a crisp coating which excludes the fat. Your chips, therefore, are crisp, dry and appetizing.

Cottolene costs about the price of lard, and will go one-third farther than either butter or lard.

Cottolene is never sold in bulk—always in air-tight tin pails, which protect it from dirt, dust and odors. It is always uniform and dependable.

THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY

BOILED COFFEE OF BRAZIL.

The Real Thing as the Natives Make and Drink It. The Brazilian amid the marble splendours of his New York hotel sipped the tiny cup of black coffee that was to cost him 25 cents. "This isn't bad," he said, "but it isn't like the coffee we drink on my father's coffee plantation in Brazil. There, when a coffee craving seizes you, you take a few handfuls of green coffee berries, and after rejecting all the imperfect ones among them you place these picked berries in an iron ladle and roast them over an open fire. "You roast them till they begin to smoke. Then before they are charred you take them off, drop them into a mortar and pound them with a pestle carefully. "Meanwhile a cup of cold pure water has been set on the fire. When it comes to a boil the ground coffee is thrown into it—a tablespoonful to a cup—and the boiling is allowed to go on for about three minutes. "Now you drink the coffee. You drink it without straining it. The grounds lie at the bottom of the cup, and if you don't shake it the fluid is as clear as crystal—crystal clear, black, fragrant. "The French can boast as they please of their filtered coffee. I tell you there's nothing like the boiled coffee of Brazil, all picked, roasted and prepared within a few minutes under the open sky."—New York Tribune.

Life at Low Temperatures.

Most recent experiments show that the idea that bacteria in general are not harmed by freezing is untenable. On the other hand, the effect of very low temperatures has been greatly overestimated. It has been observed that as destructive effects are produced upon bacterial life from the temperature of salt and pounded ice as from that of liquid air. The critical point appears to be somewhat about the freezing point of water. An organism that can pass this point in safety may be proof against even absolute zero. A few individual bacteria in every culture tried were able to endure unharmed the temperature of liquid air. This is believed to have been due to the absence of water in cells.—St. Louis Republic.

Knew Her Business.

A weather beaten woman, dressed in new and stylish clothing, was marching up the street one Sunday morning when down came a sudden shower. The woman had no umbrella, but quick as a flash she caught up her dress skirt and threw it over her hat. "You'll get your ankles all wet, Maria," said her husband, who was coming along in the rear. "Oh, never mind the ankles," called out the woman as she hurried along. "I've had them the last sixty years, and I only got the hat yesterday."—Harper's Bazar.

Yet, even after reading the news from other states, some people will grumble about the weather in Oregon.

The fool Turks would not give up Adrianople. Well, they don't have to, now.

SUPREME COURT HAS A BUSY WEEK

Holds the Tax on Foreign Corporations Doing Business in the State Is Unconstitutional.

The supreme court this morning handed down a decision declaring the law requiring the license upon foreign corporations doing business in the state unconstitutional. The decision was not unexpected, and the last legislature passed a new law, to take effect in June, which eliminates the unconstitutional provisions. Under the new law a flat license of $100 will be assessed against corporations. The old law provided that the corporations should pay according to capital stock, and regardless of what they had invested in the state. A maximum of $200 was fixed. The supreme court holds that the license law, so far as it requires the payment of a license fee, based upon the whole amount of capital stock of foreign corporations, whether employed in the state or not, is void.

This is the only invalid provision of the law, says the court.

The decision was made in the case of Leo Hirschfeld, appellant, against J. S. McCullagh, respondent, and Multnomah county.

Nine other decisions were filed, as follows:

Marion County Case. A. E. Chenoweth, respondents, vs. F. W. Spencer, doing business as the Spencer Hardware Co., and Otto Hansen, defendants and respondents, J. W. Meredith, defendant and appellant, Perfection Sewing Cabinet Co. vs. the Charles K. Spaulding Logging Co., and C. A. Ramwater, appeal from Marion county, reversed.

It is held in this case that a lien of mechanics and material men against a house which burns down cannot lie against the lots when they are owned by another party than the owner of the house. Emig & Yates bought the lots from Meredith and a building was erected, which later burned down.

A. E. Kitchin, respondent, vs. Oregon Nursery Co., appellant, judgment modified to $471.10.

Can Keep Marriage Fees.

J. W. Bell, respondent, vs. Samuel B. Martin, appellant, Multnomah county. Held that the plaintiff, a justice of the peace, is entitled to $1000 collected for marriage ceremonies performed as justice of the peace. The auditor, Martin, had declined to allow the plaintiff his salary of $200 on the ground that he had refused to turn over marriage receipts to the amount of $1000. It is held that the marriage fee is not a litigation fee, and so the justice is entitled to it.

Louise Dervoe, administratrix of the estate of Clement Dervoe, vs. Portland Railway, Light & Power Co., appellant, appeal from Multnomah county; judgment for damages affirmed.

W. H. Mason vs. Fred Melhase, appeal from Multnomah county. Judgment affirmed.

L. D. Firebaugh, vs. Leon M. Bentley and Jane G. Bentley, respondents, appeal from Hood River county; reversed.

Herman E. Breese vs. the Wildwood Lumber Co., appeal from Lane county; lower court affirmed.

H. W. Spaulding, appellant, vs. John

RALPH BINGHAM, Chicago, Ill.

"Mr. Bingham knows the art of entertaining, variety, surprise, climax, the turning of a point, the absence of striving for effect. All these does Bingham know and use, yet they are ever kept hidden by an art that conceals art."

"I think I do not exaggerate when I say I believe Ralph Bingham is the greatest story teller in the world. I have heard nearly all the famous raconteurs of today, but never have I heard one who could make so much out of nothing. I do not mean to say Bingham's stories are nothing—far from it—but I have known him to take the most trivial incident and, in his inimitable way, convince his auditors, be they a thousand or a dozen. The $100,000,000 M'Lean Baby And His Little Negro Valet

Of course you have heard about "the $100,000,000 baby" and his little negro playmate, now his valet. Equally, of course, you have formed your opinion about this idea of the little heir's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean of Washington. "I don't want my son to grow up a snob," was the way Mr. McLean explained why he provided a little negro child for his son's companion. This picture of the two children, one white and the heir to millions, and the other black and penniless, was taken on the exclusive boardwalk at Palm Beach, Fla., where the McLeans are spending the winter. From all accounts the tots became the best of chums. How will the plan work? As Sir Roger de Coverley remarked, "There's much to be said on both sides of the question."

H. McNary, respondent; petition for rehearing denied. Managan estate, a corporation, Robert E. Shine and J. W. Reynolds, plaintiffs and respondents, against Marshfield Realty & Trading Co., appeal from Coos county; decree affirmed.
