

THEATERS AND THESPIANS

KING BAGGOT GIVES HISTORY

Started as Football Player—Studied Commercialism—Then Acting.

King Baggot, best known and one of the most popular of motion picture actors appearing in dramatic productions of the Imp company, is a peer in his profession. Photographed thousands of times since he deserted the legitimate stage to enter "pictures" three years ago. He is known to millions of "movie" patrons. Playing leading roles in hundreds of scenarios, and photographed in the character of a millionaire, pauper, philanthropist, miser, minister, crook, nonegenarian and youth, his appearance in a picture immediately labels it as one of quality in the estimation of the public.

King Baggot was born on November 7, 1879, in St. Louis, Mo. Like all actors of note, his education was directed along lines entirely foreign to his ultimate profession.

With the organization of an association soccer football team in St. Louis, Baggot, by virtue of his capabilities while a member of the college team, was included in the line-up. The St. Louis team met aggregations from all sections of the United States and Europe, and Baggot became an international favorite among football fans.

Becomes Amateur Actor. Realizing the prestige to be gained from having Baggot in their cast, members of a Catholic church in St. Louis, arranging the details in an amateur theatrical, engaged him to play a lead part. He accepted.

Enthusiasm with the success of his first appearance behind the footlights, he organized an amateur theatrical club, known as the "Players Club of St. Louis."

Baggot was elected president of the club, and his popularity grew apace.

Enters Theatrical Profession. Despite his father's objections and protests against his desertion of the real estate business, Baggot joined the profession, and played at Koerner's Garden in St. Louis throughout the summer.

His first visit to New York City was as a member of the cast in "The Queen of the Highway," which played there for five consecutive weeks.

Poses in First Picture. On a trip to New York, while his company was playing there, Baggot met Harry Sautler, husband of Florence Lawrence, another popular Imp favorite. Baggot had played with Sautler in "The Wishing Ring" the season before. Sautler invited him to go to the Imp studio, where he was then directing the productions of several pictures.

There Baggot obtained his first conception of motion picture acting. He was amused at the violent gestures and jumping about of the company, and mentally characterized the industry as a "fad." As a concession to Sautler, Baggot appeared in a picture. His first stunt was to hide a bag of gold in a desolate wooded spot, and then return in the next scene and find it.

"I took the whole thing as a joke," said Baggot, "and laughed when Sautler offered me a position at any time."

Twelve weeks later the show closed in Chicago and Baggot returned to New York.

company him to the studio. Baggot went, and bid farewell to road shows.

Since then he has appeared exclusively in Imp films, produced by the Universal Film company. His first appearances in a picture story was with Florence Lawrence in "The Awakening of Bess." He is also the author of sixty or seventy scenarios, which have been produced by the Imp company.

"Am I married?" repeated Baggot, in response to a question. "You guess."

Instructive Uses for Films. Moving pictures have come to play a prominent part in the amusement of the American public, and like all other ideas which meet with public approbation, great strides have had to be made to amuse the public. With an enterprise which is typical of this age, the moving picture men have provided all sorts of novelties and no event of any magnitude throughout the civilized world today passes without the presence of moving picture machines to perpetuate the scenes.

While the moving picture is intended primarily for the amusement of the populace, recent happenings have indicated that it is being put to uses which make the invention one of paramount importance in the education of the people and one which may play a prominent part in the physical welfare of the people in years to come.

One might briefly sketch the lines of activity aside from that of mere amusement, along which the motion picture men are working. In the first place, motion pictures are now used to teach good manners to royalty as well as to persons possessing less "blue blood" in European countries, and the idea might well be used in this country, too. A doctor in St. Louis made the prediction that in a few years no medical college of any prominence would be without its own special moving picture apparatus to teach young doctors or students vital medical truths. Children of poor parents as well as the parents themselves are getting a wealth of information from the splendid motion pictures which are often displayed in the open air at nights in public parks and by playground associations throughout the country.

A Birthday Surprise. Last evening a merry party of friends of Mrs. George Day gave that lady a complete surprise on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. Mr. Day was apprised of the intended visit, and had prepared a bounteous repast for the guests, who numbered about a dozen, and who invaded the Day home at the corner of Cross and Berry streets at about 9 o'clock.

Games, music and dancing were enjoyed until the wee small hours. Many beautiful and useful presents were presented to Mrs. Day, who entertained the guests by a very witty and appropriate speech of acceptance.

If voting be a duty of citizens, then the duty involves voting according to one's best, honest judgment, and not in the least through spite or malice or from prejudice.

Use less Butter—More Cottolene

No wonder butter is so high. Particular women who are loath to use lard or cooking butter in their cakes and fine pastry, use table butter. With butter at the price you have to pay for it, that's downright extravagance. Cottolene is just as good as butter for pastry; for frying, it is better. And Cottolene costs no more than lard. Moreover, Cottolene is richer, and two-thirds of a pound of it will go as far as a pound of butter or lard. And lard and Cottolene are not to be mentioned in the same breath, for Cottolene is a vegetable product, healthful, always safe—makes digestible, rich, but never greasy food.

THE OPEN FORUM

The Capital Journal invites public discussion in this department—Let both sides of all matters be fully brought out—it is the purpose of this newspaper to do the thinking for its readers.

The Saloon Spell. Editor The Capital Journal: In all the saloon towns I ever lived in, or knew anything about, the saloon has been able to cast a controlling spell upon the city council. I was, therefore, not surprised that our city council turned down 2000 petitioners and refused to grant a vote on the liquor question. The only thing that could be done for the saloon, the council did, that was to be expected. But some of the personal excuses offered for so doing were not at all complimentary to the petitioners, nor were they creditable to the geniuses who offered them. However, under a system in which business interlocks, and the dollar-getting is the big thing of life, we can scarcely expect decency and morality to come very prominently to the front in civic matters.

Fred Dodd Complains. Salem, Or., 4-28-13.

To the People of Salem, Oregon. To know and look into right. A real good industrious sober former Salem citizen wants to make a living, but some of those cops does not like to see me sell goods to the passenger people going out. This matter will be some place before long. Look at Fred Dodd bring in money from people coming from Eugene going to Portland, and even from Portland going to Eugene. If Fred Dodd is not doing right in this matter then will stop selling more bananas.

YOUR SUMMER HELP.

Your hired girls have all given you notice that they will leave when you go to the country and you are facing the prospect of another summer of ceaseless search for help.

Why don't you do as your neighbor, Mrs. B., does? She never has any trouble. Her maids stay with her all summer long and she never has to give that part of the housewife's problem a single thought.

If you ask her how she does it, she'll tell you she gets just the right girls through the Journal. Want columns at trifling cost and she secured capable, efficient help.

Take time by the forelock and put that Want Ad. in today and make your summer free from care.

THE REAL SECRET OF REJUVENATING THE FACE

(From the Clubwoman.) She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded, or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed in an entirely safe and rational manner by the nightly application of ordinary mercurized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercurized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient), is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moth patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 1/2 pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution produces quick and wonderful results.
