THE OPEN FORUM

The Capital Journal invites public discussion in this department—Let both sides of all matters be fully brought out—it is not the purpose of this newspaper to do the thinking for its readers.

Let Us Be Fair.

Salem, Ore., April 30, 1913.
Editor Journal: It is with extreme reluctance that I allow myself to be drawn into the discussion of the matter of the selection of a pavement for North Church street, but, after reading the article on the first page of your issue of April 25, I do not feel that it would be manly to allow the article to go unchallenged.

This article referred to is not signed, and I consider, therefore, that it is an expression of the sentiments of your paper, and I cannot think that it is the policy of The Journal to publish an article so full of false statements as the one referred to, as I must say that, after a careful reading of the article, I am unable to find one single statement contained therein which is true.

While it is a fact that some of the property owners on North Church street were in favor of a cement pavement, still I do not believe that "many are deeply aggrieved," and they certainly are "not aggravated because gravel bitulithic was not selected," for the very good reason that gravel bitulithic was not selected, nor, in fact, was that class of pavement considered in the property owners' meeting.

Neither is Councilman Gideon Stolz responsible in any way for what was selected, as both he and Engineer Tillman very properly declined to attempt to influence the meeting in the matter of a selection. It is not true that "nine widows, a blind man and a decrepit old man were among those whose wishes were ignored," as all had ample notice of the meeting, and all who desired to vote were permitted to do so, even in cases where no proxy was filed with the secretary, showing authority to vote, and, further: a bunch of votes favoring cement was received and counted after the ballot had been declared closed.

The meeting was a representative one, and all its deliberations and actions were entirely fair and impartial, and the majority against a cement pavement was approximately two to one.

The city provides a way for selecting the kind of pavement to be used in the improvement of a street, and in the case of North Church street the legal requirements were strictly and fairly followed and the council properly accepted the recommendations of the property holders.

I shall not again break into print in the matter, and I trust that you will give this communication space so that the inaccurate statements in your issue of the 25th may be corrected.

You certainly were imposed upon by some one who gave you the information from which your article of the 25th was written.
LOT L. PEARCE.

ROBERT BRUCE KINGSLEY.

Mr. Kingsley is a charming man to meet, and he is steeped in a veritable atmosphere of music. In appearance, he has the distinguished air of a widely traveled man of the world, a highly educated one and an authority on music. His face is peculiarly sensitive, and his voice agreeable. Born in London, England, Mr. Kingsley's home is in Epping Forest, a haunt famous in Robin Hood's days and located within a stone's throw of the Maypole mentioned in Dickens' "Barnaby Rudge." An intimate friend of Alexandre Guilmant, of Paris, of Massenet, and known personally to Siegfried Wagner and such like people of world-wide celebrity in the world of music. Mr. Kingsley is one of the most entertaining persons to meet in a decade.

Mr. Kingsley will give the European travelogue here at 2:30 Saturday and the Faust operat at 8:45.

He will be assisted by Madam Herbat Wright in folk songs and arias and Little Anita Lachmund in folk dances, giving one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever heard in Salem.

Violates Game Law.

Found guilty of violating the game law, Nick Henberger, of Sublimity, has been fined $25 for killing a Chinese pheasant. The arrest was made by Deputy Game Warden Rozelle. Henberger killed the bird and hid it, but when he returned to get it he was caught with the goods by the deputy game warden.

The state house dome is to be painted or gilded this summer, and Secretary Olcott has been gathering figures in regard to it. One letter from Boston says that the capital there is painted white, the trimmings white and the dome is gilded with 23 carat gold leaf. The letter gives many details.

MANAGEMENT MINNETTA MAGERS.

Gets After Constable.

Governor West today addressed a letter to Constable Henry Smith, of Stayton, in which he stated that numerous complaints had reached him that liquor was being sold to minors and drunks and little or no regard given to the laws governing the closing hours of saloons. Further the governor says he believes, after an investigation, that the charges are true and that the constable frequents the saloons during hours they are supposed by law to be closed as well as at other times. He is reminded of the law and penalty for officers who neglect or refuse to do their duty. Governor West also sent a communication to the mayor and council.
