JUMPS INTO FURNACE.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]
Los Angeles, Cal., July 8.—Driven temporarily insane by the heat, Theo. Margowitz a foundry worker, leaped into a furnace at the Acme foundry here today, and received burns that probably will cause his death.

DRASTIC ORDINANCE

He said that he did so because he had confidence in the city engineer. He knew nothing about it, personally, he said. He thought the matter should not need his O. K.

The engineer reported on 21st street improvement that work worth $5060.70 had been done by the Geiger Construction Company, adopted.

The front street property owners' petition regarding the had shape in which the street had been left by the P. E. & E. was returned by the city attorney and it was stated that the company had made the necessary repairs.

A remonstrance against the proposed removal of the street railway from 17th street, from Center street to the fair grounds, was filed. It was signed by about 40. It was referred to the special committee in charge of the P. E. & E. franchise.

Constable wanted to know about the prosecution of the Oregonian restaurant owners for ignoring an ordinance regarding the erection of a frame building. Page had delayed and it was recommended that he act without further delay.

A resolution calling for a meeting for the assessment of South High street residents for an improvement was read. Jones opposed it, declaring that if the assessment were made there would be a law suit. The resolution was adopted.

A petition for the paving of Saginaw street from Myers to Lincoln street with macadam was read. Referred.

Protest Against Payment.

A communication from Mrs. Lord and Daniel Fry protesting against the council's action in regard to the allowance of the payment of any further sum to the South High street improvement contractor was read. It was declared that portions of the street were absolutely worthless. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

Ex-Mayor Waters explained the delay in equipping street cars with air brakes. At the time the extension to July 1 was made Mr. Strahorn believed the new equipment would be here by that time. He asked that the council extend the time or make provision for the equipping of new cars. To equip the old cars with air would mean crippling the system.

Hatch moved that the matter be referred to the city attorney to ascertain exactly what is proposed. Carried.

Will Buy Some Hay.

The street committee suggested that a year's supply of hay be bought at once. He believed that the city could save money by so doing. Stolz favored the proposition. Hatch wanted authority given the commissioner to buy it himself. Macy suggested calling for bids.

Jones said everything over $25 had to be advertised. He wanted bids called. A motion to refer to the committee on accounts and current expenses was lost.

In the person of D. A. Moore, a brother of the well-known local business man, Mr. Moore and his wife arrived here yesterday, and are looking about for a location.

The Kansans are in love with Oregon, and Marion County especially. They like the climate, the fruit and the people, and Mr. Moore is casting about now in hopes of locating his future home. "I'll do my best to have 'em remain for good," said the Salem Mr. Moore this morning, "and I think I'll succeed."

The visitor has holdings in the busy city of Hutchinson, but if he can find things to his entire satisfaction here, he will sell out and change his voting place pronto. Mr. Moore has two daughters who are now in Colorado. The visitors are now the guests of W. W. Moore at 635 North Church street.
