RATE OF DEMURRAGE IS RAISED TO $3

Interstate Commerce Commission Boosts Sums Asked Because It Will Help to Prevent Car Shortage.

THESE RULES WILL BECOME EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 1

Shippers Who Apply for Cars and Does Not Use Them Will Be Charged $2 for Each Day.

Rules governing demurrage and increased demurrage issued by the state railway commission Wednesday fix the charge to shippers for holding cars idle at $3 a day and to railroads for failure to furnish cars as specified at $2 a day. Under the old rules the shippers paid $2 a day and the railroads recently asked that they be compelled to pay $3 a day, which, it was declared, would prevent a shortage of cars during the busy season.

The rules, which will become effective September 1, with slight amendments, are identical with the national demurrage rules, recommended by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Railroads which object to the regulations may make complaint to the commission within 20 days.

A proposition advanced by several railroads that shippers should give bond when ordering cars, declaring that many orders were canceled, was not allowed by the commission.

A shipper who applies for cars and does not use them will be charged $2 a day for each car with no free time. If a railroad, after prescribing a reasonable time for shipping freight, does not fulfill its agreement, it must pay consignee $2 a day for each car delayed, in addition to actual damages.

PROBLEM OF DELINQUENT CHILD IS DISCUSSED

Almost Always Death or Divorce Is Responsible When Boy or Girl Goes Wrong, Says Meek.

Eugene, July 10.—(Special.)—"The problem of the delinquent child is the problem of the broken home," said Superintendent Charles S. Meek, of Boise, Idaho, before the University of Oregon summer school today. "If a boy or girl goes wrong it almost always proves to be the case that either death or divorce has separated the parents. Where father and mother are living, and living together, the child has the best chance for moral development."

Superintendent Meek devoted his lecture to the problem of delinquency as treated with eminent success by the schools and juvenile court of Boise, Idaho. "It is an astonishing fact," said, that there is more immorality among boys and girls under 14 than over that age. It is also in some ways more difficult to handle, for as the children grow older we begin to know which ones to watch.

"Our success in Boise in dealing with this problem which is common to all cities, and which exists in Boise perhaps less than in most, has been due in the first place to the election of a probate and juvenile judge who was not a politician, but was, in fact, a principal of one of the schools and familiar with juvenile work. He cares more for the juvenile branch of his duties than for the other side. Then, our probation officers take their duties seriously and follow up each individual case, sparing neither time nor effort. One is secretary of the Y. M. C. A., an active man with great influence over boys, and the other is a woman school principal. And we have acquired a basis of fact, through a study of conditions that enables us to learn quickly what is going on.

"One result has been the arousing of the interest of parents, and another has been the general understanding of the authority of the school and court is not for the school yard merely but extends wherever the pupil goes. All cases are privately handled by the court which calls the parents in for consultation and some times for a reprimand or a fine for carelessness. Curfew laws are strict and strictly enforced. No records of cases are kept by name and every opportunity is given for reform. The result is that almost all recent cases are concerning children who have just moved to Boise from other cities."

We'll be having some warmish weather here before long; swat the fly and look out for the milk.

CRAMPS, HEADACHE, BACKACHE, Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"I was always tired and weak and my housework was a drag. I was irregular, had cramps so bad that I would have to lie down, also a distressed feeling in lower part of back, and headache. My abdomen was sore and I know I had organic inflammation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have helped me wonderfully. I don't have those pains any more and I am all right now. There are a great many women here who take your remedies and I have told others what they have done for me."—Mrs. CHAS. MCKINNON, 1013 N. 5th St. W., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health. There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 80 years ago by a woman to relieve women's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

SEATTLE SUES HILL ROAD FOR BUILDING DAMAGE

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Seattle, Wash., July 10.—The city of Seattle brought suit today against the Great Northern Railroad Company to collect $450,000 damages for injury done to the public library building and the block of ground bounded by Madison and Spring streets and Fourth and Fifth avenues by the construction of the tunnel through which trains are operated into the King street station. The tunnel, which runs for a mile under the business section of the city, was built in 1904.

During its construction the wooden timbers used in the excavation was left in the ground, when the concrete tube was made. In the course of time the wood decayed, and the ground above sank. No serious damage was done except to the library building whose walls were cracked. The Great Northern for more than a year has been removing the old wood along the whole length of the tunnel and filling in with concrete, at a cost of $300,000.

LUCK IS AGAINST SALEM FISHERMEN

Conroy and Others Narrowly Escape Losing Their Auto on Recent Trip.

A certain class of angler's luck went dead against Harry Ralph, Fred Carey, Merue Stutesman and Henry Conroy when that band of fishermen was en route for the favored pools in Thomas creek recently. The first streak of hard luck was met with when the "Obak," the title earned by Mr. Conroy's little car, went to sleep in a sink hole in the road. Had it not been for the body of the car, "Obak" and party would have quietly went out of sight under a covering of very sticky mud, according to Mr. Carey. The swamped hook wagon was jacked up, however, and, after much tugging and grunting, the party placed it again on what was supposed to be decent ground.

Giving her a speed tablet, Mr. Conroy proceeded to drive "Obak" around the mud hole, when the air became blue and the morals of four young men went to the four winds again. "Obak" went down again in a bigger sink hole than ever. "Dod gosh the gosh darned consarned ding busted roads, anyhow," quotes "Fat" Ralph; "D—n," stys Stutesman; "Ixxix," ejaculated Carey, and "Oh, mercy," spoke up Conroy. Then another tug-of-war took place, all hands pulling in the same direction—towards Thomas creek. "Obak" was hoisted up and out of the mud again, and the trip was resumed.

Sock Sued as Bail.

Then came the real exortions of luck. Skinned shins were enjoyed by all; hooks were snagged and eels words flew about most plentiful. It seems that the amber fluid from Mr. Ralph's best brand of chewing tobacco would not induce the fish to bite. The water was cold and the sun was hot; lunch didn't taste good because the smell of fish wasn't handy, and various other complaints were centered by members of the party. Determined to catch something in the form of a fish, "Fat" Ralph cut the toe out of his sock and baited his hook with it. He caught a sock-eye sucker. Chubs and mudcats made up the collection for a time when the wily trout began to bite.

After all the fusing and encouragement given the most needed specimens of the aquatic tribe, the party pulled out a few and again mounted "Obak." Mr. Conroy didn't give a whoop for mud holes on the return trip. He let the gasoline flow in bucketfuls, and "Obak" simply streaked it for home. Anyhow the boys got a lungful or two of good mountain air, and, although red of face, and showing signs of considerable walging, Harry Ralph is still smiling.

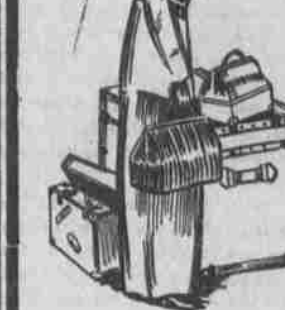

COMPANY OF LILLIPUTIANS PLAY "WITHIN THE LAW"

The first performance of a modern melodrama by a company of lilliputians will be given as the Eltinge theatre, New York, the last week in July, when a special matinee of "Within the Law" is announced. Helen Ware, who is appearing as Mary Turner in "Within the Law" is the sponsor for the unique performance, the proceeds of which are to be given to charity. Mr. Woods has donated the use of the theatre, and the American Play Co. the rights to play and will arrange the necessary details of the performance. Lord Roberts, the smallest actor in the world, has agreed to organize the half-portion cast, and will play "Joe Garson," the sensation-crook. Rehearsals are scheduled for next week, and Miss Ware is taking an active interest in the affair, which promises to be one of the most novel performances ever given in a theatre.

LORDS MAY BLOCK IRISH HOME RULE BILL

London, July 10.—A new unionist attempt to obstruct the home rule bill for Ireland was announced in the house of lords yesterday afternoon by the Marquis of Lansdowne, Unionist leader. When the bill is submitted to the lords for second reading Monday Lord Lansdowne will move that the house decline to proceed with consideration of it until it is submitted to the judgment of the country. If the house of lords postpones dealing with the Irish home rule bill by an adjournment to a date beyond the life of the present parliament, the liberal government will be powerless to force through its legislation because the parliament act overlooks the possibility of the upper house's giving itself a prolonged vacation and going on a virtual strike against legislation.
