

GRANT'S MILLIONS SETTLED ON HIS WIFE

Pre-Nuptial Agreement Gives Fortune to Woman Who Had Already Been Married Twice.

YOUNG GRANDSON PROVIDED FOR IN AGREEMENT MADE

son of Veteran Asked to Be Kept Out of It and Says He Is Disgusted With Whole Business.

GRANT'S MILLIONS SETTLED ON HIS WIFE

San Diego, Cal., July 21.—It was because U. S. Grant, Jr., feared that his son, Chaffee Grant, would halt his honorarium with the former Mrs. America Forkman-Will by legal proceedings to nullify a pre-nuptial agreement whereby the second wife of General Grant's namesake secured the better part of the grant millions that he kept his wedding week ago last night secret.

GRANT'S MILLIONS SETTLED ON HIS WIFE

It became known today, however, when the bridegroom and his bride left for San Francisco on the steamer Ale, en route for the Antipodes on the Aorangi, that three days after the marriage license was issued Mrs. Will had visited a firm of attorneys who were acting for the bride and were ordered the drawing up of an agreement, whereby most of Mr. Grant's fortune, estimated by his agents and business associates at more than $3,000,000, became virtually the property of the woman who was formerly Mrs. Will and still more formerly Mrs. Frederick Elms, and whose first husband is still living near Los Angeles.

GRANT'S MILLIONS SETTLED ON HIS WIFE

By the terms of the agreement, as reported today, Mrs. Grant will administer the huge estate in common with her husband, and will inherit it should she survive him, a strong probability, as she is only 35 years old, while Mr. Grant is past 61. In addition it is said that the agreement provides for the son of Mrs. Grant by her marriage with Elms, a youth now at a San Diego military school preparing for examinations at West Point. Mr. Grant also promises to use his influence toward getting Elms an appointment to the military academy.

GRANT'S MILLIONS SETTLED ON HIS WIFE

The large estate left by the first Mrs. Grant remains untouched by the agreement, but the document provides that shall Mrs. Grant die before her husband does, young Elms shall inherit part of the money given his mother, the rest of the Grant millions, however, revert to the children by the first Mrs. Grant.

GRANT'S MILLIONS SETTLED ON HIS WIFE

Chaffee Grant Disgusted. When asked regarding the agreement of the marriage of his father today, Chaffee Grant said:

"Please keep me out of all this. I am disgusted with the whole business. Don't tell you what my plans are, whether I have any."

An incident of the dinner and reception last night, which was attended by 10 persons, although covers had been laid for 65, was the serene gift of Mrs. Grant by former admirers. A party of seven secured the services of a band and from the top of motor played under the windows. Among the tunes were "There Will Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and "We've All Been There Before, Many Times."

GRANT'S MILLIONS SETTLED ON HIS WIFE

BRIDAL WILL REBUILT AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE. Indismayed by the big fire Friday night, which wiped out the business block of Sheridan, the enterprising owners of that place are making plans to rebuild, according to E. E. Gilliam, who returned to Salem Friday.

The residents take their losses about a murmur," said Mr. Gilliam, and as soon as insurance adjustments are made the restoration of the town will be started. With the optimistic spirit now prevailing I am certain that within a few months there will be a bigger town in a few months than it was before the fire destroyed $400,000 worth of property. The ruins are about cooled, and the vaults and safes in the burned buildings were opened yesterday. Most of the insurance policies in the burned district are preserved in vaults and safes. Mr. Gilliam reports a scarcity of provisions in the town, but on every train supplies are brought and there has been no suffering from lack of food.

MAN RUN OUT OF BANDON SAYS HE WILL RETURN THERE

Declaring that he was kidnaped and taken from Bandon, Dr. Bailey K. Leach, Socialist speaker and publisher, announced in an address on a street corner here that he would return to that city in several weeks. He said he would resume the publication of his paper on his return.

"I intend to go to Portland Tuesday," said Dr. Leach, "to make several speeches on Socialism. I was kidnaped and taken from Bandon by about 80 members of the Commercial club. They took me up the river to Coquille, where, by previous arrangement, a large delegation from Marshfield, who had come in autos met me. They conveyed me by auto to Marshfield, where I was put aboard a launch and exhibited exactly one hour to the crowd."

"Then they took me to Jarvis Landing, 10 miles down the bay, where they stood me in the sand beside the American flag and went through a ceremony of making speeches at me, evidently trying to impress me with the fact that what they were doing was patriotic and in honor of the flag. I have never uttered a word against the flag, but, on the contrary, have a wholehearted respect for it."

GREAT MASS OF PROOF.

Reports of 30,000 Cases of Kidney Trouble, Some of Them Salem Cases.

Each of some 6000 newspapers of the United States is publishing from week to week, names of people in its particular neighborhood, who have used and recommended Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder troubles and urinary disorders. This mass of proof includes over 30,000 testimonials. Salem is no exception. Here is one of the Salem cases:

John L. Conger, proprietor printing shop, 845 North Seventeenth St., Salem, Oregon, says: "My back got weak and sore and my kidneys did not act as they should. At times I could hardly straighten. Knowing about Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they gave me relief from the first. It took Doan's Kidney Pills only a short time to rid me of kidney trouble. I publicly endorsed them several years ago and am glad to do so again."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

SNAP SHOTS.

By Lillian Lauferty. "Oh, foolish soul that could not watch and wait, Until the bud should of itself unfold; Spreading each satin petal in due state, To show at last its heart of virgin gold."

"Oh, foolish fingers that could tear and soil The close-furled petals seeking to disclose Their precious hoard too soon, the bud you spoil, And never know the beauty of the rose."

Rid Your Children of Worms.

You can change fretful, ill-tempered children into healthy, happy youngsters by ridding them of worms. Tossing, rolling, grinding of teeth, crying out while asleep, accompanied with intense thirst, pains in the stomach and bowels, feverishness and bad breath, are symptoms that indicate worms. Kickapoo Worm Killer, a pleasant candy lozenge, expels the worms, regulates the bowels, restores your children to health and happiness. Mrs. J. A. Brisbin, of Elgin, Ill., says: "I have used Kickapoo Worm Killer for years, and entirely rid my children of worms. I would not be without it." Guaranteed. All druggists, or by mail. Price 25c. Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis. J. C. Perry.

Many a woman regrets that she did not change her mind before she changed her name.

GLAD TO GET AWAY FROM HEAT OF EAST

Jeweler Pomeroy Says Suffering Was Great and Hospitals Were Crowded With Victims.

"By jingo, but I am glad to get back to Salem." This was the enthusiastic remark made this morning by C. T. Pomeroy, the well-known jeweler on Commercial street, who has just returned from an extensive tour of the Eastern states in company with his wife, Dr. Pomeroy.

Mr. Pomeroy is a record-breaking traveler, according to his weight. Notwithstanding that at this time of the year travel in almost any state in the Union is exceedingly warm and dusty, the jeweler arrived home this morning looking as fresh as a daisy, and states that he lost but two pounds on the trip.

"For about three weeks, New York City was very hot while I was there," states Mr. Pomeroy, "and suffering was prevalent upon every hand in the crowded thoroughfares. The newspaper reports of the heat in the East received in Oregon were not exaggerated, as the hospitals were full of people who were unable to withstand the atmosphere in the city. Dr. Pomeroy is still in the East, and will not return home for about ten days. She is taking a special course in one of the big New York hospitals and is working every day. She visits the tenement district often, and examines at least 50 cases a day among the poor and destitute people. The doctor is gaining much experience, but she is working diligently every day, and part of the night. Babies by the hundred are being brought to the hospitals every day and a small army of physicians are busy day and night."

Mr. Pomeroy states that he stripped down to the last stitch in other words he took off everything that the police would allow, and "saw New York proper." He declares that it feels mighty good to be back in Oregon, where he can keep his coat on and escape being carried off to the hospital. The jeweler took the southern route home, stopping at various points of interest in Texas and California.

SAYS HUMANITY'S WORST FOES ARE LITTLE INSECTS.

Selected by Edwin Marham. Now that the year has swung around to vacation time, it is worth while to note what Dr. Woods Hutchinson has to say on the pests of country life. From Dr. Hutchinson's book, "Common Diseases," sent out by the Houghton Mifflin Company, I gather the following for you:

"In most parts of the United States, during the season in which the weather permits one to sit out of doors with any comfort, life is rendered a burden by flies, gnats and mosquitoes unless behind the protection of screens.

"The real battle of the human species for the possession of the earth—may, even for the right to exist upon its surface—must be fought, not with mammoths, but with mosquitoes; not with lions and tigers, but with flies and gnats; not with behemoths, but with bacilli.

"Our instinct to kill insects at sight is perfectly sound. Out of the quarter of a million species now known to science a mere handful are even remotely helpful to man, and most of these only by their power of living upon other and more dangerous insects. On the other hand, thousands of species are actively hostile to man, to his food-plants and to his domestic animals. Whole tribes of men have been swept out of existence by the attack of insects carrying bacilli—as within the last two decades in Central Africa by the dread

'sleeping sickness' carried by the tsetse fly. Whole nations have been weakened and crippled by another insect-borne disease, malaria.

"Closer study of the habits of the mosquito during the past five years has brought out the curious and at first sight incredible fact that the majority of these insects which carry disease, such as the malarial mosquito, the yellow fever mosquito and the house-fly, can live and multiply, apparently, only in the immediate neighborhood of human habitations. In other words, they are literally domestic animals and part of our farm stock. This is absolutely true of the house-fly and the yellow fever mosquito, neither of which is ever found more than a mile or two and usually not more than a few hundred yards away from human habitations."

CORRECT WORDS.

By Mrs. Frank Learned. (Author of "The Etiquette of New York Today.")

A very intelligent person is always progressing and is never indifferent in matters of culture. If careless habits of speech have been formed a determined effort to correct them will lead to good results.

Many persons who consider themselves well educated make the mistake of using the participle "got" in connection with the verb "to have." They say: "Have you got the key?" "Have you got my book?" instead of "Have you the key?" "Who has my book?"

Mistakes of everyday occurrence are, "Who did you give it to?" "Who is this for?" instead of the correct expressions, "To whom did you give it?" "For whom is this?"

Frequently one hears these errors in grammar: "I intended to have bought a pair of gloves," instead of "I intended to buy a pair of gloves"; "It was no use asking him," instead of "It was no use to ask him"; "Try and persuade her to go," instead of "Try to persuade her to go."

It would seem unnecessary to tell any one not to use the present tense instead of the past tense when mentioning what another has said, yet a careless person may be heard saying: "He says," instead of "He said."

The contraction "don't" for "do not" should never be used with a singular noun or pronoun. It is correct to say "He does not," and not "He don't." It is important to remember the objective form of the first person singular when a noun and pronoun or two pronouns follow a verb, and not to say "Ethel asked Mary and I to go," but "Ethel asked Mary and me to go." If one is confused about the use of pronouns in a sentence of this sort an easy rule is to separate them and use each one with the verb, thus: "Ethel asked Mary," and "Ethel asked me." In this way the grammatical form is seen.

It is correct to say "A summer day," not "A summer's day." "Cut the apple in two" or "in halves," not "Cut the apple in half." "Cut the ribbon off this piece," not "off of this piece." "The child threw it on the floor," not "onto the floor."
