Mrs. Frank Snedecor, who was Miss Breyman before her marriage, Mrs. W. P. Montgomery, of Birmingham, Alabama, were the inspiration of a large bridge tea Wednesday, given by Mrs. Snedecor's sisters, Mrs. P. Boise and Mrs. Charles L. Nary, in the Boise home on Court street.

Beautiful midsummer blossoms adorned the spacious rooms where ten tables were arranged for the players. A motif in yellow developed with reds and marigolds of African and such varieties graced the drawing room. Deep crimson dahlias and brilliant sweet Williams were used in the dining room and for the dining room an array of purple and white flowers.

Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner and Mrs. H. Dancy were awarded the lovely favors.

Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. W. H. Hodge, Mrs. John Lauterman and W. H. Byrd assisted the hostess. A large number of guests called later.

The marriage of Barbara Willis Edgerton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eakin, of Astoria, and Frederick Eakin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Fulford of Portland, will be solemnized in the evening of September 1st at the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. Gilbert officiating.

The bride's sister, Miss Mary Eakin, will be her maid of honor. Miss Ellen Lee, of Salem, and Miss Gertrude Lee, of Portland, are to be the bridesmaids.

After a honeymoon trip, the young couple will reside in Stanfield, near Astoria, where Mr. Fulton owns a ranch. A lovely residence is being completed for them. Miss Eakin is a charming young woman and enjoys a large circle of acquaintances in city.

A jolly country dance last Saturday night, Miss Althea Moore, Miss Ed Bagley, Carl Gabrielson, Fred Slade and Ralph Moore motored to Clifton.

Slade was motor guest when returned Sunday morning and remained for the day.

Miss Moore, Miss Ed Bagley and Miss Frances Adams visited Miss Moore's relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Moore are celebrating today the forty-ninth anniversary of their marriage.

Ever long to be remembered was a delightful afternoon Wednesday held under the spreading oaks on spacious lawn of La Mati Grove, charming country home of Mrs. A. Stinson, which nestles at the foot of the county's inviting hills, just out of the city, when that most amiable entertained the ladies of the Temple Number eleven, Pythian Sisters. Conveyances were provided and the real country rides were had.

Jolly merry-makers took possession of the lawn and hammocks and big comfy rockers were set into service. Seemingly by the long rustic table faultlessly and profusely decked with the sweet peas appeared at the appropriate time. With methods dear to the hostess and Pythian a feast of good things added to the inviting scene.

The transformation was happily completed only when the jolly company gathered about the table at five-thirty o'clock and knight of records and seals, on domain, Knights of Pythias, Mrs. A. Stinson, appeared wearing regulation waiter's apron and fast smile, who proceeded to add zest to the hilarity of the party, and shared about the table were Mrs.

A. L. Stinson, Mrs. Ross E. Moores, Mrs. C. J. Olmsted, Mrs. Nettie Hunter, Mrs. G. H. Sellars, Mrs. J. F. Davis, Mrs. J. M. Goodwin, Mrs. J. W. Heyser, Mrs. O. F. Purdy, Mrs. J. M. Turner, Mrs. B. E. Lewis, Mrs. Purcell Barbee, Mrs. M. L. Chamberlain, Mrs. F. H. Chamberlain, Miss Hazel Olmsted, Miss Helen Heyser, Miss Catherine Christeance, Miss Bertha Goodwin, Miss Pearl Turner, Miss Violet Purdy, Miss Versa Purdy, Mr. L. B. Stinson and Harold Heyser.

A pleasant affair of Wednesday evening was the reception given by members of the Central Congregational church in compliment to Reverend and Mrs. O. A. Stillman, who are leaving for the new pastorate in Clear Lake, Washington.

Roses, sweet peas and geraniums were effectively used for decorating. In the receiving line were Reverend and Mrs. Stillman, Mrs. Van Patton, Mrs. F. T. Farrington, Mrs. McLain and Russell Stillman.

Light refreshments were served by Miss Alice Schindler and Miss Laura Yantis.

Over sixty guests assembled to enjoy the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Stillman and to wish them all happiness in their new home.

The drill team of twelve and lodge members of the American Yeomen filled two large auto trucks last Wednesday evening when they went to Silverton for initiation of members into the new lodge at that city.

The work was done by Mr. George Day, who is captain, and Mrs. H. St. Helens, who was leader. Dancing and a fine banquet followed the business session. Over fifty members of the Salem lodge enjoyed the occasion.

The Ladies' Aid Society of First Presbyterian church entertained with an ice cream festival on the lawn at the home of Mrs. George J. Pearce, 267 North Winter street.

Japanese lanterns and flowers made the grounds very attractive for crowds of pleasure-seekers who listened to the band concert in Wilson park, while enjoying ice cream and visiting with friends.

On Friday afternoon of last week Mrs. J. W. Cox entertained the Woman's Alliance of Unitarian church, in her home, 312 Winter street. The afternoon was given over to needlework, followed by refreshments with Mrs. Everett Anderson assisting.

Mrs. Charles Cannon was hostess on Thursday afternoon for the members of Pringle and Pleasant Valley Social Club with a number of guests besides and the husbands and brothers invited for tea served on the lawn.

The lovely home surrounded by great fir trees is on a hill.

Delightful vine covered arbor retreats and gorgeous flower beds with a broad expanse of lawn made outdoor entertaining a charm.

The living room furnishings were transferred to shady spots and a large hammock was swung for the honor guest, Mrs. Chester Cannon, who recently returned home from the hospital with her beautiful twin babies, Donald and Dorothy. The tiny lad and lassie, five weeks old, occupied a twin coach near the hammock, and were the very center of attraction.

Mrs. Cannon will soon join her husband who is manager of a large stock farm near Astoria. Over forty members of the club and invited guests enjoyed the afternoon and evening pleasures.

PERSONALS

MUSICAL NOTES

Last Monday night for Miss Marguerite Flower's benefit concert the seating capacity of Grand opera house was not only taxed, but the foyer as well. In the side aisles at the back, they stood three deep. The vast audience warmly greeted the little blind singer upon her first appearance on the stage and the enthusiasm grew as the concert progressed.

For the most part the songs were familiar but none the less enjoyable on that account. As sung by Miss Flower new beauties were revealed. Likewise in the less familiar compositions by reason of her musical temperament and sweet interpretative ability, the appeal to the emotions was instantaneous and convincing.

Without any seeming effort this dainty little vocalist warbled like a bird. In addition to an excellently trained lyric soprano voice of unusual range, Miss Flower is endowed with a remarkable memory, perfect health, and a determination to succeed in her chosen profession, notwithstanding the physical affliction. She is a protegee of Miss Minnetta Magers, who discovered a quality in the naturally sweet voice which under two and a half years of assiduous training, has developed into a soprano of flute-like tones, with high F range and contralto quality full and effective. Each note is perfectly taken with placement true, and the voice shows marvelous results in so short a time.

This success has not been accomplished without hard work by pupil and teacher, slowly and skillfully molding the sweet, small voice into its present full, true tones and excellent enunciation.

The softest notes of "Little Boy Blue" were distinctly heard in the foyer. Miss Flower's programmed numbers were Del Reigo's "Awakening of Spring," an "Irish Folk Song" by Foote, with violin obligato and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" by Tate. This last song is new and its charming rendition received spontaneous recognition.

In responding to encores Miss Flower sang "Little Boy Blue" Nevins; a dainty French ballad by Tessard, entitled "Good Day, Marie," and a Scotch number by Thayer, "My Laddie," with well imitated accent.

Her interpretation of "Little Boy Blue" was remarkable and brought a storm of applause.

Flowers and honours were showered upon this young artist, so charming in her lovely frock of pink chiffon with headpiece of maline and tiny satin slippers in the same color.

Miss Bernice Sauter was accompanist for the songs and her work was very artistic.

Miss Magers is truly to be congratulated upon the splendid success of her pupil's concert. Friends of the debutant and her teacher are showing them all manner of appreciation and encouragement, and at the close of another year's work when Miss Flower is launched upon a professional career, Salem friends and admirers of pupil and teacher will give them a crowded house.

In assisting with the programme, Miss Mary Schultz, who is a violin pupil of William Wallace Graham, played most beautifully, d'Ambrosio's "Conzetta," with Miss Lucille Kuntz's excellent piano accompanying. Her splendid work and musical understanding was awarded enthusiastic applause. Instantly encores brought Franklin's crisp "Little Pizzicato Serenade," a charming bit of violin comedy.

The violin duet, Josy's "Bereuse" by Miss Schultz and Miss Roxanna Wommelfordt, of Portland, with Mrs. Warren Hunt, a fine pianist, and Mr.

Yvonne de Treville, one of the finest coloratura sopranos, and who already has been secured by the Portland Musical society for a concert this winter in that city, came to Salem yesterday to confer with Miss Magers, as to the advisability of arranging an entertainment for some time in January.

Madam Treville comes in Bruxelles, Belgium, and will remain in this country until March, when she returns to Europe to fill an engagement as leading role in a season of opera work.

In Europe, it is customary for artists to arrange their own concert dates, where in this country it is quite the exception for a singer to interview a prospective manager.

Madam Treville is of changing personality and presents extravagant press notices of her splendid voice. She will sing with the orchestra in San Francisco during the coming musical season.

The mid-summer recital given Friday evening of last week in the home of Eric Thielsen. Mr. Frederic Thielsen accompanied his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brown left Saturday for Cascadia to enjoy an outing of three weeks.

Mrs. Thomas Royal Bishop left for Pendleton Wednesday morning. Mr. C. P. Bishop accompanied her as far as Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson returned Thursday night from a delightful wedding trip through the Sound cities and into British Columbia. They will be at home to friends the first of next week in the front street residence, number 443.

Miss Mildred Bagley was one of the expert players at the tennis tournament in Portland. Miss Irene Campbell, formerly of Salem, was one of the brilliant players.

Loss of Appetite

In loss of vitality, vigor or tone, and is often a forerunner of prostrating disease. It is serious and especially so to people that must keep up and doing or get behindhand. The best medicine to take for it is the great constitutional remedy Hood's Sarsaparilla. Which purifies and enriches the blood and builds up the whole system. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jones, 400 South Nineteenth street, was one of the most interesting efforts of Professor Ralph Harr's piano pupils. Hot weather seems to have no effect upon the enthusiasm of this successful teacher's pupils, and their work was excellent. During the winter and still continuing in connection with the programmed numbers the musical spelling has been an unusually entertaining novelty.

There will be no recital for the month of August. On Friday, the twenty-sixth of September, the next recital will be given at the home of Miss Katherine Linn, 545 Trade street.

The program for the last recital was:

"Morning Glory Waltz".....Rosewig Nettie Jones.

"Rustic Dance".....C. B. Howell Lenora Koon.

Sack Waltz.....Lois Thompson

Duet, "Papa's Waltz".....Rosewig Christie Jones, Nettie Jones.

"Silver Band March".....Minnie Abel Katherine Linn.

"When Violets Bloom".....Heppard Camp Edith Young.

"Flying Birds".....Lawrence Sehnsel Duet, "Martha".....Adolph Harsel Anna Wood, Professor Harr.

"Flower Song".....Blumenlied Mary Minton.

Duet, "Pretty Eyes".....G. Martaine Mary Minton, Edith Young.

"Prince Imperial Gallop".....Joseph Minton

"Black Hawk Waltz".....Mary E. Walsh Emma Minton.

"Gallop Brillante".....A. S. Sweet Anna Wood.

Exercise.....Louise Martin

Interesting articles have been published in the newspapers bearing upon the criticisms of Bonci, the Italian tenor, after a concert tour in the United States.

He says: "America is practically the only country where the love of music does not assume the form of a passing fad. Music clubs formed to insure if not a season of grand opera, at least one or two concerts by great artists, are now springing up in all the corners of the country.

"American women do not go to the opera merely to display their jewels and gowns. They may do so to some extent in New York, Boston and other large cities, but in the South and West they go only to enjoy the music. This great tenor's impression was a desire for good music by the American people in every corner of their country. This demand, he asserts, in Europe is either dying out or is already extinct. During his last concert tour he sang in many localities where no impresario would have dared to take a company.
