HOUSE COMMITTEE NOW PROBING LOBBY CHARGES AT CAPITAL

A Newspaper Correspondent Tells of Purchase of Mulhall's Letters.

FORAKER IS WITNESS

Former Senator Tells Senate Investigators He Had No Dealings With Lobbyist Mulhall.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Washington, Aug. 5.—The house committee headed by Representative Garrett this afternoon began its probe of "insidious lobby" charges.

Louis Siebold, a newspaper correspondent, testified that his paper bought Mulhall's letters and papers on June 6.

Former Senator Foraker appeared before the senate investigators today.

Foraker referred contemptuously to Mulhall. He denied that Mulhall ever attended a secret conference of senators at his home in 1909.

Relating his connection with David Lamar, a New York stock broker, regarding Union Pacific litigation in 1902, Foraker corroborated Lamar's statement that Foraker and his attorney, in 1902, tried to prevent Union Pacific stockholders from voting Southern Pacific stock.

DIGGS AND CAMINETTI ARE DENIED ANY DELAY OR CHANGE OF VENUE

Securing of Jury Is Commenced in Case of Diggs, Accused of Slavery.

GIRLS ARE NOT IN COURT

Scores of Talesmen Are Excused on One Pretext or Another and Twenty-Seven Are Left.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 5.—Flat denial of the defense motion for delay or a change of venue in either the cases of Maury I. Diggs or Drew Caminetti, accused of violation of the white slave law, came here today in the trial of Diggs when United States Judge Van Fleet denied a request to that end by Attorney Woodworth, for Diggs, who spoke also for Caminetti.

Judge Van Fleet's decision came just before the noon recess and, while expected, it was no small blow to the Diggs defense.

Neither Miss Warrington nor Miss Norris, the two girls who went with Diggs and Caminetti on their escapade to Reno, were in court.

Result of Escapade

Climaxing an escapade which stirred the nation from the Atlantic to the Pacific, which involved the Washington administration, which caused bitter diatribes in congress and which cost John L. McNab, of San Francisco, his job as United States attorney, Diggs was placed on trial.

Diggs, who, with F. Drew Caminetti, deserted their wives in Sacramento and fled to Reno with two pretty high school girls, Marsha Warrington and Laura Norris, went to trial before United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet, with Matt I. Sullivan and Theodore Roche, special assistants to Attorney-General McReynolds as his prosecutors.

Gov. West Takes Hand in It

Writes Dr. Leach and I. W. W.'s Deported from Marshfield, and Requests Attorney-General to Act.

"Dr. Bailey K. Leach, Care Mr. E. L. Canon, Salem, Oregon: Dear Sir: Being informed that you were recently driven from the city of Bandon, Oregon, by a number of its citizens, who, filing objections to your activities, took the law into their own hands, please be advised that this is still a government by law and not by the mob.

Says Army Made up of Riff Raft

Every Nine Years Whole Army Runs Away, According to Victor Berger Who Lands Red Flag.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Seattle, Wash., Aug. 5.—"A good deal of rascality hides behind the American flag," said Victor Berger in a speech here last night.

Berger vigorously attacked sham patriots and declared the American army constituted of the worst riff-raft of any country in the world.

"I'll prove it to you," he exclaimed, "by government statistics which show that 12 per cent of the army desert every year. Thus, every nine years the whole army runs away. Nowadays we hire men at $15 a month to defend the flag. Only boys who are no good for anything else, enlist. A flag is nothing if it does not stand for an ideal, it is only a rag bought for 25 cents or 50 cents. I am an original red, a red of the reds. But I yield to none in patriotism and love for the United States and Old Glory. The red flag and the Stars and Stripes are not antagonistic, no more than are a shirt and a coat.

The red flag stands for international brotherhood. The two flags ought to go together, and do go together. Six of my family went to war in 1861 to free the black slave, and I am proud of them. Today, the Socialists are the greatest patriots. They want to free the wage slaves; they want to restore the country to the people. We are striving for the greatest good for the greatest number. The red flag is not anti-national, it is international."

GOVERNOR WEST TAKES HAND IN IT

Writes Dr. Leach and I. W. W.'s Deported from Marshfield, and Requests Attorney-General to Act.

"Dear Sir: Being informed that you were recently driven from the city of Bandon, Oregon, by a number of its citizens, who, filing objections to your activities, took the law into their own hands, please be advised that this is still a government by law and not by the mob.

"Should you be remaining away from any county in this state through fear of mob violence you may be assured the protecting this office would to any law-abiding citizen should you see fit to return thereto, and conduct yourself as such.

"Should it develop that you have violated any law, you can expect to be prosecuted. Should it develop that you have suffered through the lawlessness of others, then they shall be prosecuted."

The above letter was written by Governor West to Dr. Leach, Mr. Wesley Everest, of Seattle, Washington, and Mr. W. J. Edgworth, Seattle, Washington, the other two I. W. W.'s deported from Marshfield.

The following letter was addressed to Attorney-General Crawford on the same subject:

"Complaint has been made to this office that there has been a failure to enforce the laws in Coos county, Oregon, and that the sheriff, at least, is subject to removal under chapter 180 of the Laws of 1913.

CHANCE FOR FARMER

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Washington, Aug. 5.—Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, chairman of the senate committee on education and labor, announced today that the committee is ready to consider nominations to the national industrial commission.

DUNIWAY IS DEAD AFTER LONG FIGHT

State Printer Succumbs to Illness Which Has Hampered Him for Years

END COMES AT AN EARLY MORNING HOUR

Born in Albany Fifty Years Ago and for Seven Years State Printer.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Portland, Ore., Aug. 5.—Willis Scott Duniway, aged 50 years, state printer for the past seven years, died here today, after being in ill health for two years.

Governor West, who left this morning for his ranch near Beaside, was informed of Mr. Duniway's death as he waited at the depot for a train. He stated that nothing would be done towards naming Mr. Duniway's successor until after the funeral, but that the state's business would require an appointment as soon as possible.

Law Is Badly Muddled

The death of State Printer Duniway leaves the state printing department in a very badly muddled condition. The trouble comes from there being entirely too much law. In 1911 the legislature passed a law placing the state printer on a flat salary, turning over the printing to the board of control, and giving the governor power to appoint the state printer.

The last legislature passed a law which goes into effect January 1, 1915, repealing the law of 1911, and putting the state printer on a flat salary of $1800 a year, and providing that the state printing shall be done by contract. The 1911 law also provided for the election of a state printer in 1914, but, as the office will be abolished by the new law in 1915, there will probably not be many candidates for the place.

As it is 17 months before the law passed by the last legislature goes into effect, it is now up to the board to buy a plant, and this, in spite of the fact that the state will have no use for it after January 1, 1915. It is a pretty muddle, and one that would have been avoided if the legislature had listened to Duniway.

Mary Moans, a Texas cowgirl, will ride a bucking steer at the Pendleton round up in September.

Country Club Suggestion Good One for Discussion at This Time

A communication concerning a country club, in Monday's Capital Journal, is pertinent, and its suggestions good. Salem has reached that stage in her growth where something of this kind is really needed, and a country club along the lines suggested would prove a very acceptable addition to the city's attractions.

At the present there is no place to take the stranger who visits us, and the club, as proposed, would fill a long-felt want. It is further suggested that the site be near and easily get-at-able, where everybody can get to it. It should be near enough that it can be visited in the evening as well as the day.

We believe such a resort would be given a royal welcome and a patronage that would make us all wonder why we did not provide ourselves with such an outing place years ago.
