elaborate and most beautifully... Tuesday afternoon when Mr. William Boot asked relatives a few additional friends to join in celebrating the seventy-fourth birthday of Mr. S. B. McBride, Mrs. Booth's son, at her lovely suburban home in the Salem.

Miss Claudine Rose was hostess last week Thursday with an informal tea complimenting Miss Winnifred London, of Vancouver, British Columbia, who is the house guest of her cousin, Mrs. George F. Rodgers.

Miss Blanche Liston was very delightfully surprised on Thursday evening when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Liston, of Englewood, invited a group of her intimate friends to pass the social hours with music, the rollicking game of Plinch and a lovely luncheon. Miss Eva Prince and Miss Ethel Liston assisted. Roses were used to decorate the rooms.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday, August the sixth, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gibson, in Liberty, when Carrie Alma became the bride of Mr. William John Trudgen. At four o'clock the ring service was read by Reverend P. S. Knight in the living room, attractively decorated with ferns and a variety of white flowers. The ceremony was performed under an arrangement of green and white garlands tied with a big white satin lover's knot and hung with a white wedding bell.

The bride was lovely in white satin du chene, with pearl bead motifs and lace. Her flowers, a cluster of white sweet peas with touches of pale lavender and pink, and her only ornament, a lovely gold neck-lace and pendant from the groom. Miss Ida May Gibson, the bride's niece, was her maid of honor, and wore a dainty wool gown of cream color. Her variegated bouquet was of sweet peas.

A twin brother of the bride, Mr. Carl J. Gibson, was the groom's best man.

A delectable supper was served in the dining room, made gay with brilliant gladioli, dahlias, geranium and sweet pea blossoms combined with ferns. Twenty guests were seated at a prettily decked table.

Mrs. Maria Thompson, Mrs. Alice Gibson, and Miss Jessie Gibson assisted.

Mr. and Mrs. Trudgen left immediately for Seaside, where they will pass their honeymoon. Mrs. Trudgen's going away gown was of midnight blue serge, tailored, worn with small hat. Upon their return they will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Gibson until further arrangements are completed.

Very many beautiful gifts were showered upon the bride.

Yesterday was the seventh month of August in little Katherine Hartley's life, and to celebrate the birthday, her aunt, Mrs. Edgar Hartley, planned a party, asking a crowd of young friends to join in the merry frolics.

Refreshments were served under the trees in picnic fashion and every moment of the passing hours was filled with joy. Miss Hazelle Downing and Miss Bertha Eckerles were largely responsible for the perfect success which the party was voted by all who attended.

Many pretty gifts complimented the honor guest.

Invited to attend were Charlotte Robertson, Helen Robe, Dorothy, Paula and Frances Dieck, Ruth Barnes, Constance Yantis, Priscilla Fry, Eva Miles and Faith Friday.

A very attractive affair of the week among the young church members was a birthday party given last Wednesday evening in First Christian church parlors.

Darrel Proctor met guests at the door and presented each with a bag to hold the number of pennies corresponding with their birthdays; and when filled the little sacks were dropped in the natal month booth, and the giver was presented with a souvenir appropriate for that month, and also a ticket for the ice cream and wafers served later in the dining room.

Each of the twelve booths was decorated to represent a different month, and gave the church parlor a very bright appearance.

Attending the January booth was Miss Ruth Hansboro; February, Miss Olive Castro; March, Lloyd Babbington; April, Jessie Hunt; May, Mary Belle Rinehart; June, Vivian Hargrove; July, Burton Jones; August, Gerald Babbington; September, Kent Krapps; October, Dorris Bloom; November, Vida Young, and December, Vivian Young.

During the evening an interesting program was given, which Miss Theodosia Bennett opened with a piano solo, and this number was followed with a duet by Mr. H. C. Epley and Mr. Charles Knowland; a reading by Miss Merle Tracy, entitled "Buying a Feller"; piano and violin duet, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frickey; vocal solo, Miss Lura Wilson, and piano solo, Miss Tracy.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, banked with evergreens and ornamented with overhead garlands of green and white. Each little table was centered with sweet peas, and ice cream and wafers were served. Giving their assistance in making this entertainment of The Loyal Sons and Daughters a complete success, were Miss Merle Tracy, president, and Miss Olive Castro, vice-president, Miss Helen Mercer, chairman of the Loyal Daughters, and Mr. Kent Krapps, chairman of the Loyal Sons.

MUSICAL NOTES

Miss Carrie Louise Aiton, one of the most promising woman violinists in the country, delighted hundreds of Portland people last week Thursday night when she played at Holladay park with the Portland park band.

Miss Aiton has many admirers in Salem, who remember with pleasure the beautiful music she contributed at the musical tea given in the new Masonic Temple by three prominent society matrous. Thursday night Miss Aiton played Schubert's Serenade, and for an encore the Hawaiian song, "Farewell to Thee," and the big tone she has the remarkable ability to draw from the instrument floated distinctly and beautifully to all parts of the large park. Miss Aiton is planning to leave for Europe the coming fall to perfect her studies under one of the best masters in St. Petersburg.
