VILLAGE IN PROGRESS FOLLOWING KILLING OF 1200 IN CITY STREETS

Least Half Government Forces Join Canton Rebels in Thievery.

HANKOW RAILROAD STOPS

Back on Foreign Concessions at Shameen Is Now Believed to Be Planned by Rebels.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Canton, Aug. 14.—Pillage is in progress everywhere here today, following the killing in Canton City yesterday, when 1,200 persons were killed.

At least half of the government troops have joined the rebel forces and, acting together, they have looted practically all the goldsmiths' and silversmiths' stores in the city. Local officials are powerless.

All traffic on the Hankow railroad has been abandoned and an attack on foreign concessions at Shameen is believed to be contemplated by the rebels.

Fire broke out in the troop quarters and 30 barracks were destroyed.

THINKS JULY KNOWS ABOUT FALLING IN LOVE

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 14.—The old adage is that love goes to the head, but it is not true, as the case of the Van Fleet in this manner supplies evidence to the contrary.

Theodore Roche is going further into the details of how Maury I. Diggs won the affection of Marsha Warrington and led her into the confessed infidelity.

You ought to know from your own experience," he joshed Roche. "The every man in the box—looks only capable of falling in love and wondering how it is done," said the judge, placing casually over the 12 who will decide the case.

The girl admits she was infatuated with Diggs; let the jury assume how it was brought about through the facts of the case.

ONE REGISTERED FOR LAST ELECTION ARE SAFE

The door of the county clerk's office was covered today with big posters in which the following information was printed: "Mr. Voter: If you registered for the last city election, and you have not changed your precinct, you do not have to register again coming election this year."

This notice practically explains the results of the new election law which requires that all voters in city elections register at the county clerk's office instead of at the office of the city auditor, as has been the custom heretofore. In other words, the registrations in the City Recorder Elgin's office have been done away with and all registrations will be made in the county clerk's office in the future.

There are eleven more days in which those who did not register last year may change precincts, can register at County Clerk Gehlbach's office in order to vote at the next city election.

THREE JAPANESE NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

Noting that no direct evidence was produced to warrant the holding of the trial, Judge Maurice T. Dooling, who presided at the trial, today acquitted three Japanese, Joe Matsura and F. Nakamura, of the charge of murder in the first degree committed by killing Mrs. Koda, a white woman, and another Japanese, Justice of the Peace Webster last evening during the three defendants.

The prevailing opinion among the officials regarding the triple murder, that it was murder and suicide. The Japanese were infatuated with Mrs. Koda and he undoubtedly slew Mrs. Koda and the baby and then slashed his throat with the same knife. Attorney Smith, who defended Koda and the two countrymen, based his defense upon the ground that Mrs. Koda and the baby were killed by the man found dead at the scene of the crime.

Women Did not Spring From Rib

Dr. Harvey Wiley Says He Has Exploded Old Tale as to Origin of Women to His Satisfaction.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Washington, Aug. 14.—Addressing 500 suffragists here today, Dr. Harvey Wiley, former federal pure food champion, declared he had exploded the tale that woman sprang from Adam's rib.

"Biological study refutes the story," said Wiley. "There is no evidence in physiology that woman was an appendage of any archaic male skeleton. I am convinced that woman sprang from the same bioplasm as man."

Mrs. Emma Devoe, of Washington, president of the national suffragettes council, presided at the meeting. She said: "In my state women at the polls are treated respectfully. I never heard of babies being neglected even on election day."

RAINFALL IS HELPING HOPMEN WHOLE LOT

They Are Pleased With Refreshing Showers, Which Are Making Crop Better Than Ever.

While the rain was falling yesterday afternoon Frank Durbin, the popular hop man, was asked if he didn't think the wet would wilt his straw lid. "Let 'er wilt," said Frank. "But I tell you sir, if this rain keeps up, I see where I buy a new one." Mr. Durbin's remark embraced the truth to a large extent, however, as the present rains are blessed by all the hop-growers and that the elements are very favorable at present remains without question.

Although the rains in the immediate vicinity of Salem were not heavy yesterday, other portions of the hop belt are reported to have been visited by a heavy shower. According to the hop men here, prevailing rains at the present stage of the hop season are doing fine things for the popular product, and the 1913 crop can stand a good down-pour.

Everything seems to be coming the hopmen's way so far this season and not only a monster crop is looked forward to, but the quality is going to be far above the average on account of the climatic conditions being perfect for hop-growing in the valley. In any event, considerably over a million dollars will be turned loose on the working population of Marion county next month.

WEALTHY BANCHER AND WIFE KILLED BY UNKNOWN

Baker, Ore., Aug. 14.—Word was received at the sheriff's office from Rye Valley this afternoon that Lawrence Cartwright, a wealthy rancher, and his wife had been shot and killed by a man whose identity had not been fully established, who afterwards committed suicide. The tragedy is said to have been the result of a family feud. On account of the isolation of the scene, details are meagre. Officers are en route to Rye Valley to investigate. According to the sheriff's office, it is known that three are dead, including Cartwright and his wife, but that some doubt exists as to the identity of the third person.

WILSON REITERATES HIS CRITICISMS OF POLICY OF HIS OWN GOVERNMENT

Ambassador Says He Feels Justified in Giving Out His Statements.

RESIGNATION NOT ASKED

However, If It Is Known That President Wilson Is Very Angry, and There May Be Developments.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Washington, Aug. 14.—Ambassador to Mexico Henry Lane Wilson, who stands in imminent peril of immediate dismissal by President Wilson for his issuance of a statement replying to the British foreign official's declaration that Great Britain recognized Huerta, provisionally, only after Wilson had publicly lauded the Mexican dictator, today reiterated his criticisms.

Wilson also admitted having given Senator Smith inside information of the Mexican City situation. "I feel justified," said the ambassador, "in stating what I did in answer to what purported to be an official statement by the British foreign office, reflecting on my course in Mexico. I have not attempted to embarrass the Wilson administration, and have studiously avoided making statements which might endanger the success of the president's negotiations. I am still of the opinion that the statement of the British foreign office was misrepresented by the newspapers which printed it."

Wilson said that neither Secretary Bryan nor President Wilson had asked for his immediate resignation.

It is reported, however, that President Wilson is a very angry man, because the ambassador has again injected himself into a situation from which he was tacitly dismissed.

Officials here expect that John Lind, the president's envoy, will take decisive action in Mexico City. His task, it is believed, will be easier through Great Britain's announcement that she would recognize Huerta only in his capacity of provisional president. This, it is thought certain, will tend to discourage Huerta, and will make him more amenable to Lind's demands.

SIXTY REBELS ARE BAYONETED BY FOES

Other Forty Escape, Following Lively Battle in Which Several Federal Are Also Killed.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 14.—A letter received here today gives details of a sensational fight between Mexican federalists and rebels on the Mesquitala river, near San Juan Bautista. A band of rebels prowling through that section stopped a small river boat and forced its officers and passengers to land. The two officers in charge favored shooting all the party, but the 100 rebels under them objected. After a short dispute, one of the rebels, according to the letter, stepped from the ranks and shot both officers, killing them instantly.

The rebels then went to the Morcedas rancho, took all the women and children into a large warehouse with them and prepared to spend the night. The rebels were seen by a federal lieutenant, who gathered a force and stormed the warehouse at daylight. The rebels fired, killing several of their opponents. The federal then cut off a large tree trunk and battered the door down. They did not shoot, but used the bayonet, killing sixty of the rebels. The other forty escaped.

Another Case Against Slavers

Diggs and Caminetti Will Be Required to Answer to Crime of Deserting Minor Children.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 14.—Maury I. Diggs and F. Drew Caminetti, who are charged with violating the Mann white slave act by taking Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris to Reno, Nevada, will be prosecuted in the local courts in case they are not convicted in San Francisco on the federal charge.

Diggs and Caminetti are scheduled to appear in Judge Hughes' court here on August 25 to face charges of deserting their minor children.

The date of the hearings has been postponed from time to time because of the San Francisco trial, and will be postponed again if necessary according to the district attorney's office here.

Both the Norris and Warrington girls are awaiting a hearing in the juvenile court here, which case also has been postponed from time to time. They are technically held as dependent of the juvenile court.

GOVERNOR WEST ENTERS PROTEST AGAINST ACTION

Upon learning yesterday that the state desert land board, during his absence, had adopted a resolution requesting the interior department of the federal government to extend the contract of the Deschutes Land Company two years, Governor West, who has led the fight against the company, from his summer home at Escoba, sent the board the following telegram:

"I wish most emphatically to protest against any extension being granted or recommended in the Morson case until after a thorough discussion by a full board. I was under the impression that a few days' vacation by a state official was permissible and that common courtesy would suggest postponement of such an important matter during the absence of a member. I insist that no extension should be granted by the board until a new contract or agreement, fully protecting the interests of the state and prospective settlers, have been made. I request that this protest be spread upon the minutes."

The governor and J. E. Morson, president of the company, which contracted in 1902 for 31,028.21 acres of land on the Deschutes, have had trouble for several years. The governor at first took exceptions to the way the company was granting options to settlers, declaring that the settlers were not fully protected. Suit was instituted by the desert land board and the supreme court held that the company had not violated its contract. At the request of the governor an investigation was made by the interior department, and it declared that no law had been violated. Governor West pointed out that the department could hold up the project because it was planned to pipe water across government land.

IMPEACHMENT PAPERS ARE SERVED ON SULZER IN EXECUTIVE OFFICES

Governor Is Still Holding Fort and Insists Papers Make No Difference.

REAL CARE IS HIS WIFE

She Is in Serious Condition, According to Physicians Who Are Attending Her Case.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

New York, Aug. 14.—Impeachment papers were served on Governor Sulzer today in the executive offices.

The executive offices were crowded when the impeachment papers were served on Sulzer. Senate Clerk McCabe left immediately afterward.

After the service of the papers Governor Sulzer insisted they made no difference in his status. He told the United Press his only real care was regarding his wife, who last night was hysterical.

Glynn today told the United Press he would take no action until something was brought to his attention to force it. "This is serious matter," he said, "and it is best for the honor of the state that no precipitate action be taken by any one."

Doctors Jacob and MacDonald, who are here in attendance on the wife of Governor Sulzer, said today that her condition is serious.

Will Turn Sulzer Down. Mitchell May, secretary of state, today advised Glynn that when the time is ripe he will recognize Glynn as governor and will refuse the seal of the state to Sulzer. Adherents of the governor say this will aid him by giving him an opportunity to act directly in the courts.

Adjutant Hamilton today also announced that he recognizes Glynn as governor.

It is rumored today, but without confirmation, that Sulzer contemplates resigning, and thus forestalling impeachment. This his friends denied.

COBB WORTH $100,000 ACCORDING TO OFFER

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 14.—Clark Griffith, manager of the American League Washington team, within the next three days will offer the owner of the Detroit Tigers $100,000 for Ty Cobb. Griffith announced here this morning that he had been authorized to make the offer. Griffith and Navin are to confer this afternoon.

Griffith denied reports from Washington that he has a certified check for $100,000 ready to trade for Cobb. He said:

"I haven't the check here but I can get it whenever Navin indicates that he is willing to deal."

"It's bunk," said Navin. "The Senators will finish paying for the players they now have and for their new park before they make any real $100,000 offers. I don't care how good the player is."

MISS NORRIS UNABASHED AS SHE TELLS HER TALE OF ELOPMENT TO RENO

Voice Does Not Falter as She Tells of Her Misbehavior—Miss Warrington Denies She Was Offered Immunity for Testifying Against Diggs—Moving Pictures Taken of Girls on Way to Court Room.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—Affording a striking contrast to Marsha Warrington, both physically and in her frank and unabashed method of testifying, Miss Lola Norris, remarkably attractive girl of 29, took the stand today in the Diggs white slave trial here, beginning her part of the story upon which the indictments against Maury I. Diggs and F. Drew Caminetti, her companion in the escapade, are based.

The cross-examination and re-direct interrogation of Miss Warrington had been concluded shortly before noon, the defense again remorselessly prying into whatever salacious details had been overlooked hitherto.

Denies Immunity Promise. Practically the last testimony given by Miss Warrington was a complete refutation of the insinuations by the defense, through Nate Coghlan that the two girls had been persuaded to color their testimony to fit the government's case in order to secure immunity from prosecution themselves.

In this connection former United States District Attorney John L. McNab's name was brought into the testimony, Attorney Coghlan asking Miss Warrington if it were not true that she had had a conference with McNab before she went before the federal grand jury and had been advised that "unless she told the truth she would be placed in jail and held as witness."

Says No Coercion. With an emphatic "no," the witness denied the imputation of coercion on the part of the government prosecutors, and added in so many words that "no one in connection with the case ever asked me to tell anything but the truth, and no immunity promise has been held out."

It was just previous to this that Attorney Coghlan had announced to Judge Van Fleet that the opening statement of the defense would be based on the contention of the defense that the Warrington girl had been persuaded to color her testimony to save herself from prosecution under the juvenile act on a charge of contribution to the dependency of the Diggs and Caminetti minor children.

She Is Unabashed. With head erect, waving aside proffered support of a friendly arm and facing the crowded courtroom with a frank and unabashed gaze, Miss Norris then began her recital. Her voice did not falter and she did not hang her head, as Miss Warrington had done, even under the most searching questions as to the illicit relations of the four.

Her testimony was explicit and full, and she needed scarcely any coaching from Special Prosecutor Theodore Roche, who conducted the examination for the government.

Movies on Job Also. In addition to the battery of cameras directed upon her, Miss Warrington today had to run the gauntlet of moving picture machines stationed in the federal building, where the trial is in progress.

When she resumed her testimony, under cross-examination, at 10 o'clock Judge Van Fleet announced that only 20 minutes more would be allowed the defense for her examination.

"Were you on friendly terms with Diggs when you returned from Reno?" asked Attorney Coghlan.

"Yes," replied Miss Warrington. Miss Warrington stated that she did not arrange to see Diggs after that.

"Were you perfectly sober when you went to Reno?" asked Attorney Coghlan.

"Yes," said the witness. The court here interrupted the proceedings to ask whether several young girls back in the court room were accompanied by their mothers or chaperones.

"They can take their own responsibility in remaining," he commented, when informed that their mothers were with them.

Asked if she had gone to Reno willingly, Miss Warrington answered, qualifying her statement by adding "after I had been frightened into it."

In Happy Frame of Mind. "We played on the piano in the bungalow at Reno to take up the time," replied the girl when Attorney Coghlan sought to show she was in a happy frame of mind.

Coghlan had to be continually admonished by the court because of objectionable statements commenting on the evidence. He asserted that Miss Warrington had made three conflicting statements in regard to the Reno escapade.

Miss Warrington admitted that she had made one of these statements to shield Diggs.

Does Not Remember. Coghlan's cross-examination was extremely severe. He failed, in behalf of the defense, to secure the transcript of statements made to Sacramento officials on the return from Reno.

Miss Warrington appeared more cautious in her answers to questions today and frequently replied: "I do not remember."

"Did not Diggs say to you on the train coming back that he had made no promises or painted any bright pictures? Didn't he?" queried Coghlan.

"Yes," he said that, admitted Miss Warrington.

Promised Liberty Himself. Nettled by objections to his interrogations concerning several purported statements by Miss Warrington, Coghlan announced that the opening statement of the defense to the jury would be that Miss Warrington had corroborated her testimony in conformity with a promise of liberty of prosecution herself.

"The government prosecutors in the district attorney's office at Sacramento simply told me to tell the truth," asserted Miss Warrington when asked by Coghlan as to attempts to have her color her testimony.

She Denies It. "Haven't it been intimated to you that unless you testify against the defendant here the charges resting against you in Sacramento would be pressed?" asked Coghlan, referring to purported charges now pending against Miss Warrington for contributing to the dependency of the Diggs-Caminetti children.

The witness answered no. On re-direct examination Government Prosecutor Roche ventured that the object of Diggs' alleged questions to Miss Warrington on the train returning from Reno regarding the white slave act was to forestall prosecution by the government under the Mann act.

Diggs Would Marry Her. "Did Diggs ever make the statement: 'I would be tickled to death if my wife secured a divorce, to marry a young lady of the high moral character of Miss Warrington?'" asked Roche.

"Yes," she said. She admitted here to the incident in Diggs' office, acknowledging her downfall there.

For the first time during her examination the girl refused to answer because of confessed shame, when Roche attempted to go into details regarding the affair in Diggs' office.

"I was rather intoxicated," she admitted, after persistent questioning, "I was given champagne."
