FOUND ITS GOLDEN HEAD.

Riddle of a Marble Column in Italy Read by a Beggar,

Near the monastery of San Vito, in Naples, stood a marble column that had been erected by an eccentric Frenchman about the beginning of the last century. On it were written in French the following enigmatic words: Hides-Saltod, 12c per Ib; salted "On May 1 every year I have a golden head."

> The inscription sorely puzzled the inhabitants of Naples. On May 1 the year after the erection of the column a great crowd came to it in the hope of finding the top covered with gold pieces. Needless to say, they want home with their pockets as empty as they were when they came.

For several years people came to see the promised wonder and went away disappointed. At last the authorities bad the column taken down in the be lief that treasure would be found be neath it. Nothing but earth was found, and so the column was set up again. Obviously the words had a mystic meaning, but no one was clever enough to guess it, and for years the riddle remained unsolved.

Finally in 1841 a ragged beggar named Annibale Tosci noticed the inscription. He stood looking at it for a long time while he pondered its meaning. Then suddenly the solution of the pussie flashed into his mind. He walted patiently until May 1 before he tested the accuracy of his interpretation of the mystic words.

On the day mentioned in the inscrip-tion Tosci, bearing a pick and shovel, set out at daybreak for the column. He arrived before any chance visitors, and as soon as the monastery's bells tolled 6 he started digging in ground covered by the shadow of the top of the column. He had not dug iong before he came on a satchel that contained 80,000 francs. The inscription was a true one-the head of the every year on May L

The completion of the Eric was the nost important event in the history of railroad building down to that time-s matter of national consequence. Recognition of this fact was made when in May, 1851, a special train carried on a two days' trip through the mountains and valleys of southern New York, aweet with the leaves and blossoms of early summer, President Fillmore, four members of his cabinet and other guests of national distinction. Daniel Webster, majestic even un-

He made the journey in a rocking chair lashed to a flat car, that he might lose nothing of the scenery and the sweetness of the fresh very the great barbecue at Dunkirk, where oxen and sheep were roasted whole, pork and beans were cooked in ves seis holding fifty gallons each, bread was baked in loaves ten feet long and two feet thick, so heavy that two men staggered under their burden, and the whole was served at a table 300 feet long, spread under a specially built shed along Railroad street from Deer to Lion street.

It was a great day for Dunkirk; it was a great day for New York state and the nation, and it was a great day also for President Fillmore, who found the pork and beans especially to his taste.—Wells Fargo Messenger.

Belgrade, Aug. 25.—The blight of war still rests on the Servian capital. In the past ten months there has not been a single wedding here, and the only articles in the shop windows that attract attention are nursing aprons and bennets, plain cotton frocks suitable for hospital wear and crepe.

Eugene will have a good roads institute in connection with its county fair this fall. The idea is to teach the use of road machinery, as well as methods of road building.
