LOTS OF WHALES ARE SEEN NEAR NEWPORT

Seashore Visitors are Much Interested in Appearance of Leviathans of the Deep.

POSSIBLE TO GET GOOD VIEW FROM ALONG SHORE

Unusual for Whales, Especially in such Large Numbers, to Appear Off Coast so Early.

(BY LAMAR TOOZE)

Newport, Ore., Aug. 27.—The appearance of large schools of whales off this coast has created much excitement among the summer visitors at Newport. During the past week, schools of the monsters numbering from ten to fifty whales have been sighted and large crowds of interested people have lined the beach to catch a glimpse of the leviathans.

According to old residents of Newport, it is extremely unusual for the whales, especially in such large numbers, to arrive off this coast until the latter part of September. Their appearance at this time of the year cannot be accounted for.

The gasoline fishing boat, "Ollie S." has been making daily trips over the bar to view the whales at close range. On one of these trips, the passengers were treated with a rare sight when a large whale, fully eighty feet in length jumped out of the water, immediately followed by a giant sawfish which passed directly under it. The "Ollie S." succeeded in getting within seventy-five yards of the school and the whales could be clearly seen spouting and disporting in the water.

The ocean has been extremely smooth during the past ten days making it possible to view the movements of the whales from the beach.
