NEWSPAPERS ARE PUBLIC MIRRORS.

THE local newspapers tell the story of a city's or community's growth better than any other one thing. If you pick up a newspaper and see therein a good line of advertising, you can be certain that the city is all right. If you see news well displayed, with catchy headlines and the "boiler plate" not in evidence, you can safely invest your money in that community. There is a reason for this and that is that the first place a merchant begins to "economize" as times get dull or trade stagnates is on his advertising bills. He does this just because it is the first thing that strikes him he can do without. He must still pay rent and keep clerks, and all incidental expenses go on just the same whether he is doing much or little business. He cuts off his advertising expense simply because that is about the only place that he can cut off the outgo.

If the city is prosperous then it is a pretty safe assurance that the surrounding country is also all right, for the prosperity of the city depends on that of the surrounding territory.

We have without visiting our neighboring cities, been able to keep pretty close tabs on them simply by watching their newspapers. In the past few years there has been marked improvement among our exchanges all along the line. Albany's papers are bright, clarified and full of news, well told and nicely presented. Astoria's papers are true reflexes of Astoria's greatness. Eugene has a splendid daily, the Guard, that would be a credit to a city double its size, and the paper but emphasizes what we have said, for it is in one of the best and liveliest little cities on the coast.

The Coos Bay country a few years ago was represented by a few weeklies, and not very energetic or lively weeklies either. The country was not developed and could not support them. Now the papers there tell a story of phenomenal growth. Bandon has a splendid newspaper, and the Record at Marshfield is newsy, breezy, up to the minute in news and make-up and by its appearance tells of prosperous surroundings. This is exceptionally true of the Coos Bay section for the vast natural wealth of that section was utterly neglected until a few years ago, and now it is looming up as one of the richest and most important districts in the state.

Roseburg, through its splendid papers tells the same story of prosperity, and so do Grants Pass and Medford with their metropolitan papers and wide-awakeness. A glance at any of these newspapers will convince anyone that the great Rogue River valley is a wonderfully prosperous and productive one. You can almost smell the orchard bloom or get the hunger-giving odor of apple and pear.

Across the mountain is the city built by Cain and once known as "Enoch," but now satisfied with the modern name of Klamath Falls. Any Medford man will tell you the story about Cain building the city is correct, for sacred history records that when he left the Garden of Eden he "went east," which of course locates the place the right direction from the original or for that matter the present "Garden of Eden," the Rogue River valley. A few years ago Klamath Falls was a sort of gathering place for cowboys, sheep men and hand-painted women, such as lend spice and variance to frontiers life—in some places. Take a look at its big, bright daily paper, The Northwestern, and you need not be told that Klamath Falls is a city. The get-up of the paper and its advertising columns tell you that and this without reading a thing about the city. If it was first built by Cain it was surely a long time getting a move on, but is now making up for lost time.

Up in the northern part of the state it is the same. The Hood River Glacier tells you that there is a wide-awake, prosperous community behind it. At The Dalles, the papers tell a story of thrift and "Easy Street."

Pendleton—not much use saying anything about the Round-up city this week, for perhaps you are there; but Pendleton is great just as you would expect it to be from getting a glimpse of the East Oregonian, one of the oldest papers in eastern Oregon, and one of the best anywhere.

La Grande reflects its rich surroundings in its splendid newspapers; and you can almost see the yellow nuggets of Baker in the Democrat and Herald, which, advertising the greatness and richness of Baker's mines, forests and farms, show in their news and style that their stories are true else they could not rank as they do among the best little papers in the state.

Heppner, Condon and Lexington are in the list and down through the center of the state and in its heretofore un-get-at-able sections railroads are being built and as they reach them you will see the weeklies change to dailies, and these grow and prosper just as the communities in which they are published develop.

The newspaper is the mirror held up for you in which you can see the reflection of the city where it is published as well as the surrounding country. Judging our great state by her newspapers, and we know of no better, or more accurate way, we can take a just pride in knowing that all her people are prosperous from Clatsop to Malheur and from Coos to Willamette.

FOUR MONTHS FOR DRIVING AN AUTO WHILE INTOXICATED

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)
Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 11.—John P. Agos, a contractor here, was sentenced today by Judge Edgar to four months in jail for driving an automobile while intoxicated. Agos pleaded guilty.

The automobile trip, taken Sunday night, ended in a collision between the Agos automobile and a buggy in which were August Rox of Oakland, his wife and their two children. The buggy was demolished and its occupants all badly bruised.

Here's a chance for a great reform: many people are drawing no pensions. Another: Many people don't get long vacations while drawing salaries.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK

If Tongue Is Coated or If Cross, Feverish, Constipated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today save a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

LESSON IN SCIENTIFIC COMPLEXION RENEWING

(From the Family Physician.)
Everyone has a beautiful skin underneath the one exposed to view. Bear that in mind and it will be easier to understand the correct principle in acquiring a lovely complexion. Nature is constantly shedding the top skin in laky particles like dandruff, only much smaller in size. In abnormal conditions, or in advancing age, these particles are not shed as rapidly as in robust youth. The longer they remain the more soiled or faded they become—that's the immediate cause of a "bad complexion."

It has been discovered that ordinary mercurized wax, to be had at any drug store, will absorb these worn-out particles. The absorption, while hastening Nature's work, goes on gradually enough to cause no inconvenience. In a week or two the transformation is complete. The fresh, healthy-hued, youthful underskin is then wholly in evidence. You who are not satisfied with your complexion should get an ounce of mercurized wax and try this treatment. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

REMARKABLE GROWTH OF EVERETT SHOWN

City Has Gained 11,547 in Last Ten Months, According to Figures of Census Taker.

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)

Everett, Wash., Sept. 11.—Everett's population is today 31,547, according to Polk & Co.'s new directory. Everett's growth during the last ten months has been remarkable. In 1910 the United States census gave the city a population of 24,800. November of that year the city voted dry and the population steadily decreased, value of real estate and residences slumped from one-third to one-half, scores of business places were vacant and could not be rented and the population was reduced to less than 20,000. A gain of approximately 11,547 in less than a year is a showing of which the city is very proud. The growth began immediately after the result of the election was known and it has been all the more remarkable because conditions of the lumber and shingle business have not been as good as they were last year.

Business places are all filled, the residences available for renting are few, values have increased and the outlook is promising.

After Long Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills.

Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 North Walnut Street, Iola, Kan.

MRS. WILLIAMS SAYS:

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for 14 years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sani-tive Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me."—Mrs. SADDIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

THE ROUND-UP.

The London Times is getting the American newspaper idea of a hustler on and has sent a man to the coast for the purpose of writing it up for a special edition.

The Jackson county fair began at Medford Wednesday with a very large attendance. It will run until Saturday night.

Henry Gullickson, city marshal of Gresham, was killed while unloading a safe Monday, from a derrick. The plank down which it was being moved from the derrick broke and the safe weighing 800 pounds pitched over, catching and crushing him under it. He was 49 years old and leaves a wife and several grown children.

Mrs. A. G. Anderson, wife of a prominent real estate dealer of Silverton, dropped dead from heart disease in a hop yard near that place at noon Monday.

With 30 out of 33 precincts heard from, the $500,000 Jackson county good roads bonds carried in Tuesday's election by a majority of 2155 votes.

Medford schools opened Monday with a total attendance of 1171, as against 892 at the opening in September last year. Judging from last year there will be a total of about 1400 by the end of the week.

The Oregon Agricultural college begins business again next Monday.

Albany college will have a team on the intercollegiate gridiron this fall.

Roseburg is wrestling with the problem of inaugurating a public market.

A mortgage for $4,000,000 given by the C. A. Smith Timber Co., has been filed in Douglas county and must be filed in eight other counties in which parts of the land are situated. The mortgage covered 185 printed pages, and the cost of recording in Douglas county was $116. Which means that it will cost $1000 recording fees in all the counties.

A farmer from the Siuslaw valley, who modestly withholds his name, informs the Eugene Register that one acre of his ground has yielded more than seven tons of clover hay.

A. Thomas, who has a farm near Amy, threshed 825 bushels of alsike clover seed from 60 acres—an average of nearly 14 bushels to the acre. He sold his crop for nearly $8500, thus realizing returns of about $132 an acre, we are told by the Yamhill Record.

Bend is keeping up a steady gait in substantial building development, according to the Bulletin, which a few weeks ago the R. B. Mack building was placed under way. Now comes the announcement of other new structures, which will be additions to the town's dimensions, to cost in excess of $100,000.

An old-timer informs us that never before had he witnessed a flight of hop pickers as numerous as those seen in every part of the county. The pickers, together with the Siuslaw, together with the pickers, in readiness for the profitable annual outing.
