ON THE "ACCREDITED" LIST OF THE U. S. SCHOOLS
Approximately one-third of the 14,000 secondary schools in the United States are on a list of accredited schools just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. The list, which was compiled by Dr. Kendrick C. Babcock, formerly of the Bureau of Education, now Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Illinois, is intended mainly as a guide to school and college officers in admitting students from the other states in advanced high-school standing or to college, but incidentally reveals the marked improvement that has recently taken place in secondary education in the United States.

The Bureau list has been made up chiefly from the various certification lists maintained by the states, but where the state officials print lists of high schools of different grades, only the schools of first rank are included. The general principles of selection are that the school shall offer the 14 or 15 points necessary for admission to a standard college or university, each point representing a subject studied for a year; that the curriculum represents 4 years of 36 or more weeks each; that courses of science include satisfactory laboratory equipment.

Both public and private secondary schools are represented on the list, names of private schools being printed in italics to distinguish them from the others. Great care has been taken to see that the names and addresses are accurate, but warning is given that lists such as these are bound to be out of date in a short time, and credentials of earlier years from many of the schools listed should be received with caution. In some states special scrutiny according to Dr. Babcock since high school development in those states is a matter of the past two or three years.

The need for a list of accredited secondary schools has become especially evident in the frequent movements of families for residence from one part of the country to another. A thousand miles counts for little nowadays, say the Bureau officials. The principal of the Los Angeles high school of the registration officers of the University of Chicago are likely at any time to have to pass on the standards and standing of secondary schools in Malden, Mass., Sumpter, S. C., San Antonio, Texas, or Billings, Mont. There are rapid changes in high schools, and wide-varying types of schools, from the extreme classical to the extreme vocational. Hence the desirability of a national list that is a compilation of the state or sectional lists.

The Bureau's list is free for distribution.

HAL GRAY WINS IN THREE STRAIGHT HEATS

Francis J. Pushes Him Hard, But Pendleton Horse Shows He Is There With Lots of Speed.

PRINCE ZOLOCK WINS OREGON FUTURITY CONTEST

Welcome Dan Carries Off Honors in 2:30 Trot and Armstrong Is Again Winner of Relay Race.

Despite the fact Hal Gray, a Salem horse, belonging to G. C. Pendleton, had practically his first real chance in a big race and an opportunity to show what was in him yesterday afternoon, the plucky little horse succeeded in winning first money in the big $5000 2:08 pace. He won in three straight heats, and his best time was 2:08.

This was the most exciting event of the afternoon and the thousands who witnessed it got their money's worth. It was a seven-horse race, and not an outcry was flagged, notwithstanding the fact that the pace set by Hal Gray, Francis J. and Hal Boy was something terrific from start to finish. Hal Boy took second money, and a merry fight was put up by the other entries, Ella Penrose, Bonnie Antrim, King Seal and Joe McGregor.

Goits Go.
The Oregon Futurity purse of $1500 was interesting, not so much in regard to the time, but from the fact the 3-year-olds fought gamely. Prince Zoelock carried away the first money and marked himself at 2:16 1/4. Helen Mistletoe took second money, while Duke romped for the third prize.

Every heat in the $500 2:30 trot brought the crowd to its feet, as usual. Welcome Dan, driven by Henry Helman, made the nice record of 2:19 in the first heat, and astonished the horsemen by coming in at a 2:15 gait in the third and last heat. He won first money and Sargo, driven by Hewitt, took second. The pace set by Driver Helman was a little too much for Ne Plus Ultra and Getlock, as they dropped behind the distance flag in the first heat.

Results.
Three-Year-Old Pace, Purse $1500.

The results of the relay race were: Armstrong, 5:01 1/2; Gerkin, 5:21 and Guyette 6. Armstrong now has a lead of 9 1/2 seconds over Gerking and 2:23 1/2 over Guyette.
