

Sir Oliver Lodge Says Science Will Solve World's Riddles

TWO of the greatest riddles of the universe are immortality and sex determination. Science has long looked upon these as the most puzzling of the world's problems, but without very definite or satisfactory results. This is why the recent remarks of Sir Oliver Lodge, president of the British Association For the Advancement of Science, on these topics are extremely interesting. Sir Oliver stated that he felt scientists were started on the road to the solution of the question, "Is there life beyond the grave?" He said he thought science would answer this deepest of all of life's puzzles. Regarding the predetermination of sex, he said science was still as much in the dark on that subject as it was on the other, the claims of some experimenters to the contrary, but he thought this question would be solved through observation and experimentation of plant life.

AUTO IS DAMAGED.

Joe Underwood's automobile was damaged to some extent last evening on South Commercial street, near Ferry when a woman in another car crashed into him. Neither automobile was traveling fast.

Origin of Vaudeville Turns.

We are indebted to John Chinaman for the modern vaudeville "turn." There were theaters in China when our ancestors were wandering about dressed in skins and blue paint, and the actors in those far-off times were just as anxious to please their patrons as the modern "artist" is to get the applause which gladdens his heart and—more important still—sends his salary up. The play over, each member of the troupe came forward to receive the applause to which he thought he was entitled, and one of them hit on the bright idea of performing some simple trick to prolong the enthusiasm of the spectators. His example was speedily followed, and these tricks soon became obligatory. One actor would produce a cat or a monkey from a hat; another would imitate an animal or "swallow" an object which he afterward found in his boot. Each tried to surpass the other, and feats of strength and dexterity were soon added to these simple tricks.—Pearson's Weekly.

Quite a Run.

It's an overworked word, that poor little monosyllable "run."

"I found a run started in my best stockings this morning," said the woman, "so I thought I'd run downtown and go into —'s, where they are having a great run on silk hose. They ran an advertisement in this morning's paper, you know. Well, I ran my eye over the bargains on the way down and I saw so many things I needed that I ran out of money before I got to the home counter. Well, I'd run my legs off by that time, but I don't run a bill at —'s, so I was in despair until who should I run into but my husband. I got some money of him—he's more generous than the general run of men—but when I got to the counter they'd run out of my size. Wasn't that a terrible run of luck?"

And so she ran on and on and on.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

out an "excess" receipt the train began to move, whereupon he came in and traveled to town. The gentleman who had made this trip compulsory engaged the collector in conversation and found that the man would have to cross Manchester to get a train home again. "Why," he said, "then you'll pass not far from my office. Would you mind taking this bag there for me? I should like to get out at the next station and come to town by a later train." The dazed collector meekly agreed. It was a fine example of how to collect "excess."—Manchester Guardian.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous, because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple anti-acid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which

MRS. DUNIWAY'S OPPOSITION TO PROHIBITION

The following telegram appearing in the Oregonian of yesterday is self-explanatory

The Dalles, Ore., Oct. 29.—(Special)—Leaders of the army which is fighting the movement to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in The Dalles threw a bomb into the camp of the prohibitionists today by making public a letter from Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, of Portland. In her communication to Peter Kuchnling, manager of the Hotel Dalles, Mrs. Duniway advised the women of this city not to vote for prohibition.

The leader of the Oregon suffragists is opposed to the prohibition movement, at waged at present, on the grounds that prohibition doesn't prohibit, but fosters the breaking of laws and deception. Mrs. Duniway says that if she were able she would come to The Dalles herself to assist in the battle. Mrs. Duniway's letter follows:

Portland, Ore., Oct. 24, 1913.

Peter Kuchnling, Esq., Manager Hotel Dalles, The Dalles, Ore.:

"In answer to yours of the 15th inst., I will say that I have reached the age of 79 years and am practically a rheumatic cripple; otherwise I would be pleased personally to start a moral reform, based on human nature, human justice, human freedom and common sense, but not under the prohibition movement as at present agitated, which proposes to confiscate property and destroy personal responsibility.

"I had the honor to counsel the equal suffragists of San Francisco and Los Angeles to avoid extremes of any sort; and by their votes they have proved worthy of the trust bestowed upon them.

"Let the women of Oregon rise to the occasion as the women voters of California did, and the fame of their conservative action will prove that they, too, possess broad ideals. Prohibition never did prohibit, but does engender law-breaking and deception, which it is our duty to avoid.

Respectfully, ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY."
