COOKING SCHOOL IS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Capital Journal's Free Instruction Comes to End and Mrs. Vaughn Warmly Praised by All.

CAKE BAKING GETS BIG BOOST IN CAPITAL CITY

Housewives Get Much Good Cooking Knowledge From Mrs. Vaughn and Regret Close of School.

Today was a recordbreaker at The Capital Journal Cooking school in point of attendance and enthusiasm as well as the excellence of the program. The audience increased each day and each day the women grew more extravagant in their praise of Mrs. Vaughn and her lectures as well as the delicious foods she prepared for them. There was much regret expressed over the fact that the school closed today. As one of Salem's leading housewives said: "We are just getting warmed up; we wish Mrs. Vaughn could stay for six weeks."

It is believed the school could be carried on profitably for that length of time but it is impossible, as Mrs. Vaughn has already a contract to appear in another city next Monday.

Question Box Helps

The question box has been one of the most popular features of The Capital Journal Cooking school. Mrs. Vaughn said that this is one thing that has helped to make the school a success. It has enabled her to know just what Salem housewives wanted to talk about and she feels that she has in this way been able to be of some real assistance to them.

Mrs. Vaughn made another woman extremely happy today by presenting her with one of her wonderfully beautiful cakes. Mrs. Vaughn's cake baking lessons have been thoroughly enjoyed, throughout the course of lecture-demonstrations, and her ideas of economy as well as richness and beauty have made cake-baking very popular in Salem and it is safe to say that there will be more cakes baked at home in the next six weeks than have been baked in the past year.

Praise Mrs. Vaughn.

At the close of the lecture demonstration today the guests of the cooking school again held an informal session on Mrs. Vaughn's kitchen stage and vied with each other in their expressions of praise of her lectures and her methods and her fine cooking.

"I never ate such good things in my life," said one woman today. "but I really feel, after the splendid lessons I have had this week, I can cook almost as well as Mrs. Vaughn."

This seems the general verdict; every one feels that Mrs. Vaughn is not only the best cook they ever saw but that she is also the best teacher and that they have all learned to be pretty good cooks themselves. Everybody has enjoyed the cooking school and is sorry indeed that it has closed.

The Capital Journal invites public discussion in this department—Let both sides of all matters be fully brought out—it is not the purpose of this newspaper to do the thinking for its readers.

SAYS DRY SECRETARY PRODUCES BEER BERRIES

Editor Capital Journal: W. H. Trindle owns a joint interest in the hop yards on the old Guthrey place, near Lincoln, in Polk county, and produced upon that place about one hundred and twenty-six bales of hops, which were shipped October 20, 1913, in Northern Pacific car No. 49956 to Gippa Brewing Co., Peoria, Ill. Mr. Trindle still has about forty bales, holding for a better price.

Now, since the prohibition gentleman has seen fit to malign some of our respected tradesmen, and has openly charged them with being actuated by mercenary motives, will he now inform his cohorts why these hops were not burned, thus stopping the brewing of beer at its head. "Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel!"

DISCUSSES GERMAN ATTITUDE.

Editor Capital Journal: I am sure that the statement of the German society, made in your paper is an appeal in itself for Prohibition. Yes, "The German, accustomed as he is, loves his glass of beer, and does not want to be compelled, like a thief in the night, to secure it as he would have to if Salem went 'dry.'"

Is this the kind of citizen America wants from her sister, Germany?

As far as President Kehrberger taking his "business" to another place where his "innocent amusements and harmless recreation" will not be enbled, I believe there are many, many

HITCH OVER WEIGHT IN ANDERSON-BURNS BOUT

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] San Francisco, Oct. 31.—A hitch over the weight question threatened today to result in calling off plans for a 20-round battle here Thanksgiving day between Bud Anderson and Frankie Burns. Anderson insisted that he could easily do 133 pounds four hours before the battle, the weight insisted upon by Burns, but said he would not do it. Burns then called-off negotiations, but promoter Jimmy Rohan, acting for Eddie Graney, arranged another conference for late today. The financial terms offered by Rohan were satisfactory to both men and it was believed the weight squabble would be settled before night and the articles signed. "I know I can do 133 pounds," said Anderson today, "but I would rather fight at 135. I only weighed about 133 pounds when I fought Louis Rees Wednesday night. I would have made 135 pounds, but I caught a bad cold and could not go ahead with my training. I can make 133 pounds, but I will make it only for Willie Ritchie, Leach Cross, or the other top-notchers." A woman with long feet is partial to long skirts.

WEALTHY ORANGE MAN BUNKED BY STRANGER

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Portland, Or., Oct. 31.—L. W. Duggett, aged 82 years old, a wealthy orange grower of Pomona, Cal., is out the $367 today he supposed he was betting on a "fixed" wrestling match. Being told by a plausible stranger that a "fake" match was to be staged in Vancouver, Wash., Duggett gave his new found friend $367 to be wagered on the outcome. He has not seen the "friend" since. The police are investigating. City detectives saved Duggett from being "buncoed" out of $3000 a month ago.

KILBANE WORSTS MARS IN SEVENTH ROUND

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Cincinnati, Oct. 31.—Fight fans here were convinced today that Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, packs a punch, following his knockout here last night of Knockout Mars, of Cincinnati, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Until Kilbane put over the knockout wallop, the men were about on an even basis. In the second round Mars floored Kilbane, but the champion was up fighting fiercely in an instant, and evened up matters by send Mars to the mat. Mars met his finish when he made a rush at Kilbane. The champion caught him coming in with a straight right to the jaw and Mars went down for the count.

good Americans ready to take his place and be at least a law-abiding and peace-loving people.

When people cannot or will not control themselves in a great issue like temperance, I think it is time for restrictive legislation to step in and control them.

Our prohibition numbers are increasing each year as we go along. We can see it and so can many others, much to their alarm. Right will conquer. If not this time, some other. We will accomplish our ambitions sooner or later.

I shall always vote "dry" because it is right.

GERMAN KAISER CONDEMNS DRINK

(Famous speech of His Majesty, William II, Emperor of Germany, to naval cadets at Merwick, as translated by A. G. Fegest, of Chicago, from the original German text published in Die Alkoholfrage, of Germany.)

Says Alcohol Causes Nine-tenths of Crime---Undermines Nervous System---Weakens the Nation

Another little admonition I will give you upon a question that lies heavily upon my heart for my nation. It is the question, the alcohol and the drink.

I know very well that the pleasure of drinking is an old heritage of the German. We must henceforth, however, through self-discipline, free ourselves from this evil in every connection.

I can assure you that I in my twenty-two-year reign have made the observation that the greater number of criminal cases submitted to me for adjudication—up to nine tenths, are traceable to the consequences of alcohol.

In the earlier times it passed for extraordinary cleverness in the youth, for him to imbibe a large quantity of alcohol and hear it. I, as a young officer, had occasion to see such examples, but never myself to participate.

These are views that suited the Thirty-Two-Year War, but now, no more.

Entirely apart from the consequences, which I need not further portray, I desire to apprise you on one point for your future career in the first line. As you yourselves will observe during the course of your term of service on board, the service in my navy has reached such a height of strenuousness as you can hardly surpass.

To endure these enormous peace exertions without exhaustion and to be fresh in the event of real seriousness depends upon you.

The next war and the next sea battle demand sound nerves of you. Nerves will decide. These become undermined through alcohol and from youth up by the use of alcohol endangered.

You will later have opportunity to see the target ships and the action of the modern projectiles upon the ships, and therefrom you can picture the conditions during battle. You will see horrible destruction when you are upon these.

Here it calls— "Steady nerves and a cool head!"

That nation which consumes the least quantity of alcohol wins. And that you should be, my gentlemen! And through you an example should be given the crews. That works most with mankind.

And in consequence of this, I expect of you, that even now at the naval academy and on board ship, in all comradeship and friendliness in no way disturbed, among yourselves you take heed thereto, and provide that the indulgence in alcohol be not counted as belonging to your privileges.

There are being organized in my navy, Good Templar lodges and Blue Cross societies. Individual officers and several hundred men have joined. I hope you will do all you can to aid the crews to join. I need merely refer to the typical example of the English navy, where 20,000 men and officers have already joined, to the great advantage of that navy.

It is a question of the future for our navy and for our people. If you educate the people to abstain from alcohol, I shall gain healthy and sensible subjects.

It is a great question of the future, because through the men who leave the service the idea will be brought to the land.

When you spread these principles, my people will be morally uplifted. That is a work in which I bid you do your share.
