No clew was left by the robber.

STRUCK ON HEAD BY AN UNKNOWN MAN WHO ESCAPES

The police today are looking for a strange man who hit Otto Anson, a baker at the California bakery, over the head with some blunt object while he was walking to his home east of the city last Tuesday night.

Anson left this city and had reached a point on the reform school road, near the Fedrich slaughter house, when he saw a man walking toward him. Just as Anson attempted to pass, he says the man up and hit him over the head. Anson tells the police that he was stunned by the blow, and did not regain his right mind until several hours afterward, when he made his way home.

It is believed by Anson that his assailant intended to rob him, but, upon seeing what he had done, became frightened and fled.

HANSEL MUST DIE IS DECISION OF WEST IN HIS CASE

Governor West this morning commuted the sentence of Lem Woon, a Chinaman, who was sentenced to hang November 14, for the killing of another Chinaman in Portland some four or five years ago, to imprisonment for life. At the same time he announced that he would not interfere with the course of the law in the case of Oswald Hansel, who is sentenced to be hanged tomorrow morning at 8:30, for the murder of Judge Taylor at Astoria last September. Strong pressure was brought to bear to have Hansel reprieved in order that his testimony could be taken in a civil suit, to set aside a deed and mortgage given by Hansel to attorneys to defend him. It is alleged that this deed and the title to other property was secured from Hansel by doubtful methods, and Hansel claims he never executed the deed. The governor, however, concluded that there was not sufficient ground to warrant the interference.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN BY CONFERENCE HERE

At the session of the Congregational conference today the following officers were chosen:

Charles E. McGinnis, layman, Eugene, moderator; Rev. F. C. Butler, of Hubbard, assistant moderator, and Daniel Stever, of Portland, re-elected registrar for three years.

Gives Fine Address. President Bushnell, of Pacific University, gave an intensely interesting address at the First Congregational church last night. He was optimistic as to what might be accomplished, although deploring the fact that the church had not succeeded as well as it should with the working class in the large cities. The greed of many by which they hoped to get something for nothing was one of the curses of the day, he asserted. He firmly believed that civilization could never advance along such lines.

Professor Henks, of Willamette University, discussed "The Civilization of Christianity" interestingly.

The musical program of the evening was much enjoyed.

State Prohibition in 1916. The committee on temperance recommended yesterday that an effort be made to repeal the home rule law in 1914 and make no effort for state prohibition until 1918. H. R. Sheldon, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, strongly endorsed this plan.

The registrar's report showed a gratifying growth in the churches of the state.

There was a lively discussion at the afternoon session over papers read by Mrs. William Fleming on "Women for Women, or Women for the Kingdom," and Mrs. Robert McMurphy, on "Wasteful Methods in Women's Work."

The following is the program for this afternoon and evening:

Afternoon. 2:00—The Church and Social Service. (a) The Church and Social Movements. Rev. E. A. Harris. (b) The Church and the Amusement Problem. Rev. D. V. Poling. (c) The Rural Church as a Social Agent. Rev. F. C. Butler.

Tales of Heroic Deeds from Our Foreign Fields—What Our Women Are Doing in the Home Land, Mrs. Wm. Kantner.

Music. Round Table—Mrs. Geo. N. Paddock.

3:00—Discussion led by G. N. Edwards and W. A. Schwinley.

4:00—National Societies and the Kingdom. (a) Congregationalism in Oregon. Supt. G. E. Paddock. (b) Our Sunday Schools in Oregon. Supt. H. N. Smith. (c) The Church Building Society. Rev. E. S. Bollinger. (d) Reports from representatives of other National Societies.

Evening. The Layman and the Kingdom. 7:30—Praise service.

7:45—Address, Hon. W. H. Lewis, Seattle, former president of National Brotherhood.
