

MEN ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY IN BAD SHAPE

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] El Centro, Cal., Dec. 6.—Exhausted to the verge of collapse by a 45 hour flight over the desert, two young men giving the names of Paul Case and Tom Green, declared by arresting officers to be the men who robbed the Palo Verde bank at Blythe of $5,000 and killed Cashier A. W. Bowles, are receiving medical attention in the Imperial county jail here today.

Green had suffered the loss of an eye, which was gouged almost from its socket by a thorn as he fled through the mesquite brush the night of the robbery. He was almost mad from the pain, but he had stoically refused to see a physician upon his arrival here.

Find Them Asleep. The men were captured by El Centro officers in a hotel. They were found asleep. Beneath their pillows were their revolvers and $4,400 in gold.

Both men refused to discuss the Blythe robbery and murder, but the authorities are confident that they have captured the guilty men. They were trailed to Holtville, where they abandoned their horses, which were unable to travel further. On foot they made their way to El Centro.

SUFFRAGISTS DETERMINED TO SEE PRESIDENT WILSON

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] Washington, Dec. 6.—Delegates to the national suffragists' convention here did not want to be unreasonable, they said late yesterday, and inasmuch as they were convinced President Wilson really was ill, they took no offense at his failure to receive the delegation which called on him yesterday to ask immediate adoption of equal rights as an administration measure.

They did not propose, however, to abandon their attempt, and voted yesterday afternoon to await the chief executive's convenience and pleasure to present their petition.

Furthermore, they did not propose to submit to any unreasonable delay, and as a precaution against it, chose a committee of 55 to "camp on the president's trail," as one of them expressed it.

What they specifically wanted was a special presidential message sent to congress calling for a constitutional amendment giving the vote to women, ahead of all other business.

DRAMATIC NEWS

ANNA HELD'S ALL-STAR VAUDEVILLE JUBILEE TONIGHT

The Anna Held All Star Variete Jubilee which comes to the Grand Opera House tonight, is believed by John Cort—its producer—to be the epitome and climax of fine light entertainment as it is now expressed and demanded of the American stage. Beauty visualized and heard—a prime essential is supplied to the ultimate limit; great music—not great with oppressive traditions of other days and races—but great with the crowding needs of America, of here and now; great dancing—dancing that is the demonstrated racial expression of young America as witnessed in the syncopated measures of the tango, the turkey trot, the hesitating waltz and the folk-steps of the young states; humor that is wholesome, clean, irresistible; mimicry that is definitely graceful; physical efficiency as bestowed upon the greatest acrobats of the orient; the human voice in the latest and most perfect eloquence of appeal; these are the salient features of the advanced American vaudeville of which Anna Held's Variete Jubilee is offered as the best example.

George Beban and his surpassing players in the dainty dramatic genre "The Sign of the Rose;" the Imperial Pekinese company of six incredibly accomplished acrobats; Hirschel Hendorfer the puzzle of the musical critics, a virtuoso of the piano and a master mimmer combined; Ward and Curran, the emperors of laughter, in their comedy sketch "That Terrible Judge;" Charles Ahorn and his 10 idiotically funny burlesquers of the modern speed mania and Francis and Florette, admittedly the foremost dancing interpreters of the twentieth-century passion for sustained and deferred motion in terpsichorean art. These notable features in sublimated fun and intimate beauty, headed by the exotic splendor of Anna Held and the lavish adornment of modern fashion, and set in the glorified stage—pictures of modern stagecraft, the Variete Jubilee is, at least, a sincere and notable challenge to those who wish to laugh with shame and to be happy without being silly.

THE GIRL OF THE NORTH TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

When the curtain raises next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings on the big local production, "The Girl of the North," to be given at the Grand for two nights only, under the auspices and management of the Loyal Order of Moose, it will start the presentation of one of the best and strongest plays on the stage today.

The scenes are laid in Northern Canada, and special lighting and scenic effects are being arranged to make it the more realistic. The last act scene, which shows the portage of the Little Bear river just at sunset, is an exceptionally beautiful setting, and a very peculiar ending for the play, for later night falls, and the only light is from the glow of the camp fire. Then, as that sputters and dies out, the last of the act is finished in total darkness.

A good cast has been selected and a special orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music. Also a strong specialty program has been worked up. A program of the same follows: George Snyder, solo singing. Miss Pearl Vercler, violin soloist. "Biddy" Bishop, blackface act, singing and dancing specialty, ten minutes of fun. Oscar Steelhammer, trombone soloist. McNaughton and Berry, in their comedy cross-fire skit called "Next." Miss Trizie Burka, formerly of the Alaskan Film Co., in her famous big time act, "The Manicure Girl."

The Salem quartet, in all the late popular song hits. Miss Margaret White, Salem's cleverest impromptu, in a dainty singing and dancing act, featuring Elsie Janis' great song hit, "May Be It's Another Robber." Rehearsals are being held daily on both the show and specialties, and the

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper. Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder. There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

YOUNG SPRECKELS IS MADE DEFENDANT IN DIVORCE SUIT [UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] San Francisco, Dec. 6.—Suit for absolute divorce from John D. Spreckels Jr., of San Francisco and San Diego, is filed today in the superior court here by Mrs. Edith Marie Spreckels, through her attorney, Joseph T. O'Connor.

The divorce is sought on the ground of extreme cruelty. Among other things Mrs. Spreckels alleged that her husband for several years had been quarrelsome and fault finding; that he remained away from home for two weeks at a time, and that his conduct to herself and friends had caused her great pain and humiliation.

The couple were married December 15, 1902 and have three children, over whom the mother asks sole custody. Mrs. Spreckels states that there is no community property, and asks the court to set aside adequate alimony for herself, in addition to a specific sum for the education of the children.
