

Mrs. David Eyre, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Harding, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin, Mr. and Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding and Miss Zoe Stockton.

The committee appointed to work with the state board of moving picture censors contains the name of Miss Matthe Beauty, of this city, the other two prominent club women being Mrs. Helen Smick, of Roseburg, and Mrs. Lee Morehouse. Miss Beauty has been very active in club work in this city, having been president of the Salem Woman's Club last year.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. D. Mickle addressed the Woman's Club Saturday afternoon at the city library, illustrating his lecture by samples of pure and impure foodstuffs. Marmoschino cherries were shown in their pure state and after they had been dyed. Bakery stuff was shown that had been dyed with chemicals to imitate the rich color of eggs, with the flavor entirely lacking, and its substitute being positively injurious.

Every prisoner in the Oregon State Penitentiary will receive a Christmas box, if plans made by the Portland Commons' Mission and the Oregon Prisoners' Aid Society are carried out, having pledged themselves to fill 800 boxes, each to contain one pound of cake, a glass of jelly, two oranges, two apples, half pound of candy, a package of figs and half pound of nuts. The Portland Woman's Club has promised to fill 100 boxes.

A holiday program was presented by the pupils of the Lincoln school on Monday evening, at which nearly 100 parents were present, showing much interest in the work done by pupils and teachers. As a recognition of their interest Mrs. Penn gave a short address on the subject of "The Parents' Replete with helpful suggestions. Seventh grade pupils gave a song and the eighth grade followed with another. "The Parents' Viewpoint" was presented by Mrs. E. T. Moores in an able paper, emphasizing the "get-together" spirit necessary between teacher and pupils. Mrs. Charles Jones presented the viewpoint of the child which she said largely reflected the sentiment in the home.

WOMEN'S CLUB NOTES.

While the work of the Salem Woman's Club has been more noticeable in the affairs of the city than country, such as the making of the town more clean and beautiful, the creation of the public library, and the various branches of public charity, it has come in touch with the lives of country women during the latter part of the year to a surprising degree through the agency of the rest room established a few weeks ago, and already well patronized by farm women who in times past were obliged to wait about the stores until their husbands were ready to drive home. Now, however, they may be very comfortable during their waits, enjoying the privilege of a rocking chair and a late magazine, all without expense to themselves.

Despite the hurry of Christmas preparations, the various classes of the Woman's Club have met with their usual regularity this week, and no postponement is planned for Christmas week, as all meetings will take place before the Christmas exercises.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Joseph H. Albert and Mrs. John C. Griffith joined Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Krause and their daughter Helen, in Portland last week and after an extended tour of the East will visit Florida and Cuba, returning by way of California in February.

Mrs. De Beck of Vancouver, B. C., who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley for several weeks, has returned home, accompanied by her granddaughter, Dorothy Livesley. Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley will go to Vancouver for the holidays.

Mrs. Harriet McArthur and Miss Genevieve Thompson, well known in society circles of the Capital City who are spending some time in the Orient, are at Hong Kong, but plan to spend Christmas in Java. During their stay in Japan they were guests at the Mikado's garden party at Tokio, which was attended very largely by foreign diplomats.

Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, at one time state president of the W. C. T. U., and a resident of Salem, is giving a series of lectures in the Middle Western states.

Miss Zoe Olmstead, whose host of friends, coupled with her untiring energy, won for her a high place in the Portland Evening Telegram's circulation contest, was awarded an automobile.

Miss Helen V. Crawford of Lebanon has been elected to the position of municipal judge, after having been a successful orchardist and farmer for some years.

Mrs. Olive England Enright, of Portland, is in the city to arrange for the rebuilding of her property destroyed by fire last week. Mrs. England has long been associated with the "Uplift Movement" in social and philanthropic work in Salem, that her many friends are glad to welcome her return if only for a few weeks.

REPRODUCTION OF CHRIST IN ART QUITE EXPENSIVE

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
ROME, Dec. 20.—John Lennox, of Oak Park, Ill., today gave a public exhibition of his art collection of photographic reproductions of Christ in art. The American explained today that he is spending the winter in Italy in the hopes of completing his collection which, as shown today includes more than 3,000 photographs which it has taken him twenty-five years to acquire from all parts of the world. The collection begins with photographs of the first rudely portrayed faces of Christ as they were found cut in the walls of the catacombs, and continue down through the development of sacred art until the present time. Confident that he has secured photographs of all pictures of Christ by the ancient and renaissance artists, Lennox is now devoting his time exclusively to the modern paintings. At present he is photographing the face as it appears in some recent frescoes at Florence. His work is also being greatly aided by the modern artists themselves who send him the photographs of their work. Some of the latest thus to be received by him came from Gebhardt, the famous German artist.

THE SCIENCE OF THE TIDES
[CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 20.—Prof. John R. Stockwell, of Case School of Applied Science, the first man to prove by scientific calculations that Dr. Frederick Cook had failed to reach the North Pole and whose scientific works, written for the Smithsonian institute, are world famous, at the age of 82 is racing with death. For six years this aged student, whose rise from a country boy with practically no education to a pinnacle in the world of mathematics and astronomy reads like fiction, has worked unceasingly on his last great problem—a new theory of the tides. And now he is afraid the grim reaper may win. Professor claims that in solving this problem he will show the real cause for the wonderfully regulated movement of the vast waters. "My calculations have proved to me that the present system of computing the tides from the action of the moon is wrong," said Professor Stockwell, "but I must prove it to the world. It's a slow task though. But I can't fail in my last big effort for I've always believed no man should leave an uncompleted work. I only want to finish my work, to solve my last problem and round out my life—then I'll die happy."

STEPS ON HIS FEET.
PARIS, Dec. 20.—A story is being told here today intimating that one of the reasons why M. Mollard, introducer of ambassadors at the President's Palace, was replaced by M. Martin, was because he stepped on the chief executive's feet. According to the story, on the day Martin succeeded Mollard as master of ceremonies some one remarked to President Poincaré, "Really no one would notice M. Mollard was not here." "I would," the President is quoted as answering, "for no one has stepped on my toes." It appears M. Mollard, in making an introduction, had a habit of stepping back a pace, President Poincaré had learned the trick and stayed far enough away in the rear to escape M. Mollard weighs over 200 pounds.
