

CASH FROM BOND ISSUE SLOW TO REACH PEOPLE

Council Takes Up Some Warrants But Claims for Refund Go Over for Another Week.

LIENS ARE FINALLY WIPED
OFF BOOKS BY RECORDER

Ryan Building Is Faulty and Will Have
To Be Reconstructed From the Basement Up, Is Report.

The first payment of funds derived from the refund sewer bond issue of nearly half a million dollars recently made was authorized last evening at the city council meeting, when it was directed that warrants totaling $27,879.13, held by the Capital National bank, and warrants totaling $1,129.17 held by D. W. Eyre, be taken up and paid. It was explained by Macy that it was desired to pay these claims at once, as they drew 6 per cent interest. Property owners will get no interest from the time they were notified in December.

A large bunch of sewer refund claims were referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses.

The city recorder reported that he had gone over the city's books and cancelled all the sewer assessment liens against property.

The street committee reported drainage on Columbia street repaired.

The Geiger Construction company was allowed a final estimate of $1,546.58, less $170 for use of the city's steam roller, for the Commercial street improvement.

The street committee reported repairs made on the fair grounds road. It also reported that it would be well to let repairs on the Turner road wait until spring, when the water subsides, as recommended by the street commissioner.

Ryan Building Faulty.

That the R. R. Ryan three-story building, in process of construction on South Commercial street, adjoining The Capital Journal block, is defective in many respects from foundation to garret, was the report of a special committee. The columns are weak and would not sustain the weight that it would be necessary to support when the building is completed. No plans or specifications could be found. It was recommended to the council that all work be suspended until plans and specifications were filed at the city hall and approved by the city engineer and the work already done fixed up so as to meet requirements.

Awaits Committee's Report.

The city engineer reported that 12th street improvement from Mission to the city limits has been completed six months and the contractor, Clark & Henry company, should be allowed a balance of $2,507.82 due. Macy asked that action be postponed until the special committee report on the improvement of the street beyond the city limits. The report of the engineer was laid over for one week.

That he had given the city several hundred dollars worth of material manufactured in molds loaned by the city and that there was still more material to be turned out by the molds for a sewer connecting with Chemeketa was the statement of Superintendent Steiner, of the asylum, in reply to a communication of the city calling for a return of the molds. One of the last acts of Street Commissioner T. Cornelius, now retired, was to call the council's attention to the fact that the asylum had the molds. Steiner said that if the city wanted its molds it could have them and he would call off the making of the Chemeketa street material.

Molds Not Desired.

Chairman Hatch, of the street committee, explained that he had assured Steiner that so far as he was concerned he could keep the molds until the city needed them and a motion to that effect was adopted by the council.

The report of the old committee on accounts and current expenses on voting machines were referred to the new committee on accounts and current expenses.

The acceptance by the bond company of a continuance of the contract of Arnez & Co. on the Market street improvement to August 1 was read.

Engineer Skelton estimated the drainage of South Liberty street at a point where needed would cost $130.65. The repair of certain intersections of Cottage street was voted.

Will Not Appeal Case.

In a communication telling of the success of the city and Oregon Electric company in the suit brought by Peil and others, City Attorney Page stated that the property owners had decided against appealing and the railroad company would proceed with its improvement.

In a discussion over the question of permitting a property owner postpone building a cement walk until spring, it was contended that such walks could be safely built at this season of the year in certain kinds of soil.

A petition of the White House in regard to repairing a kitchen roof was referred.

To Inspect Wiring.

City Engineer Skelton was authorized to appoint S. P. McCracken, sanitary inspector, inspector of electrical wiring.

B. W. Macy, as administrator of the estate of James Barringer, filed a petition in regard to the payment of a sewer fund. He contended that under the terms of an ordinance now in effect those not entitled to sewer funds could secure the same.

Fire Chief Phillips reported his recommendations for firemen.

Special Officer Named.

S. E. Hawthorne's appointment as special officer in South Salem to run down vandals who have been smashing windows was made on petition of several property owners. Macy referred to the fact that he had introduced an ordinance covering this matter and the council thought it unnecessary. He said between 30 and 40 lights in one building had been broken. Roughnecks also stole cream and milk from a dairyman's wagon and pounded the owner when he protested.

Skiing, Most Dangerous of Winter Sports, Again Leaps Into View.

NOW comes the season of the most exciting of all winter sports, skiing. In this country this death defying coasting on snow and air is followed mostly in the northwest. In Wisconsin there are held meets in which such cracks as Carl Solberg, the Scandinavian champion, take part. The picture shows this wonder making one of his marvelous leaps through the air, with other skiers watching him in enthusiastic admiration.

THE CAPITAL JOURNAL

has the largest circulation of any paper published outside of Portland, and is one of the five leading newspapers published in Oregon having newspaper circulations of 3000 or more. This circulation fact, coupled with its inherent qualities, the rich possibilities of its field, the prompt responsiveness of its readers to intelligent advertising rates, based wholly on its circulation, makes it a profitable medium of publicity for all active and prospective advertisers--local and national--desirous of increasing their trade.

RECEPTION TONIGHT.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The first of the year's official social affairs at the White House will be held tonight when the president formally receives the members of the foreign diplomatic corps. From time immemorial, the president has always opened the official season with this reception to the diplomats. Of the four big functions, the diplomatic, judiciary, congressional and army and navy receptions, the diplomatic always is the most brilliant. Besides the cabinet officials and their wives, the higher officials of the government and of the army and navy attend the diplomatic reception. The dress uniforms of the service men make a handsome setting with the magnificent and sometimes spectacularly unique dress worn by some of the foreign diplomats, especially those from the Orient.

SHE KNEW.

"If there were four flies on a table and I killed one, how many would be left?" inquired a teacher.

"One," answered a bright little girl.
