ROYAL

The world-wide standard

Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder and its use is more economical than other leavening agents, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Cheap baking powders, containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or advertised as pure and wholesome. Such mixtures are not desirable for food ingredients. Most persons have learned to their sorrow that a low price does not always mean economy. This is especially so in a food article. No baking powder can properly be substituted for Royal.

Read the ingredient clause upon the label. If it does not show "Cream of Tartar," don't buy the powder.

HOW HOUSEWIFE IN ST. PAUL CUT COST OF NECESSARIES

Takes Her Own Basket and Gets Lowest Price on Everything She Purchases.

BY BURTON K. STANDISH.
Written for the United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 21.—The desire for convenience is the cause of the high cost of living, according to National Democratic Committeeman Fred B. Lynch, of Minnesota, who quoted a number of instances to prove his contention while sitting in a Washington hotel lobby the other day.

"The average purchase in a delicatessen store I know of in St. Paul is 31 cents," he declared. "It was found to deliver this order cost 7 cents. After more investigation along this line a friend of mine, who has been put in charge of the store, cut out his delivery wagons, his telephones, and every other item which could possibly be lopped off, and then he cut his prices. The housewife has to go to the store herself and bring her goods home in a basket, but she pays only 17 cents a pound for porterhouse steak, 15 cents for round steak, and 12 cents for pork and mutton. Think what could be done along the same lines in New York where it is said the cost of delivering meats and groceries is 37 per cent.

"I have long known that telephones have been largely instrumental in increasing the cost of living. It is time the people should make a study of how to eliminate expenses that are not necessary, when dealing with the problem of how to cut down the cost of living."

Many Wilsons on Job.

A casual scanning of the official directories that Uncle Sam gets out showing the names and salaries of his multitude of employes might lead the reader to believe the opinion that the "family of Wilsons" is favored in the matter of jobs. Listed in these directories are no less than sixty-five Wilsons who hold jobs that are better than the average ,not counting "Mr. Woodrow Wilson" who is president.

There are scores upon scores of other Wilsons who hold clerkships and minor positions. It might be mentioned that none of the Wilsons, including the sixty-five who hold the better-than-average jobs, are any relation to the President. Joseph M. Wilson, brother of the President, tried to get on the government pay roll but he took his chance like any other citizen and was defeated for the job of clerk of the Senate.

First on the list of the sixty-five Wilsons is Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson, and his daughter, Agnes, who is listed as a clerk. Brigadier General John M. Wilson, retired, is a member of the Washington National Monument Society. Captain Walter K. Wilson is assistant chief of the Coast Artillery Division in the War Department. Clarence R. Wilson is United States Attorney for the District of Columbia; Edwin W. Wilson is superintendent of the national bank redemption agency; George S. Wilson is secretary of the board of charities of the District of Columbia; John Wilson is chief clerk in the office of the Surgeon General of the War Department; Louis C. Wilson is disbursing officer of the District of Columbia; P. M. Wilson is assistant financial clerk of the Senate; C. C. Wilson is messenger to the Senate committees; E. Wilson is secretary of the international waterways commission; Emmett Wilson is representative from Florida; P. E. Wilson is representative from Buffalo.

Brushes Spread Disease.

Not only dandruff, but scores of more dangerous diseases, including syphilis and cancers on the face, are spread by the use of the common hair brushes and combs on trains and in hotels, according to a mass of expert testimony obtained from 25 of the leading dermatologists of the country by Assistant Surgeon General W. Colby Rucker, of the Public Health Service. As a result of this investigation, it is likely that very shortly an amendment to the Interstate Quarantine regulations will be recommended by the Surgeon General to the Secretary of the Treasury forbidding the furnishing of common hair brushes and combs for passengers by interstate carriers.

The most forceful point about the inquiry was the unanimity with which the physicians agreed that such a prohibition was not only desirable, but very necessary. Dr. C. H. Fox, of New York, was the only one who did not believe such a regulation necessary. Dr. Fox also opposed the abolition of the common drinking cup, on the ground that is was not necessary. One of the strongest letters on this subject was from Dr. Isadore Dyer, of New Orleans. He declared the common hair brush is responsible for about 96 per cent of baldness. He traced loss of eyebrows and eyelashes to the same cause.

"I have seen in one day," he wrote, "the common comb and brush in a sleeping car toilet room used by a conductor, brakeman, numerous patrons of the sleeping car and have finally, witnessed a scrub porter scrub the brush with the common soap in the basin of the toilet room." Another point made by Dr. Dyer was that it is not possible to sterilize a brush between times of using, unless the interval is 24 hours, this way.

or the brush can be boiled for 20 minutes after its use. He has known one stroke of the brush, he says, to infect his own scalp. Dr. T. Caspar Gilchrist, of Baltimore, states that ringworm and many less familiar diseases are transmitted by the common brush, while possibly syphillis may be communicated in this way.

STANDARD RECEPTACLES FOR POISONS ARE NECESSARY

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

New York, Jan. 21.—Resolutions seeking from the legislatures of all state laws requiring drug manufacturers and wholesale and retail, druggists to adopt a special form of receptacle for bi-chloride of mercury, today were presented at the sessions of the New York State Pharmaceutical Association, which is holding its annual convention in Madison Square Garden.

In connection with the resolutions presented, the attention of delegates and visitors was called to the exhibit of patent bottles, boxes and capsules designed to hold bi-chloride of mercury and other poisonous drugs and medicines. Standard shapes of receptacles, boxes and capsules for the various poisons and drugs, it was argued, would do away almost entirely with accidental deaths by these poisons. There was every indication today that the resolutions would be adopted and the officials of the Association ordered to send them to the legislatures of all the states in the Union.

POSTSCRIPT TO GRAND JURY'S REPORT PUZZLES

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Redwood City, Cal., Jan. 21.—San Mateo county women became so much interested in investigating during the the last session of the grand jury, on which there were 13 women to six men members, that plans were announced yesterday for the formation of a permanent women's investigating committee to overhaul everything which looks as if needed it. Judge Buck made the suggestion when he discharged the jury. Meanwhile the county officials are trying to decide what to do with a post script written as a supplement to the jury's report, written by Mrs. Delia Spellman, one of the jurors. The law makes no provision for post scipts.

HEIR TO LARGE PROPERTY ACCUSED OF ROBBERY

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 20.—William Westphal, grandson of the late J. C. Westphal and heir to a large portion of his $500,000 estate, appeared in court here yesterday on a charge of highway robbery. He was arraigned before Judge Edgar with Fred Soares and Oren Phillips, his two alleged accomplices. Westphal said he was disgusted with jail life.

"The accommodation at the Alameda county jail may be good for a jail," he said, "but home was never like this. The bed is hard and the meals they serve are not exactly up to par. If I get out of this mess—never again for mine."

ENDS HER LIFE WHILE DESPONDENT OVER ILLNESS

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Antioch, Cal., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Charles M. Belshaw, ex-State Senator Belshaw's wife, shot herself through the head at her home here yesterday, inflicting a wound from which she died without regaining consciousness.

A sufferer from melancholia, Mrs. Belshaw had been under a nurse's care for some time. Sending the attendant from her room, however, she locked herself in, pressed a revolver muzzle to the back of her head below the ear and pulled the trigger.

Hearing the shot, the nurse rushed back, broke down the door and found her patient stretched on her bed, her pistol still in her hand.

Ex-Senator Belshaw was away from home at the time of the tragedy.

REFUSES TO HEED ORDER DISCHARGING HER AS TEACHER

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Euclid, Cal., Jan. 21.—Routine exercises at the South Euclid school were interrupted yesterday when Mrs. R. Y. Glidden, the principal refused to heed an order discharging her and repulsed a party led by Superintendent of Schools W. J. Alexander, which attempted to enter the building.

Mrs. Glidden was ordered dismissed as the result of charges she filed against Alexander. Upon the advice of Assistant County Superintendent of Schools McPherson, she defied Alexander and Mrs. M. D. Schulkin named to succeed her when they appeared at the school flanked by a crowd of friends. The besieging party finally retired to seek legal counsel.

WILL PROBE LUMBER BOYCOTT IN SAN FRANCISCO

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 21.—The movement started by mill owners which, it is expected today, will develop into a federal inquiry into the San Francisco lumber boycott on northwest finished lumber products, grew with the announcement by a large mill owner of Tacoma, that he was in favor of starting legal action and would join in ny such movement inaugurated.

Northwest mill men generally, except those who maintain finishing plants in San Francisco, are said to agree that the time has come to break the long existing California boycott, following the admission last week by the San Francisco chamber of commerce that a boycott existed, affecting a restraint on trade between states. This admission, they think, places the matter on the proper footing for a federal investigation before a grand jury.

TUBS OF COAL TO BE WEIGHED WERE HEAVIER

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—The first witness to be called at the Western Fuel case today was J. P. Burns, formerly assistant weigher for the corporation. His testimony was corroborative of that given previously by government witnesses to the effect that tubs of coal to be weighed were filled to overflowing, while those that were not to be weighed were considerably lighter.

Burns also declared he frequently had admitted large quantities of coal flowing into the bunkers without being weighed at all. This was effected, he said, by so placing the coal cars that only half of the coal coming down the chutes was run into the car, while the remainder would go into the bunkers unweighed.

FOR HOMELESS INDIANS.
