HOW COLD WAVES KILL POOR OF NEW YORK

Thousands With no Homes at all in Great City of Palaces and Enormous Wealth.

MOTHERS AND BABIES ARE INCLUDED IN UNFOUNATES

Methods of Taking Care of Peniless Men in Municipal Lodging Houses of City.

BY CABLTON TEN EYOK.

New York, Jan. 26.—The recent unprecedented cold snap in New York, when old Boreas went on a rampage and kicked the mercury down to the lowest notch recorded in fourteen years, worked untold hardships on the poor of the metropolis and gave the upper half some new light on how the other half lives. When the thermometer dropped to five degrees below zero, a 74 mile gale swept up the Bay to add to the demoralizing gloom of the elements, death and destruction was left in its wake.

In this great city, with its billions of wealth, its thousands of houses, its palaces and hotels, its refuges and charitable institutions, several persons actually were frozen to death. Others were made so ill they died. The cold wave, in various ways took toll of sixteen lives.

Perhaps the most popular place in town during the forty-eight hours of exceptional cold was the Municipal Lodging House on the East River. There, upwards of 2,000 persons were cared for nightly. Among them were 30 women, all with babies and small children. Those 2,000 men and those mothers and their little ones had no home at all. They were wanderers in the city, sleeping in good weather in parks, empty buildings and such places and eating what they could find. Assuredly in the below-zero weather they would have perished, but for the city's charity.

At Municipal Lodging House.

The Municipal Lodging House was an interesting place during the rush hours. It has accommodations for 1200 persons. The women and children and the male overflow were cared for on boats anchored at the foot of East Twenty-third street. The boats are owned by the city. Many of the homeless men, the confirmed "hoboes" preferred to sleep on the boats, for then they were not compelled to take baths. The boats are not provided with bathing facilities.

But all corners at the Lodging house are compelled to take shower baths. When the applicants first apply, they are registered and given checks, numbered, which they are told to hang around their necks. They then file through a dining room, where each man is given a huge hunk of bread and a tin cup of steaming coffee. The men are then sent to a disrobing room, where they are compelled to shed all their clothing. During the night their undergarments—if they have any—are fumigated. Men wearing celluloid collars are advised to put them inside their shoes to prevent spontaneous combustion. The brass checks enable them to get back their belongings in the morning.

Following the disrobing, the men are herded into the bathroom, a huge apartment in which there are scores of showers. As they enter the room an attendant swabs each man vigorously on the head with a club of soft wood, thickly coated with soft soap. The soap that sticks to the man's head is what he must use for his bath. The newcomers always dodge the club, thinking it will hurt them and the old-timers, used to the ropes laugh heartily at the novices.

Each Has Shower Bath.

At the showers each man is given a coarse scrubbing brush and told to use it. Attendants through the room see that the soap and brushes are used thoroughly and any lodger reluctant to take to the water, brush and soap, is scrubbed by an attendant. Cleanliness is insisted upon in the Lodging House. Once clean, the men are marched through a small room for medical inspection. They are examined thoroughly and all ailments are given attention. Each man is thoroughly fumigated. If an applicant is found to have an injury or a serious disease, he is at once sent to Bellevue Hospital for treatment. The bathing and inspection over, the men are given night robes, in the shape of sleeping bags, of course, but clean material, and sent to bed in huge dormitories.

Early in the morning they are waked up and taken to the first room they entered where in return for their brass checks they receive their clothing. The dining room is the next stop, where the lodgers are given oat-meal and milk, bread and coffee. They are then sent out into the world again, all but 20 men who are kept in the Lodging house to clean up the place. These men launder the bed-clothing and night robes and wash the plates and cups. When their tasks are finished they are allowed to go. No work is required of the city's boarder's in return for the food and shelter given them, except the clean-up work imposed on a few. The attendants are careful not to pick the same men more than once for the work.

All Must Obey Rules.

Regular attendance at the Lodging House does not give a man immunity from the compulsory bathing and the medical inspection. Familiar applicants, known from repeated appearance, are forced to obey all the rules, the same as the newcomers.

During the two coldest nights recently, the homeless men and women overflowed both the Lodging House and the boats and many men were sheltered in the Margue a block away. With the fragments of Anna Aumuller's body and the remains of the trunk mystery victim reposing on slabs in the refrigerators near by, men lay all over the floor in their sleeping bags and slept soundly, apparently undisturbed by their gruesome surroundings.

IMMENSE WATER POWER PROJECT IS NOW ASSURED

Portland, Or., Jan. 26.—Announcement was made here by George H. Cecil, district forecaster, that the secretary of agriculture has issued a water power permit to the Washington Railway and Electric Company at Tacoma authorizing to use a site within the Snoqualmie national forest for the purpose of generating hydro electric power.

The project covered by the permit involves the erection of nine separate dams, water conduits and power houses. All but one of those dams will be for diversion purposes only. The exception will be the storage dam. An area of 2,164 acres will be flooded by the reservoirs. The project is to be located on Sultan river in Snohomish county. A transmission line approximately 55 miles long will be required to transport the electric current to Everett, the nearest important market.

Engineers of the forest service rate the capacity of the combined project at 32,800 horsepower.

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips, and tired bodies—sometimes eruptions of the skin and the utter lack of the ambition and animation with which their younger years were filled.

Budding into womanhood and manhood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated nourishment which is readily convertible into red blood corpuscles, energy and strength, and the very best thing for this changing age is the medical nutriment in Scott's Emulsion—it possesses the rare blood-making properties of cod liver oil in a predigested form; hypophosphites for the nervous system, with the healing, soothing qualities of pure glycerine. Its nourishing force promotes assimilation, yields direct returns in abundant, red blood, fills hollow cheeks, tones the nerves, makes all good food do good, and does it in a natural easy manner. The sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is so helpful to this changing age that it should never be neglected—every druggist has it.

ENGLAND CANNOT KICK ON LABOR EXCLUSION

Washington, Jan. 26.—Labor department officials disputed today the contention that passage of Congressman Baker's Asiatic labor exclusion bill would be an affront to England, because it discriminates, among others, against the citizens of an English dependency—India.

Indeed, it was pointed out, that some of England's colonies have laws more rigidly excluding Hindus than would the Baker bill. Attention was called to the fact that the Anglo-American treaty of 1815, settling all immigration differences, carries no favored nation clause, and, even if it did, the officials asserted, England could not demand greater consideration of its Hindu subjects from America than its own colonies accord.

"Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have passed stringent laws restricting the immigration of their fellow British subjects, the Hindus," said Immigration Commissioner General Caminetti, endorsing this labor department view, "and we have investigated and found no instance where the mother country has protested."

"Hence we feel safe in saying that England will not object to any action the United States may take to restrict Hindu immigration."

"HOTEL" FOR BEST CONVICTS WILL OPEN

One Hundred and Twenty Prisoners Who Have Perfect Record Will Be Moved to Dormitory.

HONOR SYSTEM HAS WORKED WELL IN OHIO PRISON

Water Cures, Prison Stripes, Chain Stringings and Dungeon Types of Punishment Abolished.

Columbus, O., Jan. 26.—Ohio's humane "make men" policy, now governing the most notorious state penitentiary of the past in the United States, will advance another step within a few days when Warden P. E. Thomas, criminologist, non-political appointee and humanity expert will open his "hotel" for "perfect record" prisoners.

The hotel—for such it will be—will not be surrounded by steel bars. Far from the system of the past, it will embrace an innovation never before attempted.

One Hundred and twenty burglars, rogues, porch climbers, pickpockets, "bad men," embezzlers and plain thieves with "clean records" will be removed from their cells to a roomy well ventilated dormitory.

Every one of them will sleep at night in a comfortable iron bed of the hospital type; will have a locker; a bag; roomy rocking chair, a plain oak stand; and an electric drop light. A prison bar won't be in sight. After the day's work is done and the prisoner disrobes for the night he will neatly crease his gray regulation trousers; hang his coat on a hanger and place the apparel in a steel locker built for the purpose. On an upper shelf he will find his clean clothing and in a lower compartment he may deposit his shoes and draw forth a pair of bed room slippers, seat himself in a big rocking chair, light his pipe and under the rays of his adjustable electric lamp scan the day's news from the evening paper.

Such is the idea of Warden Thomas who has advanced radical theories on prison reform. He's put some three hundred prisoners outside prison walls without guards "on their honor;" he's abolished the hideous prison stripes, the water cures, chain stringings and dungeon types of punishment.

He has worked for over a year on the theory that kindness in most cases exercised on men with full stomachs is the best producer of discipline, and now he's going to make a real incentive for behavior among his wards. The dormitory is that incentive.

From the windows of this "hotel," the wards may look upon the scene of hundreds of inhuman, stuffy cells in which men have lived and died. The same scene is that from which General John Morgan, the famous old Confederate leader with a handful of officers dug their way to liberty, a little over fifty-one years ago.

Just below there is a cell in which All Jennings, once noted train robber, since reformed, spent years.

Just across the way is the prison hospital where Madame De Vere, the famous Cassie Chadwick died after the close of one of the most noted swindling records in history.

Scores of other noted prisoners were housed and many died in the building which was erected and has since been remodeled.

Only the perfect record men "will enjoy the comforts of the new "hotel" and Warden Thomas' waiting list is jammed.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "wind-downs" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optoma, fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optoma tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eye-lids, weak eyes, conjunctivae and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eye-glasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

NIGHTINGALE TAX DROPPED.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—The city of Potsdam, the "Kaiser's borough," dropped Germany's most unique tax—a tax of $1.50 on every nightingale in captivity within Potsdam. This tax has been collected ever since Frederick the Great ordered it levied because he objected to the nightingales in his park being trapped and placed in cages. The Potsdam authorities decided to leave the law unenforced on the city's statutes out of honor to Frederick but not to enforce it any longer.

TO RECONSTRUCT FLORENCE.

Florence, Jan. 26.—Plans were presented to the city council today for the reconstruction of Florence just as it was at the time Dante wrote the Divine Comedy. It is planned to bring about the change as one of the means of celebrating the Dante centenary in 1921. The plans for the celebration include the bringing together of all the statuary and pictures in the world that have been inspired by Dante's poetry. The plans, however, are being vigorously opposed by the Italian Futurists who want the city modernized instead of rebuilt as it was in the days of Dante.

FEMINIST VICTORY IN ITALY.

Rome, Jan. 24.—The feminists of Italy, in which the progress of feminism has not been as marked as in the northern countries, today are rejoicing over the two new victories. A license was granted to the first woman notary today when Signorina Elena Sadowska succeeded in wresting for the first time from the government's board of examining engineers a diploma for a woman engineer. Signorina Sadowska's successful thesis dealt with the construction of bridges and masonry.

BISHOP BINGHAM LEAVES.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 26.—Knights of the Road, Gentlemen of Leisure, Weary Waggles and Dusty Duns to the number of some scores are gathering here today. They are to open their convention, the conference of the National Brotherhood Welfare Association, tomorrow under the leadership of the "millionaire hobo," Dr. James Eads Howe. It was denied at headquarters today, that officials of the Brotherhood came to Cleveland in private cars, although it was admitted that incoming Brethren had several box-car parties enroute.

Man is the architect of his own misfortune.
