ALASKA FARMING BY NO MEANS IS EASY

Many Difficulties Must Be Overcome by Person Brave Enough to Face Climate of Far North.

Where Climate Is Mild Tillable Land Is Scarce and Elsewhere Winters. Are Long and Cold.

[UNITED PHESS LEASED WINE.] Washington, Feb. 5,-So far as topography, soil and climate determine square miles of area on which there are possibilities for farming and grazing. The larger portion of the farming land is in the interior, in the Yukon drainage, according to the Department of Agriculture's new bulletin entitled "Possible Agricultural Development of Alaska."

Currants, raspberries, gooseberries, strawberries, blueberries and crauberries are plentiful in Alaska. Varieties of wheat, oats, rye, barley, potatoes and many other vegetables have matured every season since the Department started its work at its two most nothern experiment stations. The Department has four stations; one is on the Yukon within 75 miles of the Arctic circle, another is also in the interior. while there is one in the southeastern and another in the southwestern portion of the Territory.

That Seattle, Wash., is nearer Maine than it is to the extreme western point of Alaska: that the mean annual tem perature of Sitks is about the same as that of Washington, D. Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrue. If you take one pint of granulated sigar, add 16 pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a traspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.
