New millinery—the kind that is attractive. The French Shop, 165 North Liberty.

County Clerk Gehlhar yesterday issued marriage licenses to the following couples: C. E. Chapel and Jessie Goughnour, and Frank H. Snodgrass and Mrs. Mayme Osborn, all of Salem.

The Avenue Market pays top prices for fine dressed pork, veal and mutton. W. A. Schirmer, 1621 Center street. Phone 1607.

The address delivered in the auditorium of the city library was largely attended last night. Dr. Gilbert spoke on democracy and great fortunes, and he handled the subject in an able and entertaining manner.

The remains of the late Oscar M. Johnson were buried in City View cemetery this afternoon. The funeral was held from the undertaking parlors of Rigdon & Richardson and Rev. P. S. Knight officiated.

Dainty footwear for dainty women—the famous Martha Washington slippers, just in, at Jacob Vogt's, 220 North Commercial street.

The Lincoln birthday party by the Unitarian Sunday school was a most pleasant occasion, each child responding with a quotation from Lincoln. Several patriotic songs were sung. Refreshments and games concluded the evening's program. Channing hall was attractively decorated in the national colors.

Up to the present time the registration books at the county clerk's office show the following registrations: republicans, 812; Democrats, 218; prohibitionists, 102; socialists, 13; progressives, 25; independents, 43, and miscellaneous, 8.

Luther J. Chapin, the government farm expert, delivered his second lecture of a series on drainage this afternoon at 2 o'clock. A good-sized audience of farmers and business men heard the lecture, and Mr. Chapin explained some good points relative to drainage.

Fruit Inspector Constable, who is back today from a trip south of the city on the Jefferson road, says the prune, apple and pear trees are in a favorable condition for this season of the year. He does not believe the unusually warm weather will have any bad effect, unless it is prolonged, and there is a heavy frost. Many fruit growers are taking advantage of the fine weather and are pruning and spraying their trees.

Chop suey and noodles. City restaurant, 420 Ferry street, near Liberty.

The January jury in the circuit court was excused yesterday by Judge Kelly and the term has ended. This has been the longest term of court held here for many years and Judge Kelly completed a great amount of important criminal and equity matters, which formerly congested the docket. The department will take up the next term April 4. Judge Kelly left for Portland this morning for Portland, where he will join Mrs. Kelly, who has been seriously ill at the Good Samaritan hospital. Mrs. Kelly will be able to leave the hospital tomorrow for her home in Albany.

Call and see our early showing of French styles. They are exclusive. The French shop, 165 North Liberty.

Joe Peery, the Salem man who was arrested recently on the charge of keeping a place where intoxicating liquors are sold, will be taken before the next grand jury. County Attorney Ringo has taken up the case and intends to prosecute Peery as soon as possible. Peery, it is claimed by the police, sold liquor to Dave Snyder, a paroled convict. The only witnesses the police have, however, are the convict and a boy who is said to have been present when the transaction was made.

River men feared an ice blockade in the harbor. Navigation was already much interfered with, and practically no regular schedules kept.

On account of the storm the New York Central canceled all freight trains.

Score Dead in New York. Fully a score perished here. The police say the number of victims might prove to be considerably larger than the one given. Traffic and communication were so completely tied up that it was almost impossible to get from one end of the city to the other, or to transmit messages, so news traveled slowly.

Some of those who died actually froze to death, but the majority succumbed to accidents incidental to the storm. The damage was estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Urban Traffic Tied Up. Urban traffic was completely tied up. Business in all lines fell off at least 75 per cent. Trains were hours late. Many were canceled entirely. Automobiles could not penetrate the snow drifts. Horses refused to face the wind. The streets were nearly deserted.

During the worst of the gale there were times when the wind reached a velocity of 84 miles an hour. At 1 p. m., however, it subsided, the snow stopped falling and the sun shone. The snow
