A WORD FOR OUR FINEST WOMANHOOD.

WHILE inventors have lately turned more and more attention to making woman's work on the farm easier, work in this line is still behind the movement to replace labor with machinery in other lines. The farmer has everything made as easy as possible for him, but the farmer's wife is far from being provided with all the labor saving devices that should be hers. This is partly due to the fact that machinery has not been made to lighten all her labors, but it is a shameful fact that a large part of this is due to the husband, who, not through niggardliness, but just carelessness and thoughtlessness neglects to buy those labor saving devices that are at his command. The Boise Capital News, discussing the matter, says:

For years this has been discussed. The insanity of the farmers' wives from loneliness and hard work has been one phase of the crying need for some better social conditions in the country. The department sent circulars to 55,000 farmers' wives asking them to state their needs. The response was large and pathetic. The overwork of farm women and the fear of the effect of it on their children was the burden of many replies. Many asked the department to prove to the men that women's work is worth something in dollars and cents. Others said that their own lot is hopeless, and asked only that better schools, cheaper books, more lectures, libraries and museums be provided for their children. The conclusion is what has been recognized for years, that the neglect of women on the farm is an atrocious reality, a serious indictment of our civilization. More comfort, more conveniences, more company are crying needs in the life of the farmers' wives. Bathrooms are worth more than automobiles, running water more than some other things. It is in keeping with the American spirit of optimism to feel that things are not so bad as they have been with all of the recent acquisitions of the farmer. But these are only feeble beginnings. If social workers want to reach one of the sorest spots in our civilization and want to save the fine womanhood that is wearing itself out in hopeless and needless drudgery, let them seek to know the routine of daily life among women on the farm. It is a nationwide condition, and a pitiful one.

OREGON'S LUMBER BUSINESS.

OREGON'S combined water shipments of lumber in 1913 increased 148,774,478 feet last year over the 1912 showing, the total foreign business exceeding that of the previous year by 71,332,670 feet and the gain in the coastwise movements was 65,174,232 feet, according to the statistics published in the annual number of the West Coast Lumberman.

It is set forth that San Francisco shipments from Oregon alone advanced 70,509,055 feet over the year before and in shipping the bulk of the timber dispatched to the Panama canal, totaling 17,492,860 feet, this made a gain in that trade of 11,587,172 feet. Lumber sent to the Hawaii islands from the Northwest was less than in 1912, yet that from Oregon was 1,706,119 feet above the previous showing.

In referring to other advances made in lumber commerce, the Lumberman says:

"The state made its greatest gains, however, in the Australian and China markets. These two markets alone took upward of 60,000,000 feet more than was purchased in 1912. Shipments to the West Coast of South America also showed a nice gain of 11,820,855 feet. Europe increased its purchase in Oregon, as did India. Shipments to Africa develop a loss of 2,158,290 feet. The total foreign business of Oregon mills amounted to 233,522,813 feet, compared with 161,790,143 in 1912, an increase of 71,732,670 feet, or the output of two good sized mills."

Preliminary figures from the forthcoming bulletin pertaining to national and state indebtedness and funds and investments have been given out by Director W. J. Harris, of the bureau of census, department of commerce. The bulletin carries information for the United States and for each state in the United States. The data were compiled under the supervision of Mr. John Lee Coulter, expert special agent in charge of wealth, debt and taxation. An inspection of the tables in the bulletin soon to be issued shows that on June 30, 1913 (or the close of the fiscal year falling within the twelve months preceding that date), the total debt of the 48 states in the United States amounted to $419,157,000. Of this total about $19,000,000 represented the floating debt, and nearly $400,000,000 represented funded debt. Of the funded debt $359,000,000 are represented by bonds, and $41,000,000 are special debt obligations to public trust funds. As an offsetting item against the total debt, the 48 states reported $77,032,000 in sinking fund assets, leaving the debt (less sinking fund assets) for the 48 states $342,251,000.

Just what does the Oregonian want President Wilson to do about Mexico? Instead of taking the position of a chronic kicker, why not outline a course of action—something that none of the objectors has yet done. An exception might be made in the case of Senators Works and Fell, who are for invasion and war. Is that what the Oregonian wants?

Elbert Bede, editor of the Cottage Grove Sentinel, has decided to become a candidate for the legislature from Lane county. He is a good newspaper man, but a reputation as a humorist bars him from ever becoming a great statesman. Still, as the legislature has become a good deal of a joke, Bede may feel at home there.

There seems to be a demand for laborers in Salem, despite reports to the contrary. A man advertised in The Capital Journal Wednesday evening for work of any kind, and by noon yesterday about twenty telephone calls reached the office asking for the applicant's services.

The banks of Salem, according to their official reports on March 4, held over $4,000,000 of deposits. That is the best possible evidence of the solid prosperity of the Capital City and surrounding territory.

The country is saved again. Every candidate for office in Oregon is pledged to economy, lower taxation and absolute efficiency in government.

PREACHER WHO HAS 32 WIVES GIVES TESTIMONY

Denies His Own Money Paid for Tickets of His Alleged White Slave Victim to California.

USES SOLOMON AS EXAMPLE TO BOLSTER HIS ARGUMENT.

Says Edna Began to Quarrel With Him at Long Beach After He Baptized Hilda, Her Sister.

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)

Seattle, Wash., March 13.—For the first time since his arrest, three months ago, Rev. Dahlstrom, the "holign" preacher, who federal authorities say has 32 wives, broke down utterly on the stand in the federal court yesterday and wept when, in cross-examination his children were mentioned.

The defendant, though pale and haggard, countered smilingly the assaults of the district attorney and did not lose his jaunty poise but once.

An even larger crowd gathered to hear the trial than any session, the larger part being women.

Neither Edna Englund, the alleged "white slave" nor her sister Hilda, nor Martha Dahlstrom, were in the courtroom when the "holign" preacher took the stand in his own behalf.

He broke down utterly when his children by Martha Dahlstrom, his lawful wife, were mentioned.

He Purchased Tickets.

He was asked to explain the purchase of the tickets for the Fresno trip.

"I told Edna I was going to the station to buy a ticket, and she asked me to buy one for her also," he said. "She gave me the money. The agent told me to sign both tickets, though I explained that one of them was not for me."

Dahlstrom declared he did not occupy the same berth with Edna on the Fresno trip.

He described his relations with the Englund family, who, he said, urged him to visit them every time he came to Tacoma. When his children by Martha, were referred to, the tears rolled down his cheeks.

Cross-examined by Deputy District Attorney Whitman, Dahlstrom acknowledged authorship of various books on religion which have been offered in evidence.

Says Wife Invited Him.

Edna's visit to the "Colony of Jesus," at Granite Falls was touched on.

"My wife invited Edna," he said. He declared Edna began to quarrel with him at Long Beach, California, where he baptized Hilda, her sister.

Hilda Englund, Edna's sister testified for the defense.

Says She Bought Tickets.

Hilda said that it was she, not Dahlstrom, who bought the tickets for herself and Edna at the time of the trip from Seattle to Fresno. She declared that "Dahlstrom behaved like a gentleman" throughout the journey.

Rev. John J. Daniels, pastor of the Swedish Mission church, said he had had disputes with Dahlstrom on matrimony and that he had challenged Dahlstrom to debate. He said Dahlstrom had said to him:

"Solomon had 700 wives and 300 concubines, and God did not say he had too many. And is our wisdom greater than God's?"

THE ROUND-UP.

Dufur is preparing to double its water works reservoir capacity and make other improvements and extensions.

A lumber yard has been started at Gold Beach with a stock of brick on the side, which, the Globe asserts, fills a long felt want.

Civic economy hint in report of proceedings of city council in Prineville Review: "The city marshal was instructed to fix up a stall in his barn in which to keep stray dogs."

The Canby Irrigator has joined the linotype contingent. It says: "Our facilities for setting type are now equal to those of any paper in the world and are certainly better than can be found in any city of the size of Canby in the state of Oregon, or many other states, for that matter."

The Port Orford Tribune describes an exciting wild hog hunt in which four out of six or seven were caught and fled. The hogs were some that had reverted, and were tusked like their primeval ancestors. Escapes on the part of the hunters were numerous and narrow.

Brightest prospects in years are viewed by the Toledo Sentinel. The mill will start up in a short time and give steady employment to a large force of men during the summer, work will soon be started on the new light and power plant, and the new recovery will be in operation in another month.

Six cougars, one wolf, one bear and two small cubs, 21 wildcats and numerous small varmints is the record catch made this season by Ed Clark and Ray and Alvah Adlington, after taking up their traps for the season, according to the Oakridge correspondent of the Eugene Register. The value of bounties and furs amounts to $400.

TO DEBATE PANAMA CANAL TOLLS QUESTION.

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)
Fort Collins, Colo., March 13.—The weighty question whether American vessels should be compelled to pay tolls for passage through the Panama canal will be discussed in three cities when the annual tri-state intercollegiate debate between the Agricultural colleges of Colorado, Oklahoma, and Kansas will take place.

GREEK IS FOUND GUILTY MILITIA IS DISBANDED

MAN WHO MADE WHITE SLAVE OF FORMER SALEM WOMAN IS CONVICTED AT PORTLAND.

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)
Portland, Or., March 13.—Gust Karmanos, a Greek, was found guilty of five different counts charging white slavery yesterday by a jury in the United States court. He was accused of having compelled his wife, Bessie, a former Salem woman, to enter upon a life of shame after he had married her at Vancouver, Wash. The violation of the Mann act was accomplished it was alleged, by his taking her across the Columbia river and back. Sentences was deferred by Judge Bean.

FIVE HUNDRED GATHERED IN SACRAMENTO ARE WENT HOME, AFTER COSTING STATE $5,000.

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)
Sacramento, Cal., March 13.—The 500 members of the state militia gathered in Sacramento in case of trouble with the unemployed "army," was disbanded yesterday afternoon by Adjutant General Forbes. By night only 20 men were left in the big armory here as a guard.

General Forbes declared yesterday afternoon that the entire expense of assembling the militia will be between $5,000 and $6,000.

Forbes assembled the companies in front of the armory before bidding them farewell. He gave a talk to each company, expressed his appreciation of their work and told each to work for longer forces.

"Only about 20 men will be left in the armory tonight," said Forbes. "We don't feel that it is necessary to hold them any longer, and the expense to the state is running up all of the time. The men were paid $4,200 this afternoon in salaries. With the reduction in rates the train expense will be light."
