BOY IS MAKING HIS WAY

LETTER FROM HUGH CONSTABLE SHOWS HE HAS GOOD JOB IN TACOMA HOTEL.

That Hugh Constable, son of C. O. Constable and wife, is not traveling for romance and pleasure in box cars on freight trains, is more than evident from the following letter which was received by Mrs. Constable yesterday from her son:

"Hotel Bonneville,
Tacoma, Wash.

Tacoma, Wash,
March 11, 1914.

"Dear Mother,
"I have got a job at the Bonneville hotel, pay $20 per month, board and room. All I have to do is to run the elevator. I have a fine room with bath and telephone, electric lights and a good big bed.

"Did you ever know any one in Salem by the name of Reynolds? There is a lady here that says her father used to be a warden of the state penitentiary a good while ago. When you answer my letter please address me at the Bonneville hotel, Tacoma, Wash.

"I got my job through the Y. M. C. A. The Y. M. C. A. is about as nice a place as there is. They have pool tables and bowling alleys in the Y. M. C. A. here. The Y. M. C. A. building is six stories high. They have an attendance of 1200. I make the Y. M. C. A. my place to hang out at.

"Tacoma consists of more negroes, negroes and Japs than any other nationality.

"I have not been out of the business

"THE SPASM AGE" IS WHAT HE CALLS IT

Sacramento Editor Plays Men and Women Who Run Amuck Throughout Land With Frenzied Fads.

IN NAME OF REFORM, PROGRESS IS ASKED TO STEP BACKWARD

Short-Haired Women and Long-Haired Men Make Air Resound With Their Glamorous Appeals.

C. K. McCLATCHY, SACRAMENTO.
This good old earth has passed through the Stone age, the Iron age, the Bronze age, the alleged Golden age, and now is "in the midst of the Spasm age.

The world is in the throes of a general hysteria, of a dementia universal. Men and women are running amuck with frenzied fads. In the name of humanity, "reforms" are demanded that are inhuman. In the name of reform, progress is asked to step backward. In the name of progress, women strive to strip from womanhood her brightest jewels. And in the name of womanhood, deaunted males and advanced females seek to recreate woman after a new pattern of sexual athleticism but sexless idealism.

Verily, the old whirligig of Time is spinning around so rapidly and so dizzily to the accompanying corymbantian antics of the howling derisives of the New Idea, that sanity herself wears a troubled air when surrounded by insanity.

By legislation, in the twinkling of an eye, in the taking of a breath—as the years have gone and the years that are to be counted—we are told we will be washed clean not only from the sins that stain, but even from the peccadilloes that annoy.

Mankind and womankind are to be purified on earth for the everlasting life in Heaven. No longer will there be any need of purgatorial hereafter. Released by statute and made white again through the blessed grace of the brothers and sisters of the new dispensation, there will be no grosser parts to be strained in the fiery sieves of eternity's middle state.

White as the breath of Jack Frost, and chaste as the icicle that curled by the frost from purest snow and hangs on Dian's temple. Woman will wander through this world—not marrying and being given in marriage—but a joyous and radiant creature, the star-eyed goddess of her own will, her love as free as the air, and scornful those shameful fetters with which inhuman custom so long had bound her.

As for man—weak, pitiful man—he will arise, by the help of freed woman, to tread the mountain paths of love and liberty whereon today an inhuman and a grossly slavish world martyrs a Maury Diggs.

But all along the road of the new St. Vitus dance reformatory movements—halting at this sub-station or at that, and wondering when they will go farther—are vast hordes of men and women—obsessed if not possessed creatures, like the Pied Piper of Hamelin, pipe away on their fads and expect the whole world to follow and dance to their music.

The very air is clamorous with their hysterical appeals.

They seek, everywhere for legislation to prevent everybody else from doing that which they do not care themselves to do.

Nothing appalls them. Nothing daunts them. Nothing confuses or confounds them. Statistics and science they have taken into their camp—and, like gypsies with stolen children, have disfigured them to make them pass for their own.

With flaming banners, blaring trumpets, and the shrieks of thousands of frenzied voices, they have rushed in not only where Christ forbore to tread—they even have misinterpreted the Book and misread the Life to use as a weapon a Scriptural boomerang.

Some of them go even so far as to ignore and scorn the lamp of experience and in their arrogance will demand that those who have been in the light must follow them into the darkness.

Young girls—just fresh (and still fresh) from know-all institutions of theoretical infallibility—become presidents of Mothers' clubs; dogmatically tell mothers and grandmothers who have borne, and nursed and reared fine specimens of manhood and womanhood, that their method was almost criminal; and insist that young mothers shall rear their infants on the truly scientific principles mapped out by long-haired men incapable of becoming fathers, and enthusiastically endorsed by short-haired women who never took the first step toward motherhood.

No wonder a good old-fashioned grandmother told one of these lights of the new science of motherhood that she had better get out and get record before she presumed to instruct those who had had experience as well as theory.

Although David danced before ark, and the sight evidently was pleasant in the eyes of the Almighty, there be those who consider all dancing an abomination before the Lord, and who would have all mankind and all womankind debarred therefrom.

And even some municipal legislators can be found who will darken reason with prohibitory ordinances—ordinances which die in dishonor or live to be disregarded and laughed at.

Love was born with this world. Love has been accepted as the herald and the companion of marriage.

When heretofore two young souls gave themselves unto each other until death should them part, they were supposed to be united in that alone which makes life worth the living—in that alone which connects birth and death with its bridge of roses—which, stretching from time to eternity, haloes the one and sanctifies the other love—love, twinborn upon infant lips and in the consecrated soil of the glorified mother—love, aureoled by humanity and accented by divinity itself—love, that stands tip-toe upon the mountain top of Heaven's highest hope—love, that trust and faith tell us will yet abide somewhere forever and forever when the stars are quenched, and this brave world has gone down in darkness and in gloom.

But times have changed. Cupid is to be banished. Science and medicine, and the higher culture are to preside over the marriage ceremony. Love's rainbow archery, with golden arrows tipped with myrrh and frankincense, is to be discarded, and spectacled faddism will be the dominant genius—while the emblems of the marriage license will be a stethoscope and a tape measure.

Marriage no longer is to be a ceremony of the heart, but rather one conditioned upon the regularity of the bowels. Heigh, ho! No wonder the naked little boy shivers, and weeps, and will not be comforted.

An in this Spasm age the czars of a faddism that demands eugenic marriages or none, and university-approved and scientifically-nursed babies, are to the front declaring that wet damntastic lurks in every drop of wine; that an atom of beer contains the concentrated essence of 10,000 poisonous devils; that the wine-grape vines shall be torn up, or used only to make grape juice for the Bryans of this earth.

From the olden and the golden days, told in Judean story and chronicled in Judean song, the sunshine of life, and hope, and joy, and love, and radiant happiness has come from out the grasp that is pressed.

Its heart-warming juice has been blessed by the Almighty that gave, and by the Savior who used.

But today we are told that, because some abuse, none shall use; that, because some numbers like it not, none shall have; that the wise that the Almighty sanctified in the Holy of Holies and that Christ made and drank at the wedding feasts at Cana shall be banished forever from California, the Golden State, no more famous by reason of her gold than because of the fruit of her vines.

And watching and waiting for the result of this demanded prohibition are the vegetarians—the vegetarians who have proved to their own satisfaction that all meat is poison, and that it is a crime for governments to permit mankind to be fed thereon.

HOFFER GETS BAD SHOCK

DEPARTMENT STORE TOSSES A BOMB IN SHAPE OF "JACK NORTON" FOR 25 CENTS.

The Portland Telegram of yesterday had the following:
Colonel E. Hoffer, lecturer, author, statesman, lecturer, "Made-in-Oregon" booster, etc., is a sad and raging man.

He wrote a burning novel a while back and shoved the child of his teeming brain right out in front on the most prominent shelves of the book-stores and right among the six best sellers.

And he gave away several copies with his own little autographs with some nice words to his friends right on the fly leaf, in his fine masculine flat.

And the book took, and the public took the book at a dollar and thirty-five for a time.

And, as the whetted appetite of the fiction-lovers became a trifle satiated, the passionate, burning novel sagged to a dollar and twenty-five and was no longer among the six best sellers, but gathered soot among the "popular fiction" tomes.

Time flew on and the Hoffer vogue and furor died down a little more and a big book store fixed up a bargain book sale and Hoffer's little pet was marked to "four bits" with many others that didn't have a pretty cover or as many pages or as warm reading.

But this morning Colonel Hoffer's heart bubbled over with agony and number of too-drunkards in the insane asylums of Ireland.

And behind them yet is an army of other faddists, bearing lives of U. S. Grant, narrating his agonizing end as a result of excessive smoking; carrying statistics and medical computations of the deaths from tobacco heart.

And back of them again, awaiting their chance, are armies of other cranks determined on taking away from mankind everything else that mankind likes and enjoys.

Old King Cole is to be deprived, not only of his pipe, and his bowl, and his fiddlers three, but of every other pleasure that has helped to make his life comfortable or even endurable.

If all these faddists and theorists and crusaders are to have their way, a term in the penitentiary will be no greater infliction than ordinary life upon this planet, and hell hereafter will have no terrors for those used to a statutory hell upon earth.

EXPERTS DISCUSS THE NEW CURRENCY LAW

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]
Chicago, March 13.—A comprehensive conference on "The Probable Working of the New Currency Act," was the magnet which drew educators and business men of national prominence to Chicago today to attend the open forum meeting of the Western Economic society.

Everything that has to do with the new currency law from its probable effect upon the prosper of wage-earners to the control of the international flow of gold and the financial policy of the federal reserve banks was to be discussed.

The following men are to present papers at the meeting: George E. Roberts, director of the mint at Washington; Thomas Conway, Jr., of the University of Pennsylvania; Jacob H. Hollander of the Johns Hopkins university; Earl D. Hoard of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, Chicago; J. Lawrence Laughlin of the University of Chicago; W. A. Scott of the University of Wisconsin; H. Parker Willis, "Journal of Commerce," New York; O. W. M. Sprague of Harvard university; F. M. Taylor of the University of Michigan; and George Woodruff of the First Bank of Joliet, Illinois.

PIERCE IS FORCED OUT

INVESTIGATION OF CAMPAIGN FUNDS PROVES TOO MUCH FOR SEATTLE COUNCILMEN.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]
Seattle, Wash., March 13.—As a result of the investigation of campaign funds in the recent election made by the Seattle Star, John G. Pierce, today has announced his intention of resigning as a member of the city council.

The Star's probe committee, consisting of Mayor Cottrell, Port Commissioner Robert Bridges and Judge W. H. Moore, revealed, among other things, that Pierce personally solicited and obtained money from cafe owners for the campaign of John C. Slater, one of the defeated mayoralty candidates. Following a supplemental investigation by the Bolo club, a Spanish-American war organization, of which Pierce is a member, and before the council itself could take action in the matter, Pierce announced his intention of resigning by next Monday, "because of the fact that his efficiency as a legislative official had been impaired by unfavorable publicity," and "by reason of personal business."

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

N-E-W-S

Did you ever stop to consider that the letter in the word News stand for the initials of the four points of the compass?

What the news does, is literally to put you in touch with the four quarters of the whole world every day in the year and almost every hour of the day.

The advertising has come to be an essential part of the news. It covers the entire compass of the business world.

It tells of the currents of trade. It tells where things are made, what they are for, and what they cost.

It deals with the facts—facts that concern the well-being of the people.

Take it from the standpoint of actual helpfulness—and there is, on the whole, little news in the newspaper that is as important as the advertising.

The Markets

The big fire in Portland Thursday morning had no effect on the local grain market although 10,000 tons of wheat, 3,000 tons of barley and 2,000 tons of oats were destroyed. The demand from California for wheat continues strong and prices are firm, though unchanged.

The eastern apple market shows stronger since the big storm, and better prices are anticipated. Hops are moving freely and are pretty well cleaned up in this state and in fact on the coast. Many contracts are reported as being made at around the 15-cent mark. Eggs are steady at from 18 to 19 cents and will probably not be below that for some time. The potato market drags, Idaho supplying the demand and keeping prices down. It is estimated there are 100 carloads yet for shipment in Oregon. The first shipment of new potatoes from California reached Portland Thursday, and were sold at 9 cents per pound.

To Grow Hair on A Bald Head

By a Specialist.
Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair, who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist; buy rum, 6 ounces; Lavone de Compose, 2 ounces; Menthol crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.
