From the statements which are overheard coming from farmers visiting Salem of late it seems that vegetation in Marion county is actually suffering for the want of more room to grow. It is generally stated by them that the March weather so far has been so ideal that the fruit trees, grain and alfalfa are simply breaking a speed record in development.

According to Professor Earl Kilpatrick today the weather is against the fly swatters at present and the market is exceedingly quiet. One little fellow has asked for information as to where is the best place one can locate flies in cool weather. However, the flies are now just getting re-enforced after having their local armies diminished considerably since the last swatting crusade, and it is believed that both the youthful and the older swatters will have all the business they can conveniently attend to upon the first warm day that comes along. In any event, Professor Kilpatrick advises everyone to wait every fly that is found now and keep on swatting the everlasting daylight out of 'em in order to either put them to flight or lay them in their graves.

Owing to the safe in the city marshal's office being already congested with confiscated booze which was found on drunks brought in of late, and there being no other available safety depository, Judge Elgin yesterday took possession of the package which is said to contain four quarts of whiskey and the parcel is now lying peacefully in the vault in the recorder's office. The package has not been opened as yet and probably will remain under lock and key until County Attorney Ringo finishes his investigation. The officers are very careful that no one will have the opportunity of drinking up the evidence.

Patrolman Saunders is back at work again after spending several days waiting to be reinstated following the layoff given him by the council recently on account of not being a resident of this city at the time he was appointed on the force. Officer Saunders consulted a lawyer who told him that he should go back to work and remain on the job unless summarily dismissed by the entire city. Mr. Saunders has asked the members of the council to either reinstate him or discharge him permanently but that body took no action one way or the other and the policeman went back to work last night.

Sheriff Esch yesterday afternoon arrested Frank Ford, the well known farmer who resides four miles north of the city, on the charge of committing a statutory crime against the person of a 12-year-old girl at Seaside last December. The arrest was made at the request of Sheriff J. Burns, Clatsop county, who holds the warrant. Ford came to this city with Sheriff Esch and arranged for bonds in the sum of $1000 to appear before the criminal courts of Astoria. Mr. Ford is well known in this city, having been a resident of this place since his birth. He was in the city this morning and told The Capital Journal that the whole proposition was a frame-up to blackmail him. He declares that a family named Brown is prosecuting him. They worked on his ranch all last summer. He claims that the family now owe him $60 and that they are attempting to get more money out of him by using blackmail tactics.

C. P. Bishop, who is a candidate for the nomination for state senator on the republican party for this county, yesterday filed his declaration with the secretary of state.

The governor stated this morning that many complaints had been received about the saloons in Troutdale selling liquor to minors, and that he had notified them that the sheriff of Multnomah county would take the matter up and if he violated the law, would close them out. Sheriff Ward, of Portland, it is understood has also notified the saloon keepers that they must obey the law or quit. The governor this morning when asked what he would do in case they continued to violate the law, said: "I will close them up; that is all, just close them up."

Stating in a complaint filed in the circuit court today that her husband was more of a brute than a man and that he has treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner since marriage, Signa Fernandez has commenced suit for divorce from Leon Fernandez. The complainant avers that her husband at one time choked her and beat her and has performed many other acts of cruelty towards her which have now become unbearable. There is one child as the issue of the marriage according to the complaint and the plaintiff asks the custody of it.

GOVERNOR WILL NOT GRANT REQUISITION

West Forwards Transcript of Evidence to Governor Hanna of North Dakota for Consideration.

SECOND REQUEST MUST BE MADE FOR ACQUITTED SLAYER

West Does Not Wish to Act as Judge in Case and So Is Putting It Up To N. D. Executive.

Governor West today forwarded by mail to Governor Hanna of North Dakota, a transcript of the evidence taken yesterday afternoon in the case of McLain S. Cooper, of Hood River, wanted in Grand Forks, N. D., on a charge of bribery in connection with a case wherein Cooper was charged with the cold-blooded murder of James Ross, foreman on the Cooper family's ranch in Traill county, N. D. The evidence was sent to Governor Hanna for the reason that it was understood here that Hanna had not been fully advised as to the facts in the case and Governor West does not wish to act as judge. In case Hanna still wants Cooper, after reading the evidence submitted at Portland yesterday, he can make another request and it will probably be granted.

Portland Hearing. At the hearing yesterday in Portland W. H. McGruder created a sensation by testifying that he impersonated Cooper in making an alleged confession of jury-bribing. He testified that on January 24, last, he accompanied J. A. Sullivan, a Grand Forks detective, to a room in the Imperial hotel, where, following Sullivan's instructions, he pretended to be Cooper and answered questions in regard to the jury-bribing. McGruder further stated that stenographer was stationed in bathroom but did not see either him or Sullivan while they talked.

Attorney B. G. Skuason, representing the State of North Dakota, was completely surprised by McGruder's testimony. He asserted that there was abundant evidence against Cooper in the jury-bribing case, leaving the confession out of it.

Sullivan, said to be a Pinkerton man, was mixed up in a bad check deal but the sleuths squared it. It seemed, however, that he was intimately acquainted with Cooper and had some inside information in regard to the jury-bribing. Tray R. Bangs, ex-United States attorney, and prominent democratic politician, is a leading defendant in the jury-bribing case. Harry Cooper, father of McLain Cooper, and several jurors are also defendants. The confession of one of the jurors, J. L. Stevens, who is now held in jail in default of a $5,000 bond is bothering the defendants more than anything else. Stevens gives many facts which have been substantiated.

Bangs is one of the leading lobbyists of North Dakota. Representing several large corporations, he puts in much time at each session of the North Dakota legislature and has the reputation of delivering the goods.

EVAPORATING PLANT IS NOW READY FOR WORK

West Salem People Enthusiastic Over Prospect of Having Operations Begin at Early Date.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES HANDLED IN THIS PLANT

Old Furniture Factory to be Used as Plant and it is Hoped to Stop Annual Fruit Waste.

There is machinery already installed in the old furniture factory in West Salem for a modern commercial fruit and vegetable evaporator and, providing the owners of the proposed plant receive the proper encouragement from the fruit and vegetable growers of Marion and Polk counties, operation will begin within a few days. A rousing meeting was held by fruit growers in the city hall at West Salem last night and the proposition was thoroughly discussed. About fifty business men and fruit raisers were at the meeting and steps were taken to have the new plant placed in operation as soon as possible. It was brought out at the meeting by F. Simmons a big fruit merchant of Portland, that 53 per cent of the annual fruit crop in this state goes to waste. With a perfect drying system this waste could be eliminated declared Mr. Simmons.

R. W. King, one of the owners of the West Salem plant, attended the meeting and explained the workings of the new system. Among others addressing the meetings were W. J. Patterson, F. W. Waters, F. S. Bynon, B. J. Miles and S. P. Kimball, all interested in the evaporating plant of preserving fruit and vegetables.

SLOW PROGRESS MADE IN FIXING RATES FOR EXPOSITION

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.) San Francisco, March 27.--Committees of experts were trying to wind up as rapidly as possible the work of the Transcontinental Passenger association, in session here.

The association voted late yesterday to include the new Canadian lines in its ticket arrangements and give New Orleans and Memphis the same round trip Pacific coast rate as St. Louis, $37.50.

CAMPBELL IS REARRESTED

Portland, Or., March 27.--Walter Greer Campbell, the former California millionaire, arrested here several days ago on a charge of obtaining money in San Francisco under false pretenses, but who has been staying at a prominent hotel under guard of a sheriff's deputy was rearrested today on a fugitive warrant sworn to by Detective Swennes of the local police department and was locked up in the city jail.

GALLOWAY TO FOLLOW Tax Commissioner Galloway went to Portland this morning to meet the county court of Multnomah county, which is investigating the situation as it appears since the decision of Judge Cloeton, which it is feared will cause a falling off in tax payments and a consequent shortage in county funds.

The heavy shipments of eggs from the farming districts to Portland, where wholesalers are paying 18 cents per dozen and placing them on cold storage, together with the fact that the demand is very heavy for hatching eggs has caused the price in Salem to take an upward trend.
