

SOCIETY

BY ELLA McMUNN.

After inspection and drill at the armory Tuesday evening an informal dance was given by the boys of Company M. The Peerless orchestra furnished music and the affair proved enjoyable to the large number attending.

Mrs. Harriett McArthur and Miss Genevieve Thompson, who are touring the world, write from Scamander, India, under date of February 25. From there they plan to make a trip up the Nile and expect to spend the month of May in Italy.

The Ladies Aid society of the United Evangelical church were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Schmale. Needlework formed the pleasant pastime for the afternoon. Light refreshments were served.

At a preliminary meeting Monday it was decided by the Young Women's Christian Association of this city to become a member of the national organization and a general meeting was announced to take place at the home of Mrs. C. K. Spaulding, Tuesday, April 7, at which time plans will be perfected for a complete reorganization. Miss Eliza Reese Butler and Miss Gertrude Griffith of New York will be present to address the meeting, also Miss Grace Maxwell, city supervisor of the northwest and Miss Elizabeth Fox, student supervisor.

Several years ago a few public-spirited women of the city became an auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., proving one of the strongest factors in the great usefulness of that organization. From this beginning grew the city circle of the Young Women's organization that is now to be merged into the national, with a larger field of usefulness. Bible classes, swimming and gymnasium classes are features of the work at present, which will be supplemented by employment bureau, traveler's aid and other philanthropies. A campaign has been planned, the first meeting to occur Monday at 8 p. m. at the city library, another at 1 o'clock Tuesday at the same place with an afternoon meeting the same day at the C. K. Spaulding home. Among the prominent women who are interested in the work are Mrs. C. A. Park, Miss Nina McNary, Mrs. A. N. Bush, Mrs. R. S. Wallace, Mrs. Russell Catlin, Miss Mattie Beatty, Mrs. J. H. Lewis, Mrs. H. D. Kimball, Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. John H. Albert and Mrs. C. K. Spaulding.

It is quite probable that with the larger scope of the "Y" the public rest room now conducted by the Woman's club will be turned over to them. This is an important work and one in which the general public is probably more interested than any other. It has grown to such dimensions, however, that the large residence of Rev. P. S. Knight on Liberty street where it is now housed, is often taxed to capacity during the lunch hour and hopes are entertained that the new organization will make a club house possible.

The Misses Ethel and Marie Holt celebrated their 16th birthday at their home in East Salem Tuesday, by asking a number of their friends for an afternoon of games, followed by a visit in the evening to a moving picture house.

With an attendance of over 200 men and women the closing meeting of the Men's Six O'clock club at the First Methodist church, Tuesday evening plans were made to reorganize again this fall for another winter of meetings. The men served the supper, which was followed by an enjoyable program. Miss Grace and Elva Smith gave a pleasing vocal number and a solo was given by Miss Eleanor Colony, and Miss Ida Davis contributed a reading to the program.

FOR RENT—Two modern cottages near High school. Inquire of E. Catbrick, 430 North Winter street. FOR SALE Registered Catawold sheep. Phone Farmers 28. C. A. Taylor, Zena, Oregon, Route 1. WANTED—Work on ranch by man with family; experienced in general farm work. A. L. McCullough, 1420 South Fourteenth street.

Mrs. Lulu Shepherd, national worker for the W. C. T. U., gave a lecture at the Ramp Memorial hall, in this city, Tuesday evening, that was very largely attended, and enthusiastically received. Several musical numbers on the program were much enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spars (see Sophie Catlin) have returned from a bridal trip to Victoria, B. C., and are cozy located in a cottage near the Catlin home.

Mrs. I. H. Van Winkle and Mrs. F. S. Mendenhall entertained at the Van Winkle residence Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. W. A. Allen being an assistant hostess. The enjoyable affair was a Kensington, the ladies bringing their needlework and visiting informally while they sewed. Refreshments were served.

The Parent-Teachers' association of the East school will meet Friday evening at the school. A short program of addresses and musical numbers will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Harrison splendidly entertained a party friends at cards at their home, Twentieth street, Tuesday evening. Four tables of 600 were played. Delicious refreshments were served.

Elmer Neal a Hero

BY ELLA McMUNN.

Elmer Neal, who lost his life at the Warona station Tuesday was a real hero. With flesh gone from his hands, and chest and arms burned to a crisp, with agony unredeemed by an opiate, his upmost thought was that his work as agent should be done correctly. In the short time spared him as he hurried him to a Portland hospital he told just the order of business to be followed at the station. His was an important post, and more than one man has despaired of filling it satisfactorily.

The power station, with its roaring whirl of dandy wheels feeding the wires with energy to draw the long line of ears over the Oregon Electric, a telephone instrument clicking away, a telephone sending a sharp call at intervals, a freight, passenger and express business to handle, made his life a busy one but had it not ended so tragically, name. Still, the other afternoon when the electric lights in the dark offices of the town were suddenly eclipsed, and for a few minutes the machinery stopped, there were mutterings of "Poor service," the complainants little dreaming that the great system was for a moment clogged by a human body—Elmer Neal—burning to death on the wires.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Eagles

Who Were Always Still.

IN the house where Kenneth lived there was a chair which had always fascinated him. It was a very, very old chair, and Kenneth's mother and daddy were very proud of it. Kenneth's daddy had bought it at a sale of old and curious things. It was a Roman chair, and on either side were two heads of eagles. These four heads in all ways made Kenneth wonder, for they looked so very lifelike. He used to imagine that even little wooden eagles must get very tired of always being just the same.

"Really it often made Kenneth quite sad to watch them. One afternoon Kenneth went to a party. A little school chum of his had given it. It had been a very nice party. But, oh, he did feel so tired, for they had played blind man's buff, ball in the ring, squat tag and other games.

"When Kenneth came home from the party it was not quite his bedtime, and secretly in his heart he was hoping it would come soon, for he had made up his mind that he wasn't going to bed until his bedtime.

"He got a book from the library shelf. It was full of pictures of sailors and pirates and ships, because if anything would keep awake that would. He sat in a big chair and put the book before him on the Roman chair.

"Strangely enough, though, after a moment or two, he didn't seem to see pirates, and the sea began to look very much more like the surface of a chair. Soon the pirates disappeared entirely, and the four eagles of the Roman chair were looking at him steadily.

"You're terribly tired, aren't you?" said the first eagle.

"Yes; I'm a little tired," Kenneth admitted.

"Well, you're not as tired as we are," said the second eagle.

"No, indeed!" said the third eagle. "You're only tired because you've played so many games. We're tired because we're always still."

"Kenneth listened eagerly because he'd so often thought just what he was hearing. "Yes," said Kenneth very sympathetically; "I should think you would be very dull. I've often thought that. Have you been there a long time?"

"Oh, ages and ages!" replied the fourth eagle, who up to this time hadn't spoken. "We were very old before your daddy got us. We've been on this chair so long. We can't remember how long. And what makes us feel so sad is that we are called eagles and should fly and yet are forever glued to this chair."

"Kenneth, Kenneth," cried Kenneth's mother, "it's long past bedtime!"

"Oh, I am not so tired as the eagles are!" said Kenneth. And Kenneth's mother wondered if he was talking in his sleep.

SAYS OLD DAYS ARE GONE

MAYOR GILL SAYS WORKINGMAN IS AS BIG FACTOR AS ANYONE IN ELECTION

Portland, Or., April 2.—Mayor H. Gill of Seattle was the principal speaker at the luncheon of the progressive business men today noon, choosing for his subject "Public Markets."

Speaking before the Multnomah Bar association last night, Mayor Gill was at his best, and although made the object of considerable good natured banter, parried the verbal thrusts of his auditors so neatly that his talk was punctuated with uproarious laughter.

"In discussing his re-election after being re-elected, Mayor Gill said: "I didn't come back on a very far. The people did the coming back."

"I've cleaned 'em all up, we beat 'em a pulp and I am through. I never expect to be a candidate for any office again," declared the Seattle mayor in chiding a little paen of victory over his success at the recent election.

In a more serious vein, Mayor Gill said: "The old days are gone, and I for one saw the handwriting on the wall that foretold their going. A workingman is just as much a political factor as a bank president, such has been the influence of a direct election—the recall and other new ideas of government."

Are the churches seeing any results of that go-to-church movement?

call for a general re-furnishing of the wardrobe. It is the season of new things.

The advertising in the newspaper reflects the season. It is new and new. It is bright in its suggestions of the latest fashion ideas—new fabrics, new colors, new patterns.

Often it seems as though the most interesting feature in the newspaper is the advertising.

Certainly there is no feature that is more helpful to a large proportion of our readers.

You are reading the advertising, of course?

DRY CONVENTION APRIL 13

MARION COUNTY WORKERS WILL FORM AN ORGANIZATION FOR A STATE CAMPAIGN HERE.

At a meeting of a committee held in the public library last evening it was decided to call a non-partisan convention of drys to be held in Salem, W. C. T. U. hall, Monday, April 13, at 2:30 p. m. It is planned to perfect a county organization along the same lines as that which brought victory in the election of last fall in Salem. An effort will be made in the fall election to get out every dry vote in Marion county and it is realized that much personal work must be done throughout the county. There will be a captain for every precinct; if present plans are carried out.

Ex-Gov. Patterson, of Tennessee and National Superintendent P. A. Parker will be here April 13 and may address the afternoon meeting. Those who attend the convention will also have an opportunity of hearing Patterson and Baker speak in the evening in the armory. The call for the convention, signed by J. W. Beckley, president of the Salem Municipal Improvement League; Mrs. E. M. Vandervoort of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Good Templars; and Rev. Thomas J. Woodcock, for the Salem Ministerial union, follows:

The undersigned after discussion with their respective organizations hereby call for a non-partisan gathering of the Marion county drys to arrange for a county organization similar to that which carried Salem city dry. The county meeting will be held in the W. C. T. U. hall, Salem, 2:30 p. m., Monday, April 13.

Governor Patterson will address a mass meeting in the armory that night and he is expected to be introduced and speak briefly at the afternoon meeting, as also is Superintendent P. A. Parker of the National Anti-Saloon League organization.

All churches, Sunday schools, civic leagues and non-partisan temperance organizations are requested to send representatives and the general public is invited also.

CHILDREN WIN THIS CASE

COURT HELD DEED MUS STAND, AS ALL HAD WORKED TO ACUMULATE PROPERTY

In No. 2, Judge Galloway presiding, the suit against McIntireff was decided in favor of the defendant.

It was a suit brought to set aside certain deeds made by the elder McIntireff to his children. The judge held that there was no evidence to show that there was any fraud in the transaction; that the parties had all worked together in accumulating property, and that the children clearly had an equity in it. He advised the parties, as their differences were small, to get together outside of court and reach some settlement through compromise.

This afternoon the suit of the United States National Bank against George C. Sheffer to foreclose a mortgage on 750 acres of land in sections 11, 12 and 13, township 6 south, range 4 west, is being heard.

The motion to reopen a decree in the case of M. L. Jones against George C. Sheffer was argued and submitted. Attorney J. H. McNary appeared for the plaintiff and Dan Murphy and J. L. "only, both of Portland, for the defendant.

EVIDENCE OF CONSPIRACY

KILFOIL AND MEMBERS OF FAMILY SAID TO HAVE PLOTTED AGAINST GIRL.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 2.—That Phillip A. Kilfoil and members of his family conspired to place the blame for the poisoning of their sister, Mary Kilfoil, on the shoulders of Lillian Palmer, child mother and alleged victim of Kilfoil, is alleged today by officials of the district attorney's office.

Denver, Colo., will spend $407,215.50 on its city parks and playgrounds this summer, including $10,000 for a civic center, $79,000 for general improvements, water systems, rest room construction and planting of trees and shrubs and $295,000 for mountain park purposes.

Two large play sheds, each 40 by 100 feet in size, have been built entirely by the boys in the annual training classes of the McMinnville, Oregon, schools.

New read more books than women in New York during 1913 according to the library reports just made. Forty-seven per cent of the borrowers were seeking knowledge rather than entertainment.

The New South Wales chamber of manufacturers will hold an "All Australian Manufacturers Week," in Sydney, in May, the chief feature of which will be a display of locally made goods in all Sydney shop windows.

How Glorious 'TIZ' makes Your Sore, Burning, Swollen, Sweaty, Calloused Feet Feel!

Just take your shoes off and then put these weary, shoe-cracked, aching, burning, corn-pestered, lacerated, tortured feet of yours in a 'TIZ' bath. Your feet will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that 'TIZ' bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—ah! tired out just try 'TIZ.' It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, calluses and bunions.

There's nothing like 'TIZ.' It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous excretions which puff up your feet and cause foot torture. Get a 25-cent box of 'TIZ' at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! How glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

WILL NOT MISS EVERS FROM CHICAGO CUBS

Manager Hank O'Day Also Thinks Bridwell's Loss Will Not Be Felt, Others Think Otherwise.

TEYING TO MAKE SHORTSTOP OF NATURAL THIRD-SACKER.

Not Believed Zimmerman Will Make Good There and Leach Is Not Figured Good Third Baseman.

(BY HAL SHERIDAN.)

New York, April 2.—Hank O'Day, the new manager of the Chicago National league club, says his team will not miss the services of Johnny Evers, now with the Boston Braves, and Al Bridwell, who jumped to the Federal. "Close students of the game here, however, think differently and advance a thousand and one reasons to bear out their contention that the club will not be near as formidable this season as in 1913.

In the first place, O'Day is doing his utmost to make a shortstop out of Herbie Zimmerman, a natural born third baseman, and one of the best men in either major league at the latter position. Both Frank Chance and Evers experimented with Herbie Zimmerman in the short field last fall when he fell down on the job with an awful bang. Herbie, it is pointed out, is several years older now and if he could not learn to fill the bill acceptably in the days of Chance, "how in thunderland," ask the fans, "can O'Day expect to turn the trick now?"

It's one of those things," say baseball students, "that cannot be done."

Another Mistake. O'Day is also figuring on sending Tommy Leach, veteran of many seasons to third base. Years and years ago Tommy stacked up as about the finest third baseman in the league. His legs went bad, however, and Fred Clark of the Pirates sent him to the outfield. Then when he showed up he was traded to Chicago in a deal that also sent Lefty Leifield, now with the San Francisco team, to the Cubs.

"When a shrewd manager like Fred Clark," say the fans, "lets go of his veterans it may be regarded as certain that their days of usefulness are over so far as the major leagues are concerned."

Leach is a brainy player and a good pinch hitter and these two qualities, say the fans, let him out.

Unless he changes his plans, O'Day will start the season with the following line-up: Outfield—Schultz, Johnston, formerly with San Francisco, and Goodie. Infield—Suler, 1b; Sweeney, 2b; Zimmerman, 3b; Leach, 3b. Catchers—Archer, Brennan; Neeldman and Hargrove.

Piteters—Cheney, Lavender, Koopman, Pictor, Vaughn, Stack and Koopman.

Probable Line-up. Unless he changes his plans, O'Day will start the season with the following line-up: Outfield—Schultz, Johnston, formerly with San Francisco, and Goodie. Infield—Suler, 1b; Sweeney, 2b; Zimmerman, 3b; Leach, 3b. Catchers—Archer, Brennan; Neeldman and Hargrove.

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER

"A CATBOAT"

The Child's Story. Teacher asked the class to write a real story. "Do not attempt any flight of the imagination. Write just what is in you."

One child took her literally and wrote, "In me there is my stomach, lungs, heart, liver and breakfast."

Mennon's Harp. This is a term sometimes applied to the statue of Meunon at Thebes, Egypt, which was said by the ancients to give forth musical tones like the notes of a harp at the rising of the sun.

Riddle. A man asked permission of the warden to visit a prisoner. The warden asked, "Are you related to the prisoner?" He replied, "This man's father is my father's son." What relation is he?

He is the prisoner's father.

Dolls. I wonder, when I'm sound asleep, Just what my dollies do. I heard my daises rattle once—'t was really did, for true—But, oh, it was so very dark I peered, but could not see. I just believe my Parla doll Was having folks to tea.
