We're positively going out of the Men's Clothing Business. We must sell every suit just as soon as possible. You have your pick of hundreds of suits and at prices that mean distinct bargains. The present low prices quoted on suits and overcoats are creating much interest but to promote more rapid selling for this week we offer the coupon as a special inducement to get you here. We want you to see these unusual suit values.

We know you'll be glad that you heeded this ad. The amount of this coupon is reduced from the already attractive sale prices so take advantage now---buy that new suit this week---cut out the coupon.

Remember---you run no chances when you purchase here. Our reputation of 34 years' successful merchandising in Salem is sufficient evidence as to the quality of goods we sell.

Don't forget to bring the coupon, this offer expires Saturday the 4th, at 9 p. m.

New Spring Assortments of High-Grade Men's Togs are now ready

THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Secretary Olcott has issued a warning to candidates that he will accept no filings of nominating petitions where the petition was circulated before the declaration of candidacy was filed, or where more than one sheet is attached to a single declaration of candidacy, or where there are signatures on a sheet from more than one precinct. When there are such signatures on one sheet they will not be permitted to be transposed to another sheet. The law provides that each sheet must have a declaration of candidacy attached, but each sheet must have only signatures from one precinct, and the petition must not be circulated before declaration is filed.

Dr. Meudelschta fits eyes correctly. U. S. Bank building.

Willamette University will close its doors for spring vacation this afternoon at 3:30. Classes will meet again for the first time following vacation on Tuesday, the 4th. The noon trains were crowded with students leaving to spend the holidays at home. The Portland students left this afternoon in a body, occupying a separate car on the Oregon Electric. While all of the students will not go home for the vacation, as they live so far away yet it is estimated that over 300 students will have left the city before the afternoon is over to spend the vacation with the folks at home.

Bon Ton Millinery store to move soon. Every hat goes at sacrifice price. Second floor Hubbard building.

There has never been a season in the history of Salem when gardening was so popular as it is now at the present time, according to D. A. White & Sons, the feed and seed merchants, 67 State street. H. O. White, a member of the firm, stated this morning that the seed business transacted by his firm during the past month has been enormous, and the business in general for the month of March outstripped any for the same period in the history of the store.

Chop suey and noodles. City restaurant, 420 Ferry street, near Liberty.

The case of the State of Oregon ex rel Governor West and Secretary of State Olcott against State Treasurer Kay, brought for the purpose of having the evidences of indebtedness belonging to the state school fund turned over to the clerk of the land board by Treasurer Kay, will come up for argument, it is expected, Saturday before Judge Galway.

Ladies how is your dance? See those perfect dress forms, 454 Marion street. Phone 1663.

From the manner in which the hop growers in Marion and Polk counties are "holing up" their fields this year it appears as though a contest is being carried on and an effort is being made to win first prize. Many old yards which have resembled a bramble patch heretofore at this time of the year, now are neatly and clean of weeds and last season's vines. Local growers state that the average hopman is realizing the fact now that weeds and rubbish on the land are not only unsightly but retard the development of the hop to a great extent, render picking difficult and has proven a nuisance generally, especially during harvest time. They say also that there is less likelihood of vermin when the land is perfectly clean.

Jim McDonald, a local horticulturist, has made several experiments of late in grafting rose bushes on oak trees. He states that the proposition works out fine and that there will be several grub oaks around Salem bearing pretty fruit this summer. Salem suburban fruit growers are taking more than ordinary interest in the grafting method at present and many of the cherry trees are being changed so that two and three kinds of cherries will grow on one tree.

Good dressmakers make money. You can develop your talent and be independent by taking a course in Mrs. Hall's school of expert instruction, 807 South Commercial.

The art of canning fruits and vegetables will be studied by the girls at the Salem high school this summer. A meeting was held in the school yesterday afternoon by the girls and it was decided to form a big club. Luther J. Chapin, the government farm expert, is lending all the encouragement possible to the high school girls' plan and hopes to see a busy organization perfected by the time fruit is in season.

Drs. Darby and Burton, dentists, second floor, U. S. Bank building.

Salem high school students are making elaborate preparations to plant shrubs and prunings in the parking on Marion street north of the school. The Portland Seed company has notified the school authorities that it will furnish aprons, pumpas grass and several other decorative plants while the state is supplying the students with several different classes of plants.

When in Albany don't fail to stop at the St. Charles hotel, completely remodeled and refurbished, J. Staley, proprietor.

The back to the farm motto is received with much satisfaction by William Black following troubles and tribulations as the result of litigation in the local courts over a transaction he made recently here. Mr. Black has retired to his little farm near Silverton, and declares there where he will remain from now on.

Dr. F. L. Utter, dentist, Masonic bldg.

Friends of Attorney George G. Bingham say that well-known fisherman and lawyer is working overtime now and making ponderous preparations to and try his luck in the Prof-H-123 his himself out along some likely stream and try his luck. Attorney Bingham, Harry Minto and Oscar Bowers are surely getting the fever now and it will not be long before the trio will be seen going mountainward with pole in hand and with great expectations.

Bon Ton best five-cent cigar.

The fly market at the promotion department quarters of the Salem Commercial club today dropped down to 10 cents per hundred. Ralph Moore, the secretary of the fly committee, stated this afternoon that since the sun has come out again the fly swatters in this city are making up for lost time and yesterday afternoon the promotion department was compelled to raise $1.50 for the festive flies that were brought in by youthful swatters. The warmer weather in Salem the lower the market is the standard now being adopted by the fly committee and in the event Old Sol continues to warm things up the local fly market will drop down to a minimum in a very short while.

Attorney Grant Corby has returned from Woodburn where he spent yesterday looking after a suit in which he represents the plaintiff. The case is that of Clerk against the city of Woodburn and Attorney Corby is preparing an amended complaint in it.

The attorney-general this morning advised Joseph Putnam of Monument, that betting on horse races playing cards for drinks and conducting or taking part in a turkey raffle was gambling within the meaning of the statutes. This may be good law as to the two latter pastimes, but it has been held in Nevada that a faro game and a horse race were not gambling because the dealer in the one and the jockeys in the other had so framed up that neither had any of the elements of chance both being a dead sure winner for the manipulators.

Lawn mowers sharpened, oiled and put in good condition. Houser Bros.

T. Elmore Lacey gave an interesting entertainment at the First Christian church last evening. Although the audience was not large, it was appreciative.

James B. Neer this morning filed suit against the city of Salem, or to be exact, had his suit placed on the docket. He alleges that he has paid the city of Salem the sum of $218.97 for his assessment for the construction of the North Salem sewer system, and as his property is now subject to taxation for the payment of the bonds issued to cover the building of said sewer system he naturally wants his money returned.

John Techants filed suit today against John Wills to quiet title to certain farm property.

In the suit of C. F. Moulton against the city of Silverton the plaintiff this morning filed a demurrer to the defendant's answer on the ground that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a defense or counterclaim.

At the installation of the new officers at the Elks lodge Thursday evening Carl Schwab contributed two splendid solos and the well known baritone George Curtis Lee Snyder added much to the program by a couple of solos. Judge Burnett, Judge D'Arcy and retiring Exalted Rules Hekstein delivered addresses, and as all officers appeared in dress suits the affair assumed the dimensions of a social function. The hall was brilliantly decorated for the occasion, potted plants and ornaments appearing at each station, while flags were draped effectively about the walls. A banquet closed the affair.

Sheriff Kelsay, the Wheeler county man who stands indicted by the Marion county grand jury for the crime of giving a minor intoxicating liquor, is in the city prepared to face his accusers. Sheriff Kelsay is under bonds amounting to $500 and intends to appear before Judge Kelly just as soon as the court is ready.

The new California bakery and dairy lunch, under the ownership and management of J. E. Schaffer, will be opened to the public tomorrow at 337 Court street, one door west of the old California bakery, destroyed by fire some months ago. Mr. Schaffer has spent a great deal of money and time in fitting up the new building, and when it is fully completed he says he will have one of the finest places of the kind on the Pacific coast. Cleanliness in every detail and quality in every article sold are to be important features of the new place.

A red-hot meeting of the Republican candidates for both county and state offices will be held in the promotional department of the Salem Commercial club this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. Several prominent candidates are on the program to speak and some good talkers who are not out of office will also say a few words.

Unitarian ladies hold a food sale at Buren & Hamilton's tomorrow.

Uncle John Gray, the pioneer carpenter, old line republican and all around loyal Salemite is now in the heyday of his life. While Uncle John has always been an active member of the political circles in Marion county, he is now taking more real enjoyment out of the game than ever before according to his statements this morning. In fact, Uncle John is not sorry that he is not young enough to get in the midst of the present political battle with the rest of the boys and "campaign to beat thunder," as he puts it. In any event, Mr. Gray is keeping a line on all of the many candidates for office and says he will go right down the line with the best numbers in the same manner as he did years ago.

Unitarian ladies will hold one of their food sales at Buren & Hamilton's tomorrow.

The local lumber business is picking up considerably according to Grant Holt, an official of the Spaulding Logging company, here. Mr. Holt declares that while there is plenty of room for improvement in his business, indications are that everything will be on the hum within a short time. Salem trade is fair, he states, and the company is receiving a good many orders from the eastern states. There are many prospective home builders in the city at the present time and, just as soon as the weather clears up permanently, lumber sales will be made thick and fast, says the well known lumberman.

A gang of workmen are busy today refacing a certain portion of the pavement on State street between a Liberty and High which has become rough with the latter is to keep the streets in first burned off and new material then laid. The city has a maintenance clause in the contract entered into with the Warren Construction company in which the latter is to keep the streets in first class condition for a number of years longer and, on account of there being several weak spots in the pavement, fresh material has become necessary in several different sections of State St.
