THIEF ATTACKS BARR WHEN FOUND AT WORK

Plumber Has Lively Tussle With Miscreant and Daughter Aids Her Father in Routing Man.

POLICE RAPPED HARD FOR SLOWNESS IN RESPONDING

Declared They Could Easily Have Made Distance and Captured Several Persons Involved.

An unknown person committed a dastardly assault upon Theo. M. Barr, the well-known local plumber, last night, when Mr. Barr attempted to interfere when the stranger and several companions broke into the basement of the latter's home, and were caught in the act of stealing bottled beer, which was stored for family use.

George Barr, a brother of T. M. Barr, first heard a commotion in the basement, and, upon investigation, discovered that some one was stealing something. Theodore Barr then went down into the basement, and was soon engaged in a struggle with one of the thieves. After much wrestling one of the scoundrels hit Mr. Barr over the head with a club, and the blow cut a wide gash in the plumber's head, and all but laid him out. George Barr attempted to hold the assailant, but the man was too much for him, and he succeeded in getting away.

Daughter Is Nervy
Just prior to the blow which was delivered on Mr. Barr's head, Miss Helen Barr, daughter of T. M. Barr, ran down in the basement, and, upon seeing her father roughly handled, ran up and delivered several stinging slaps on the face of the stranger, who was causing all the trouble. Things were getting too hot for the thief by this time, and he hit Mr. Barr with a club and ran out of the basement.

Had it not been for the fact that the police were too slow, stated Mrs. Barr this morning, the robbers would have been caught. She states that a call was made to police headquarters before the fight ensued, and that the officers had ample time in which to get on the ground, because the scuffle which took place between Mr. Barr and the thief lasted for some time.

Would Recognize Him.
Miss Barr is sure that she would recognize the assailant of her father, if she saw him again. She states that she had a good view of his face during the melee.

If what Mrs. Barr said this morning is so, the police are rather unconcerned in regard to the matter. They arrived 20 minutes after a call was put in, and when offered assistance last night in locating the guilty parties, they were inclined to scoff at the idea of identification of footprints and other valuable clues left by the thieves. When told about the footprints, the police said that they have been looking up footprints for months, and have failed to get any results.

Wanted Beer Only.
It is the opinion of Mrs. Barr that the parties breaking into her basement were after beer and nothing else. She stated that the thieves took several bottles of beer, and in their flight lost a few along the sidewalk. Mrs. Barr declares that beer is kept in the house all of the time for family use, and it is evident that this fact has become known.

JEALOUSY PROBABLY CAUSE OF SUICIDE

Widow Disappointed Because Promoter Failed to Show Up for Dinner at Her Home Sunday.

LETTER ADDRESSED TO PROMOTER PINNED TO DRESS

It Was Written by Another Woman Last July and Was Filled With Endearing Terms.

San Francisco, April 7.—Friends of Mrs. Mary Taggart, widow of Dr. Harry W. Taggart, of Redwood City, were still unable today to advance any probable motive for her suicide either late Sunday night or early Monday in her apartments here. The body of Mrs. Taggart was found lying on the bed in a gas-filled apartment on O'Farrell street late last night, and physicians said she had been dead then for something like 24 hours.

The body was found by Lytton MacIntosh, a promoter, who said he had assisted in a deal whereby Mrs. Taggart had purchased the flat where she ended her life. A letter addressed to MacIntosh, but signed by another woman, was found pinned to Mrs. Taggart's night dress. It was filled with endearing terms, and was mailed from Sacramento to MacIntosh July 27, 1913. It was signed "E."

A dinner cooked and waiting was found on the stove. MacIntosh said he had a dinner engagement with Mrs. Taggart Sunday night, but had been called to San Jose on a business trip, and had been unable to notify her of his departure from the city.
"I never had other than business relations with Mrs. Taggart," said MacIntosh today. "I was an intimate friend of her husband's, and I am unable to understand how she got the letter addressed to me, and why she should have pinned it on her gown. She at no time displayed any affection for me. She must have taken the letter from my desk when she called at my office last Wednesday."

S.P. MAN HAS KILLED 23

GREAT DEATH RECORD OF MAN WHO HAS WEAK EYES, ACCORDING TO SUIT FILED

Oregon City, Ore., April 7.—Charging that C. H. Kenny, the engineer in charge of the train, was reckless, careless and incompetent, and that he was compelled to wear glasses because of weakened eyes, C. P. Hagen, father of Melvin Hagen, who was killed by a passenger train in attempting to save the life of Alma Summerfield, his companion, while crossing the Molalla river trestle, near here, January 7, has today filed suit against the Southern Pacific railroad for $7500.

The complaint further alleges that Kenny, "prior to January 7, 1914, had killed 21 persons, all known to the plaintiff."

AVIATION LION ONE OF FEATURES OF BARNES' SHOW

"Sampson," the aviation lion, is one of the amazing, spectacular numbers presented by the Al G. Barnes big African lion, said to be the finest specimen of his race in captivity.

The lion and trainer, Miss Mable Stark, mount a balloon basket and are taken to the top of the big tent. Roman candles, sky rockets and colored fire are placed around the arena and sputter and shoot almost under the nose of the big beast, but so perfectly has he been trained to do his act he seems totally oblivious to the fires close proximity.

Another wild animal act involving plenty of action and excitement is the wrestling grizzly bear, "Big Bill." His trainer, Geo. Strakosh, is a veritable giant in size, has never been able to get a decision over Bill.

Due to the fact that the entire entertainment is given by a troupe of over 600 educated wild and domestic animals the Barnes circus is widely different from any other known. This animal acting troupe consists of nearly every known species, the whole aggregation working as a unit in the presentation of a thrilling, amazing, instructive, amusing entertainment. The Barnes circus is distinctively the "show that's different," and ranks as the original and largest wild animal show in the world.

The public is presented, free, a glittering, mile long now feature parade at 10:30. Performances are given at 2 and 8 p. m. The date for sales is Tuesday, April 14.

LIBERAL POLITICIANS ARE PLEASED WITH IRISH VICTORY

London, April 7.—Liberal politicians were sighing for relief today, over last night's majority of 356-402 on the second reading of the Irish home rule bill.

Though they professed confidence all along, their ranks were so badly disorganized by the incident of the army officers' resignation when the war office began making military preparations in Ulster, that the party leaders were doubtful what the next vote would be. It did, in fact, show a narrower margin in the Liberal-labor-Irish alliance's favor over the conservatives than earlier in the session, but the Liberals were too well satisfied that it was as wide as it was to do any complaining.

The bill was expected to pass its third reading early in May, after which it will go to the house of lords.

POLICE INSPECTOR SHOOTS ANOTHER FOR WIFE THEFT

Paris, April 7.—Police Inspector Maurice De La Croix today shot and killed Raponand Dupin, another inspector, at police headquarters here. The two had just left the office of Chief Inspector LeBreton, after reporting for duty. De La Croix fired as Dupin was descending the stairs to the street. De La Croix immediately gave himself up, and said he killed Dupin for denouncing him, and said he killed Dupin for denouncing Mme. De La Croix's affections.
