The Willamette University Glee club now touring the coast counties is being given a cordial reception wherever they appear, and the Coos Bay Times has this to say of the entertainment they gave at Marshfield Friday evening:

The Willamette Glee Club concert at the Masonic opera house last evening was pronounced by all who attended as the best musical show that has been presented in Marshfield for some time past, and the concluding sketch, a comic opera, was in a class all by itself, sparkling with college wit, and good acting. Lippo, not a wolf in sheep's clothing, but a member of the Glee Club in girls' clothes, in the person of Charles Hall, was the best character of the show. The audience appreciated the entire entertainment, but more especially the comic opera, La Mascotte. Harold Jory rendered a vocal solo, "The Jolly Friar," which was considered the best selection of the evening. Mr. Jory being encored several times. A large house greeted the glee club and many were unable to secure seats. It is reported that the receipts of the entertainment were $375, a percentage of which will go to the Marshfield High School.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Asked if She Could Go Inside.

Brenda's Annual Easter Visit to the Children's Ward.

DADDY had seen a little girl that day, a little daughter of a great friend of his, and he had had quite a chat with her. He wanted, of course, to tell Jack and Evelyn all about it.

"What is her name?" was Evelyn's first question.

"Her name is Brenda, and I'm sure when I've told you about her you children will both want to meet her and know her."

"She told me that every year at Easter time she went to the head nurse of the big hospital and found out the names of all the children. Then she went shopping, and it took her a long time to pick out things for little sick children. She picked out for each child a big round chocolate egg which rattled, for inside it there were little sugar candies; also a chocolate chicken and a chocolate bunny. She always picked out ones that had lots of expression too. Around the egg she tied a big red ribbon, around the chocolate chicken's neck she tied a bright green ribbon, and around the bunny's neck she tied a bright purple ribbon. Then she put them in a little box and wrote on the box the child's name."

"Last year Brenda went to the hospital the day before Easter. It was far from being a pleasant day. There was a cold wind in the air and no sun."

"She arrived at the hospital just as all the little children had had their wounds dressed. They were lying in their little white cots trying to keep back the tears that wanted to come."

"Brenda asked the nurse if she could go inside with the gifts."

"Yes, indeed," said the nurse. "The children would love that. The child's name in the first cot," continued the nurse very softly, "is Elsie. She has hurt her back, and no one knows how long she will have to lie there."

"Elsie," said Brenda, "happy Easter. A little chocolate bunny, a little chocolate chicken and a big chocolate egg all said they wanted to wish you a happy Easter."

"Elsie opened her half shut eyes and clutched the box. She opened it eagerly. There they all were! And the chocolate bunny did have the funniest expression! He would have made any one laugh, and his purple ribbon bow was sticking way up on one side with such a saucy expression. Elsie burst out laughing. Afterward the nurse told Brenda it was the first time she'd seen Elsie laugh since she'd been brought to the hospital."

"Then Brenda took the rest of her boxes around to all the other little sick children. And such happiness as there was in the ward!"

"Oh, I wish we could go with Brenda this Easter!" said Evelyn.

"I knew you would want to help her," said daddy. "So I have already arranged it, and you shall meet her tomorrow."

SALEM MATRONS LEARN THAT ASPHALT STICKS

ADHESIVE TAR FOLLOWS "HUB-BY" HOME AND HIDES IN THE PERSIAN RUG.

A little asphalt like a little learning, is a dangerous thing. This has been demonstrated to the sorrow and disgust of a number of Salem ladies, who since the work of patching the surface of State street with asphalt began, have discovered that the sticky and abominable stuff, when any place except on the streets, has found its way into their homes, tracking up carpets and rugs and spreading itself through bed room and hall and every place else it has no business. While the men working on the streets cover the asphalt with sand, they do not cover it all. There are corners and edges where the asphalt is left exposed and able to do its deadly work. Besides, in some places in moving the melting kettles there are small quantities of it slopped over on the streets and left uncovered. Thus it happens that "hub-by" on his way home literally puts his foot in it, and once the asphalt gets on a foot it seems to let go to take up with anything else short of a Persian rug or something that it can damage. Dozens of carpets have been ruined by the stuff and the same number of Salem women made to lose their genial and forgiving dispositions by its being tracked into their homes. It is astonishing, considering the amount of asphalt it takes to cover a street, how little of it will make spots over a carpet, through the hall and over the bedrooms, and will have enough left on a shoe sole to asphalt an entire house.

If the company having charge of the repair work wants to retain its charter and save the lives of its officials it will see that every particle of the meanly self-disseminating stuff is thoroughly covered with a thick coating of sand.

COMMITT BOLD MURDER

Gunmen Slay Two D'Angelo Boys and Wound Woman Making Escape Afterward in an Auto.

Somerest, Pa., April 13.—John D'Angelo, aged 23 years, and Joseph D'Angelo, 18 years old, cousins, were shot and instantly killed here today by gunmen who drove up to the D'Angelo home in an automobile. Mrs. Frank D'Angelo, Joseph's mother, was seriously wounded.

No motives for the shooting was known. Mrs. D'Angelo said she heard the reports in her back yard and saw the two youths lying dead in the doorway. As she stooped over the body of her son, three shots were fired at her, two of them taking effect. Then she heard the gunmen run to their automobile and drive away.

The D'Angelos were wealthy and it was believed robbery was the motive. The cousins were attacked by men who had entered their home after a late call.

Two half emptied revolvers were found beside the bodies of the two youths. The police said this indicated that they had anticipated trouble.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL FILED IN PAVING CASE

Declaration to the effect that the verdict of the jury in the case of L. H. Fisher against the Bidwell-Hayden company, an action brought in the circuit court for Marion county for money alleged to be due for supplies furnished to defendant in paving the streets of Silverton was against the law against the evidence, and against the weight of the evidence, the defendant company this morning filed a motion for a new trial. The jury Saturday rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $1500.

The Bidwell-Hayden company alleged in support of their motion that there is undisputed evidence which shows that during the months of December, 1912, and January, February and March, 1913, during which it is stated that a majority of the goods were purchased by the agent, Dinwiddie, and for which the plaintiff sues, there was absolutely no work done on the streets. They say also that there was no work done at that time under any contract they had with the city of Silverton.

It is also alleged that from April 1 to August 31, 1913, that Dinwiddie was not engaged alone in working for the Bidwell-Hayden company, but was contracting for other firms. They aver, therefore, that they cannot be lawfully held because it was not shown that the materials supplied them were actually used in the work on the Silverton streets.

MUST HOLD DIPLOMA

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAYS THAT AN OSTEOPATH CANNOT SERVE AS COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER.

There has been considerable trouble in Oregon City over the discharging of the health officer there and the appointing by the county judge of Dr. Norris, an osteopath, to the place. The matter was called to the attention of the state board of health, which body passed the matter up to the attorney general as to whether or not an osteopath could legally be appointed. The attorney general held that he could not under the law hold the office.

The law requires that to hold the office the person must be a graduate of some recognized and reputable medical college. Dr. Norris is a graduate of an osteopathic college, but this is not recognized as a "medical college."

DYSPEPSIA OVERCOME

Tons Up the Stomach with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

When you have dyspepsia your life is miserable. You have a bad taste in your mouth, a tenderness at the pit of your stomach, a feeling of puffy fullness, headache, heartburn, and sometimes nausea.

Dyspepsia is difficult digestion—that is what the word means—and the only way to get rid of it is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, sold by all druggists, is the one medicine which acts on the stomach through the blood and also directly. Its beneficial effects are felt at once. Improvement begins immediately.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, makes the rich red blood that is needed for perfect digestion, and builds up the whole system. He sure to get Hood's, for no other medicine can take its place.

WILL GIVE RULING ON SCHOOL NOTES SOON

After hearing argument for and against a demurrer interposed by the defendants in the suit brought by the state land board to secure control of the state school fund notes amounting to $6,000,000 which are now in the hands of State Treasurer T. B. Kay, Judge Galloway this afternoon determined to allow the contending parties to file briefs, after a study of which he expects to give his ruling Thursday morning. The state land board was represented by Attorney L. H. Van Winkle, former assistant attorney general, and Treasurer Kay by Attorney General A. M. Crawford and James Crawford, assistant.

Attorney General Crawford, in support of the demurrer, argued that the state had no right to bring the suit, as it was not an interested party. He held that the state treasurer gave sufficient bonds as security for holding possession of the notes. He demurred to the complaint on the grounds that the plaintiffs had no legal capacity to sue, that there was defect in the parties plaintiff, and that the court had no jurisdiction over the matter.

In his argument against the demurrer

CITY NEWS.

Day Clerk Holcomb, of the Hotel Marion, had a mishap while visiting Portland yesterday. The rain spoiled his new Easter bonnet, and also spoiled a usually good disposition for a short time.

The Marion Hotel barber shop is being repaired and placed in Al condition. The shop will be conducted under the management of the hotel hereafter, and will be open for business tomorrow morning.

Leon L. Sloper, one of the deputies in the sheriff's office, left this morning for a trip into the eastern part of Marion county on legal business. He will visit Silverton and Woodburn before returning. He expects to be back in Salem late this evening.

Among the guests at the Hotel Marion today are: L. T. Harris, candidate from Eugene, Lane county, for the supreme court; G. S. Drews, a prominent wool merchant of Philadelphia; C. M. Leonard, of Portland and E. W. King, manager of the new fruit drying plant in West Salem.

Judge Lawrence T. Harris, one of the judges of the circuit court for Lane county, is occupying the bench in department number one of the circuit court for Marion county for the week. Judge Percy Kelly, who usually presides over department number one here, is in Eugene.

A. G. Magers, J. P. Rodgers and Paul Marnach, all Salem men, leave on the Shasta limited this evening for Southern California, where they will spend a month sightseeing. They will visit all of the principal cities in the southern state, and inspect the many beautiful buildings at the Panama exposition grounds. Messrs. Magers and Marnach returned just a short time ago from a tour in Washington, Idaho and other Northwest states.

The local corps of the Salvation Army will be favored with the visit of two very distinguished and tried officers today. Lieutenant Colonel Scott, who hails from Seattle, has charge of the army work in the Pacific Northwest. Adjutant Whitney, who accompanies the colonel, has charge of a corps in Portland. Both officers have been in the city before, and are good speakers. Tonight these speakers will conduct an old-time salvation meeting in the local barracks on State street. A large attendance is expected.

Selection of the jury in the case of the state of Oregon against Conrad Krebs, who is charged with perjury in a suit tried before Judge Galloway some time ago, occupied the greater part of the attention of the circuit court for Marion county this morning. The trial of the issue is now pending and is expected to go to the jury this evening. Krebs is accused of falsely swearing in regard to a deed for land that was the issue in a suit here.
